Today

A Japanese Army. League of Nations Falling Down. Monkeys, So Why Not Opera? Bounty on Human Heads.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LIEUT. JOHN E. Wright, U. S. Army, retired, says Uncle Sam in Hawaii is training "an army for Japan."

It is not an army to fight Japan in case of trouble, but an army to fight FOR Japan. Hawaii has a militia, largely Japanese, and Uncle Sam enlists Japanese and other Asiatics, gives them thorough military training, under white American officers. And there, says Lieut. Wright, we are training an army that would be useful to Japan in case of trouble.

UNCLE SAM has done so many foolish things that he could hardly be expected to omit this one. Fortunately, marching soldiers in the next war will not be important, no more important than bows and arrows. A nation might have ten millions of them, and it would be only so many more units for fliers to gas and bomb.

If another war comes, whoever has the best planes, bombs, poison gas and pilots will have the victory.

It would be interesting to know what official goose in Washington imagined that an American Army uniform would change any Japanese into a fighter for the United States against Asia. Every Japanese, much to his credit, remains a patriotic Japanese to the day of his death, no matter what uniform he may wear.

LLOYD GEORGE knows about war, having won the big one, with the assistance of Clemenceau. He understands the League of Nations, having helped to construct it such as it is, after Woodrow Wilson prophesied, perpetual peace as its product.

Now Lloyd George says the League of Nations is "foundering."

"Germany demands general disarmament, or German rearmament. France will agree to neither.

"Japan defies the world over Manchuria.

"Geneva twiddles its thumbs in despair."

Lloyd George, quoted above, believes that failure of the League to solve the problems that face it may "result in war in both Europe and Asia." It is fortunate that this country, in spite of well-meaning sentimentalists, has kept out of that League.

IT AMUSED us when Russia traded oil for Argentine beef. Then Uncle Sam traded wheat for Brazilian coffee, which he has presumably stored away somewhere, and barter instead of cash buying became respectable.

Now individuals in America have adopted Europe's plan and, for lack of ready cash, established barter on permanent basis.

At Suffern, N. Y., a "moneyless" trading system worked well last Saturday. A barber offered a haircut for vegetables. One man exchanged office furniture for a load of coal.

Not as convenient as the old cash basis, but better than no trade.

ON SATURDAY, San Francisco opened its magnificent war memorial, a $5,000,000 opera house, with a brilliant audience and fine performance of La Tosca.

This is the first municipally owned opera house in America. Some, conservative, will say "that is Socialism," but almost every big city owns, in its zoo a monkey house, and no one calls that Socialism.

If a house in which monkeys squeak and gibber is good democracy, why not an opera house in which mentally higher beings produce good music?

JAPAN, SEEKING to wipe out brigandage in Manchuria, kills, from airplanes, many Chinese brigands. They dislike that, and when they capture, occasionally, a group of Japanese, the fate of the latter is not pleasant.

Russia is trying now to save three hundred captured Japanese. It is alleged by Japan's army officers that China's government has established a regular scale of rewards for Japanese officers, soldiers and civilians, captured or killed.

ONE THOUSAND Mexican dollars are offered to any Chinese for killing 10 Japanese, of any sort. For killing a Japanese lieutenant-general the reward is twenty thousand dollars, for a major-general ten thousand, for a colonel, lieutenant-colonel, or major, seven thousand.

Killings by assassiantion are rewarded, no open fight demanded. Rewards are also paid for captured airplanes, rifles, machine guns.

IT IS MUCH like our bounties on wolves, coyotes, etc., and something new in modern war. It is not, however new in history. One of the great Mongolian killers took pride in his pyramids made of enemy skulls, sometimes lighted from within.

AT CLEVELAND, telling a crowd of thirty thousand that Democrats are unfit to govern, President Hoover waved a bandaged right hand, souvenir of a recent handshaking reception at the White House.

Five thousand thoughtful Americans were in line to have their hands shaken. The President obliged, as long as he could. After three thousand handshakes, his hand, cracked on one side by the persistent squeezing, began to bleed and the President retired, leaving two thousand eager ones to

BARRED DOOR PREVENTS ESCAPE

Mother Near Death After Rescue of 3 Others

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 17.—Four girls were burned to death today as their 90-year-old great-grandmother escaped unharmed in a fire that burned the farm home of John E. Hedglin, two miles east of Volant.

Mrs. Lottie Hedglin, 39, mother of the children and granddaughter of Mrs. Caroline Connors, was burned attempting to rescue her children. She is in a serious condition at the home of a neighbor.

ESCAPE BARRED

Delila Rider, 14, and Betty Hedglin, 6, and Lottie Hedglin, 4, were trapped on a cellar stairway when they found a cellar door through which they had expected to escape nailed shut. They had been in the kitchen when Delila had attempted to hurry the fire with kerosene.

BABY DIES IN CRIB

The body of Jacqueline, 2, was found in her flame-twisted iron crib.

The fire started at 7:30 a. m., after the husband had gone to work in the Sharon Coal and Limestone Company mine, his first four-day week in months. Mrs. Hedglin, twice married and mother of all the children, succeeded in rescuing her three daughters, Mary Hedglin, 8; Maud Hedglin, 5, and Thelma Rider, 11, and assisting her grandmother from the second floor.

Brother, Sister Die In Oil City Blast

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 17.—A brother and sister were dead today of burns, and their sister, their mother and an uncle, were in a critical condition in Oil City Hospital, the result of a stove explosion as Edward Collins, the father, tried to light it at their summer home at Walnut Bend on the Allegheny river, yesterday morning.

Kerosene being poured on the fire exploded, authorities said. Edward Collins, Jr., 9, and his sister Med Merdean, 6, died in the hospital. Joan, 3, Mrs. Edward Collins, the mother, and Nolan Collins, of Oil City, an uncle, also are patients in the hospital. The father was treated for minor burns.

Hope Seen For Girl Asleep 8 Months

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Miss Patricia Maguire, of Oak Park, may awaken soon.

Physicians reported unmistakable signs that the girl, unconscious most of the time since last February 24 with sleeping sickness, is about to awaken.

American Killed In Chinese Attack

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 17—(AP)—An unidentified American was killed near Mulantien today when 50 Chinese attacked five Japanese troops escorting the American, two Koreans and two Manchurians to safety.

Filing Divorce Suit

MISS NANCY LINK 21 . . . . . SHE DANCES IN THE MOVIES

Miss Link, 812 South Aiken avenue, film specialty dancer, who today through Attorney Louis Little filed suit for divorce from Billy Link, Jr., Hollywood. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

DANCER SEEKS DIVORCE HERE

Nancy Link, 21, specialty dancer of the movies, giving her address as 812 South Aiken avenue, today filed suit for divorce from Billy Link, Jr., of Hollywood, also described as being "in the movies."

She charged cruelty in her suit filed by her attorney, Louis Little. The couple married in Pittsburgh, April 8, 1931.

Beginning at the age of 8 years as dancer for the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company, and later with Keith vaudeville, she obtained her first movie contract two years ago with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. She appeared as a dancer in "Speak Easily" and "Blondie of the Follies."

She said:

"I dislocated my shoulder in a fall while dancing. I expect to go back to Hollywood as soon as I am rested up."

Her mother, Mrs. Martha Leslie, danced with Rudolph Valentino for the movies.

POSSE SLAYS 5 KIN OF KILLER

SENATOBIA, Miss., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Mowed down by the gunfire of a posse seeking the Negro slayer of Deputy Sheriff Jeff Walker Williams, 22-year-old son of Sheriff C. A. Williams, of Senatobia, a family of five Negroes was wiped out six miles south of here early today.

Led by the father of the slain deputy, the hastily-formed posse of 75 armed and deputized citizens went to the home of Judge Crawford, Negro farmer, where Jesse Williams, the Negro slayer, was reported hiding.

Crawford was a relative of the Negro who Sunday afternoon shot and killed the young deputy.

Crawford, answering the posse's peremptory summons, refused to admit the men, opening fire with a pistol.

Max Lloyd, a deputy, fell, struck in the head by a bullet from the Negro's gun.

The posse returned the fire, riddling the frame farm dwelling Crawford, his wife, Annie; two sons, one 14 years of age, and a son-in-law fell fatally wounded under the savage barrage of pistol and rifle fire.

Williams, the Negro slayer, was not found in the residence.

Young Williams was slain by the Negro when he sought him for questioning yesterday afternoon. The Negro grappled with the deputy, wrested his gun from his grasp and shot him through the head. He died instantly.

Lion Hunt Under Way In Mississippi 'Jungle'

COMMERCE, Mo., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Denver M. Wright's "home-made" lion hunt got under way officially this morning in the "jungles" of Island No. 7 in the middle of the Mississippi River, two miles from here.

Nellie and Bess, the two circus lions bought by the St. Louis sportsman to satisfy his life-long desire to go lion hunting, were released from their cage on the wooded island while the hunters stood about with rifles ready for any emergency.

The two beasts, with expressions registering mild surprise at the opening of their cage door, hesitated for a moment, looked inquiringly at the group of heavily-armed men and then trotted off briskly into the underbrush.

Wright planned to give the lions a four-hour start and then hunt them down with big game rifles. Two native guides and a pack of dogs were to be utilized.

RIDERS PLAN OWN BUS LINES

'Co-Operative' Move By Commuters Under Way

Pittsburgh's 25-cent bus fare was threatened today through mass attack as aroused community groups were disclosed preparing a co-operative plan to blanket the metropolitan area with routes providing 12½-cent transportation.

Jurisdiction by the Public Service Commission will be evaded, leaders said, with commuters organized as members of the association.

Instead of paying fares, those seeking to ride the buses join the association and thus entitle themselves to ride, without technically having paid fares, according to the plans of the sponsors. Because no fare is charged, the Public Service Commission cannot assume jurisdiction, those making the plans say.

ORGANIZATION PLAN

Every community is ultimately expected to be organized in separate groups to form the association.

Civic and business leaders of several communities already have prepared to launch the membership campaign. Engineers are reported to be completing surveys for routes through the most thickly populated communities. Route plans call for buses through Beechview, Wilkinsburg, Homewood, East Liberty, the North Boroughs, including West View, and the Crafton district, it is said.

Faster transportation at the lower cost will be sought through the use of smaller buses operating on five-minute schedules during peak hours. Fifteen-minute schedules will be maintained during the day, according to present plans.

A charter of incorporation already has been issued in Delaware to the Community Transportation Company, capitalized at 500 no par value shares. Incorporators are Frank Ellis, of Kelly street, Wilkinsburg; Edgar Myers,

Riggs, Moke Both Hospital Patients

Tommy Riggs, member of the radio team of Riggs and Moke—the Crazy Pair heard regularly from the studios of WCAE—like his partner, is a hospital patient today. Riggs was hurried to the Magee Hospital last night, his mother advised, and he's to be operated upon today for appendicitis.

His partner, Blaine Moke, was taken to the West Penn Hospital last Friday a week, and is expected home today.

ROOSEVELT AT WORK ON TALK HERE

Utilities Views, Plea To Progressives, Expected

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was clearing his desk today of state business preparatory to leaving tomorrow morning on an eight-day campaign swing into the Middle West as far as St. Louis, then through some of the border states and south to Atlanta.

Three major addresses and at least a dozen informal speeches have been packed into the itinerary by the Democratic presidential nominee. The chief speeches will be made at Pittsburgh October 19; St. Louis, October 21, and Baltimore, October 25.

DRAFTS PITTSBURGH TALK

Although he has completed a rough draft of his Pittsburgh speech, the Governor would not disclose its subject. It is understood, however, he will make a direct appeal to the Progressive Republicans of the Keystone State to line up behind the Roosevelt-Garner banner.

There is a possibility, it was said, that he will have something to say in Pittsburgh about public utilities.

Gov. Roosevelt is convinced he will carry rock-ribbed Republican Pennsylvania, according to his advisors. Democratic leaders of that state have reported to the Governor that sentiment for the Democratic national ticket is growing by "leaps and bounds" and that the Republican leaders virtually have thrown up their hands in despair of being able to stem the "Roosevelt tide."

VIEWS ON BONUS

The Governor will reveal his attitude on the soldiers' bonus during the trip, possibly at Indianapolis, headquarters of the American Legion. Belief is growing that he will declare against immediate cash payment, but will insist that the federal government should aid destitute veterans.

While Mr. Roosevelt has refrained from commenting on President Hoover's speech at

Roosevelt Snatches Time to Talk Stamps

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Franklin D. Roosevelt will take out time from campaigning next Friday to talk stamps with collectors. The Governor is an ardent stamp collector.

Naval Bride

MRS. RAE IRVINE KUHNS

Divorced Mrs. Kuhns, 24, daughter of Pittsburgh's socially-prominent John Irvines, married by New York's city clerk to Maj. Cecil Brook Short, of His British Majesty's Navy. They breakfasted at William B. Leeds' New York apartment, sailed for Bermuda, Maj. Short's station.

CLARION POWER RULE REFUSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court today refused to decide whether the Federal Power Commission has authority to fix original costs and net investments of licensed hydro-electric power developments, the question being presented in a case brought by the Clarion River Power Company at Johnstown, Pa.

The company was licensed to make the development known as the Piney project, the license providing that the government could purchase the plant at the end of 50 years.

When the project was completed the company filed with the Power Commission a statement showing it had cost $11,000,000. The commission's accounting division recommended elimination of over $6,000,000 of cost items, and to fix the cost at about $4,645,000.

The company protested, challenging the authority of the commission to determine costs at the completion of hydro-electric power projects constructed under federal license.

HOMESTEAD CLERKS SAVE MONEY IN HOLDUP

Beating by Thugs Fails to Get Money From Employes

Two plucky girl clerks of the Homestead office, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, frustrated the attempted robbery of a money bag today when they resisted two thugs and threw the bag beyond their reach.

Mildred Calvin, 22, of 201 Nineteenth avenue, Munhall, and Jean Nelson, 20, of 408 Hillview avenue, Duquesne, had left the company office on the second floor of the Hays Building, Eighth and McClure, avenues, with a bag containing what they told police was a large sum, to deposit in a nearby bank.

At the foot of the stairs they were approached by two young men, one of whom demanded:

"Give us that bag."

When the girls hesitated, the thugs swung improvised blackjacks, each made of a woman's blue silk stocking and containing a bar of soap.

The stickup men struck the girls several times on the head.

Miss Nelson's eyeglasses were broken.

Determined not to let her assailants get the money, Miss Nelson threw the bag into the hallway.

Both girls screamed.

The thugs ran out onto the sidewalk as the girls' shouts were heard ringing through the building and by pedestrians.

The would-be robbers staged a pretended fight. They boxed each other down McClure avenue and fled across railroad tracks. A crowd gathered thought they were pummeling each other in earnest, not knowing of the attempted holdup.

The girls, after being treated by a physician, remained at work. Representatives of the company would not disclose the amount of money in the sack. Police said they understood it was the day's receipts.

NEEDY MOTHER ENDS LIFE

The body of Mrs. Lillian Mastbrook Grimmel, 21, is being brought back to Pittsburgh from Washington where, it was reported today, she had ended her life. It will be accompanied by her 2-year-old daughter. Two weeks ago she went back to her home to continue the battle against the depression. She had failed to obtain aid here.

At the home of Mrs. Anna Reese, 102 Romeyn street, Knoxville, sister of the dead woman, her aged mother, ignorant of her daughter's death, prayed for her recovery, having been advised the girl had taken poison in a Washington hotel.

Three weeks ago Mrs. Grimmell came to Pittsburgh and stayed at the home of Mrs. Reese. When the Welfare Association was appealed to, they advised that she go back to her husband in Washington. She did. About a week later she took poison, police said, and today she died.

Reese went to Washington last night to get his niece, and will also bring the body back home.

Pittsburghers Named To Lutheran Board

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. E. B. Burgess and Robbin B. Wolf, both of Pittsburgh, today were named to the executive board of the United Lutheran Church in America.

The election took place during the eighth biennial convention being held here and which approved union of three Lutheran Synods in Canada. Action on the proposal to merge 13 seminaries of the United Lutheran Church was made a special order of business for tomorrow night.

California Women Go Democratic in Poll

By COLE E. MORGAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Universal.)—The Republican campaign management's fear of the woman vote of California going against President Hoover appears to be well grounded.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the Republican high command, following the visit to the state of Secretary of the Treasury Mills, has become so alarmed over the California situation as to lay plans for a virtual house-to-house appeal to women in behalf of President Hoover's candidacy.

Latest returns from California in the nation-wide postcard poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States, reveals the tremendous influence the woman vote is going to play in the election results in that state.

Of the 30,339 California ballots recorded, 7,167 have come from women. This is 23½ per cent of the total.

California women take an active part in politics, the state having given women the franchise many years before the adoption of national suffrage. The women vote of the state should reach around 700,000.

The California poll replies to date show that of the 7,167 women recorded, 61 per cent are favoring Gov. Roosevelt. This would indicate a Roosevelt woman vote of approximately 425,000 to 275,000 for Hoover, giving Roosevelt a woman majority of 150,000.

Since 65 per cent of the men poll ballots from California are leaning to Roosevelt, he stands to draw around 300,000 majority on that side.

Tabular results of the Hearst Poll appear on Page 6.

HOOVER PLEADS WITH 'HEART OF AMERICA' TO AID NEEDY

LEADS APPEAL FOR WELFARE FUNDS

President Warns of 'Increased Distress' Over Country

By ROBERT BARRY
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Hoover last night placed primary reliance for relief of unemployment distress during the forthcoming winter on "the great heart of America."

Speaking over the radio from the White House, the President dealt exclusively with the problem of private relief in the individual communities of the United States.

SILENT ON U. S. AID

The President did not wish to convey an impression that whatever local charity is unable to do the state or national governments will attempt to make up. That, it is urged, would discourage contributions.

The President said in part:

"The purpose of this appeal this evening is to summon again the great heart of the American people. We must make our material provision for the support of our charitable and character building institutions. We must provide to the utmost for the local community support to the increased distress over the country.

COMMUNITY CHESTS LEAD

"For the past two winters, this campaign for community funds for relief was carried on by committees which I have organized specifically for that purpose. This year the National Association of Community Chests has taken the responsibility of organizing the work of voluntary giving in every community. The funds they gather will be disbursed in relief through these existing agencies upon an agreed division of the work.

"In closing let me say that no richer blessing can fill your own hearts than the consciousness of some bleak winter's evening that your generosity has lighted a fire upon some family's hearth that otherwise would be black and cold, and has spread some family table with good where otherwise children would be wanting. I wish my last word to you be the word 'give.'"

NON-PARTISAN PLEA

The appeal was non-partisan. Newton D. Baker, a Democrat and former Secretary of War, joining the President. Baker spoke from Cleveland. He said in part:

"Fortunately the whole situation lies completely within our control. Nature has done her full part. We have food enough and clothes enough and shelter enough for all our people, and there is money enough to supply all the helpful and curative agencies needed to protect and strengthen the casual victims of our maladjustment. The only problem about it all is to make America see herself and feel the call to duty."

Moslems and Hindus Make Political Pact

LUCKNOW, India, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Moslems who held a week-end conference here on electoral problems announced today they had obtained complete agreement in their efforts to secure Hindu-Moslem political accord.

The meeting, which adjourned last night, appointed a committee to negotiate with the Hindus and others with a view to ironing out differences in the way of extension of the electorate under the proposed new constitution.

McSparran Urges Dry Candidate Votes

COLUMBUS, Ind., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—John A. McSparran, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, told the Indiana convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union last night that church members are "praying one way and voting another." He urged the women to cast their votes only for "dry" candidates.

Relief Costs N. Y. $100,000,000 Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—New York City has spent approximately $100,000,000 a year since 1929 to care for the unemployed and the destitute, a report submitted by Welfare Commissioner Frank J. Taylor to Mayor Joseph V. McKee revealed today.

CAR LINE CUTS DELAY SCORES

Scores of South Hills residents were late to work today because of the removal of 14 cars from the various lines served by the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Brookline and Beechview patrons were complaining bitterly.

At the office of the Pittsburgh Railways Company it was said that many complaints had been made and that efforts were being made to provide adequate service. The hope was expressed by executives that the overcrowding of cars would be eliminated by tomorrow. It was said that there had been some miscalculations regarding the proper taking care of the load during peak hours in the morning. Cars also have been overcrowded during the peak hours of the evening.

Strikers in Illinois Seek to Halt Mines

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Striking Illinois coal miners, their slain comrade having been placed beneath the sod of Christian County, were intent today on preventing operations at three large collieries where detachments of the Illinois National Guard stand on watch behind machine guns.

The strikers, members of the recently formed Progressive Miners of America, yesterday attended the funeral of Andy Ganis, one of their number, shot Thursday in an encounter with the guardsmen.

Patman in Detroit Hits Rout of B. E. F.

DETROIT, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Representative Wright Patman, leader of the bonus bloc in the House, left Detroit today after delivering a thundering verbal broadside against the administration of President Hoover.

Speaking to several thousand war veterans, Patman cited the death of a 12-year-old girl after the ouster of the bonus army from Washington as a "American tragedy.

Hoover Declared Austria's Friend

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Dr. Ernst Benedict, Viennese publisher, today paid a call of respect upon President Hoover during which, he said, he discussed home matters of international interest.

Dr. Benedict said he had told Mr. Hoover he was very popular in Austria and was regarded "a real friend" of that country.

NORRIS' SPEECH ON AIR TONIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—United States Senator George W. Norris, Independent Republican from Nebraska, will open his active campaign for Franklin D. Roosevelt here tonight under auspices of the Roosevelt Independent State Committee, Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, retired, another Republican supporting Roosevelt, also will address the same meeting at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Senator Norris's address will be broadcast here over Station WJAS from 7:45 to 8:15 p. m., it was announced this afternoon.

FIRE DESTROYS 5 RACE HORSES

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 16.—Two prized harness horses were burned to death and two men were slightly injured leading two others to safety in a spectacular blaze that swept stables at the Union Agricultural Fair Association shortly before last midnight.

Trapped by flames, the colt, Silver Heel, and mare, Miss Williams, both owned by Henry Thompson, of Burgettstown, perished. Two others, The Chief and Goldie A, owned by W. A. Reed, chairman of the fair board, were rescued.

Donald Roberts, 28, and Rudy Lounder, 19, both of Burgettstown, suffered slight burns of the hands and face while leading out the horses.

The blaze swept through 25 of the stables before it was subdued by Burgettstown and Slovan volunteer firemen, who were handicapped by lack of water. Damage was estimated at $4,000 by fair association officials.

The fire started in a stall occupied until noon yesterday by Nefco Boy, owned by Robert Nicholson, of Pittsburgh. The horse was brought to its quarters here at Schenley Oval during the afternoon.

LACK OF MONEY MAY END FIGHT OF INSULL

Utilities King Facing Loss of Battle on Extradition

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service.

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 17.—Lack of sufficient funds may eventually force Samuel Insull to drop his bitter fight against extradition to the United States, International News Service learned today.

If he had enough money, the indicted former Chicago utilities magnate could keep his case before the Greek courts and stave off extradition for at least a year.

But he reiterated today that he had nothing but his pension of $18,000 a year, and intimated that legal steps he has taken to defeat extradition are already proving a serious financial drain.

WORRIED BY FINANCES

Insull, who a comparatively short time ago controlled a capitalistic empire worth $2,000,000,000, is seriously concerned that lack of funds will handicap his legal battle. He has drawn up a plan of campaign, which, if carried out, will cost tremendous sums.

Christos Ladas, former Minister of Communications and one of Greece's leading legal lights, undertook the Insull case for a mere $1,000, accepting $500 as a retainer with a promise of the balance when the case is concluded.

In other circumstances, Ladas' fee would easily have been $10,000. But the fact that Insull has caught the popular fancy of the Greek people has enhanced Ladas' prestige tremendously, and he considered it a worth-while investment.

In addition to finances, Insull's chief worry is the impending general election here, which may result in a change of government. A new premier and a new cabinet conceivably could take an entirely different view of Insull's case and order him extradited forthwith.

Adviser Warns Insull of U. S. Kidnap Plot

(Copyright, 1932, International News Service, Inc.)

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A telegram from a close adviser informing him that a plot has been hatched by Chicago authorities to kidnap him and shanghai him to the United States, has been received by Samuel Insull, indicted ex-utilities magnate, now a refugee in Athens, International News Service learned today.

International News Service revealed exclusively last week that insull feared he might be kidnaped and shanghaied, and for this reason canceled plans he had made to visit points of historic interest in various places of Greece. The cause of his fears, however, had not been previously disclosed.

2,334,131 Voters New N. Y. Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The registration of 2,334,131 voters in New York City during the six-day registration period which ended Saturday was announced today, setting a new record.

The previous high mark for registration was 2,028,618 for the presidential election of 1928, this year's being an increase of more than 300,000.

2 IN RELIGIOUS 'PLOT' SLAIN IN MEXICO

Munitions Reported Seized in Raid At Guadalajara

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—A plan for a widespread religious rebellion in the State of Jalisco was nipped, police said today, by a raid on a house at Guadalajara in which two of the alleged plotters were killed. Several escaped.

The battle lasted an hour. Police said they seized a large quantity of rifles, pistols, ammunition, dynamite bombs, field equipment, a printing press and a great deal of printed matter urging the rebellion.

The state was the scene of much bloodshed in the irregular religious rebellions of the period from 1926 to 1929. Many thousands of lives were lost.

SLAIN MAN IDENTIFIED

Police said Juan Rincon Fregoso, one of the two killed in the raid, was identified as a participant in the Los Altos rebellion that ended in 1929. His papers revealed, they said, that he was to be a general in the new rebellion.

Officials of the Catholic Church, meanwhile, moved with energy to discourage any uprising. A pastoral letter by Archbishop Pascual Diaz was read in all churches yesterday in which armed resistance by Catholics was denounced. The letter cautioned all loyal Catholics to obey the laws of the country.

Pope Pius XI, it said, would not approve armed resistance, or any departure from peace.

BISHOP TO URGE PEACE

Reports in Catholic circles here said all bishops have been instructed by the pontiff to publish pastoral letters in their dioceses charging the clergy and laymen to obey all the civil laws.

The government recently has been concentrating troops in the neighborhood of Jalisco and while it has not announced the purpose of the movements, the indication has been that preparations were being made for possible trouble there.

Reports from Guadalajara today said the people were stirred to indignation over the news that the state legislature plans to pass a law restricting the city, second largest in the country, to eight priests and the rest of the state to 50.

Ellis is a well-known former transfer man. Twenty-five years' experience as manager of the service department for one of Pittsburgh's largest automobile companies is brought into the organization by Myers.

Reichard today announced the appointment of C. V. Shoup, secretary of the Allied Board of Trade, as executive director to effect organization under the Association of Communities. Explaining the plans of operation, Reichard said:

"The association is entering into contract with the transportation firm to provide bus service for its members. Under our plans, no certificate will be necessary from the Public Service Commission and no application needed. We already are considering the buses to be used, the type being smaller than now running here, but offering the advantage of economic operation and faster transportation."

NO FARE COLLECTIONS

No fare will be collected on the buses, according to Shoup. Monthly membership cards will be issued. He said:

"According to present plans, the monthly membership rate will provide a 12½-cent fare. It is hoped that this can be reduced as the plan starts operation. One aim will be to provide 5-cent fares for school children. A network of routes is being laid over Metropolitan Pittsburgh. Each community will be organized into its own co-operative group which in turn will hold membership in the Association of Communities. Through this membership grouping, residents of Wilkinsburg will have the advantage of riding West View buses at the 12½-cent fare. Buses will be operated until 12:30 a. m., nightly."

19 Army Airplanes Downed by Weather

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Bluefield Airport bore the appearance of an Army field today with 10 bombers and nine pursuit ships grounded here by bad weather.

The planes have been unable to take off since Saturday when they came here to take part in an air circus scheduled for Sunday.

O'Neal, Farm Leader, Ill, Campaign Off

CANDIDATE MAY TALK ON POWER

Cleveland on Saturday night, his advisors indicated today that he would have "plenty" to say in reply to the President before the end of the week.

Leaving Albany tomorrow morning at 9:30 Gov. Roosevelt will make a brief stop later in the day at Rochester and in Buffalo in the evening.

WHEELING PLANS

Wednesday afternoon will find the Governor in Wheeling, W. Va., and that night he will speak in Pittsburgh. He will be in Indianapolis on Thursday; Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis, Friday; Louisville and Knoxville, Saturday; Atlanta, Sunday and Monday; Raleigh, Richmond and Washington on Tuesday, with a speech that night at Baltimore; and back in New York the following morning.

Gov. Roosevelt today denounced as "Republican propaganda" reports that he planned to deliver a campaign speech at the tomb of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., Friday on his second invasion of the Middle West. He said:

"I never had any intention of speaking at Lincoln's tomb. Such reports are nothing but Republican propaganda. I want to visit the tomb because I have never been there."

Hoover Planning New Attack on Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Apparently aroused more than he has been at any time during the campaign, President Hoover was planning today to make three more major speeches between now and election day—speeches of the Des Moines and Cleveland type, in which he vigorously assailed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Democratic leadership generally.

Although definite announcement has been withheld, it is probable that Mr. Hoover will journey again to the Middle West this coming week-end. A speech in Detroit Saturday night is under consideration, with a possibility that the trip may be extended from that point to Indiana or the Chicago area. Definite decision will be made during the week.

President Hoover returned from his trip to Cleveland somewhat heartened by his reception there and on the journey. The crowds that greeted him along the way at a dozen stops in West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio, were large. And if not wildly enthusiastic, they were cordial and respectful.

Nazis, Socialists Clash, Four Killed

VIENNA, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Four persons were dead today—two Nazis, a policeman and a pedestrian—as a result of a street clash between uniformed Nazis and Socialists. A score were injured.

shake hands with themselves, or each other.

THAT WHOLESALE handshaking is one foolishness that surely could be ended. The Thibetans got rid of similar nuisance with their prayer wheels, on which the Buddhist priest will grind out for you as many prayers as you choose to buy.

HAVING THE silly notion that a reasoning god could be pleased and interested by the same prayers, repeated over and over, they wasted much time in that way. Then came the prayer wheel, sometimes run by hand, sometimes by wind-power.

Every time the wheel turns, that's one prayer, to your credit, if you have paid for it.

Why not install a handshaking wheel at the White House, let the crowd turn it and get a slip testifying to one presidential hardshake?

NEWTON D. BAKER, chairman of the welfare and relief mobilization of 1932, says the demand for help this year and in 1933 will be sixteen imes as great as it was at the beginning of our depression. At least one family in every twelve is now receiving assistance, Mr. Baker says, and conditions are getting worse.

The nation may have to organize public feeding on a big scale, which would be a job for the Army and Navy, not for Red Cross, Salvation Army or any other charitable organization.

Earth 10 Billion Years Old, Says Einstein

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Adding to the other troubles of Mother Earth, the old lady awoke today to hear, upon noted authority, that she may be about 7,000,000,000 years older than she thought she was.

The authority is Dr. Albert Einstein, famous scientist and mathematician, and "Father of Relativity."

Dr. Einstein places the age of the earth at probably about 10,000,000,000 years.

It can't be proved, he said yesterday in a lecture on "The Conception of Space," but he added that the universe is in a state of expansion which possibly has been progressing for 10,000,000,000 years and that the birthday of the earth might be linked up with the beginning of that expansion period.

Latest calculations of reliable scientific authorities have placed the earth's age at about 3,000,000,000 years.

Citing recent observations of Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, of Mt. Wilson Observatory, California, Dr. Einstein said it was apparent there were thousands of spiral nebulae in space speeding away from each other at a speed of up to 12,500 miles a second. This expansion, he said, had been going on for 10,000,000,000 years and possibly marked the birthday of the earth.

'Prank Marriage' of Two Girls Annulled

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 16.—(INS.)—A "marriage" between two college girls—the result of an escapade at a masquerade ball five years ago—was severed today.

This was the story told Supreme Court Justice Andrew J. McNaught:

On March 25, 1927, Catherine Koppe and Lillian Beaumont were room-mates attending New York University.

Lillian went with Catherine to a masquerade. Lillian was dressed in the costume of a clown and wore a Van Dyck beard.

They went to a minister in New York City and told him they wanted to get married.

They fooled the minister and he married them. At the time, both girls thought it was a good joke.

But the girls grew older and Catherine was worried about the prank of 1927.

So she brought a suit for annulment.

Justice McNaught granted it.

The justice laughed when he commented upon his decision to International News Service. He said:

"It was just a college girl's escapade."

WIFE, 2 CHILDREN OF 'TRIANGLE' FIGURE KILLED BY GAS

HUSBAND SAFE AS HIS FAMILY DIES IN HOME

Visit by Love Rival Precedes Tragedy On Long Island

MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Responding to a call from Guy Phillips, a dramatic coach, at 7 o'clock this morning, Nassau County police found Phillips unconscious and his wife and two children asphyxiated by gas at his home in Woodmere on Long Island.

The body of Mrs. Phillips was found in a bedroom, fully clothed. Her 6-year-old son was dead on the floor of another bedroom, in which Phillips' prostrate form also was found. A 9-year-old daughter, Norma, was dead in bed.

Immediate autopsies were ordered.

Police said Phillips called them at 7 o'clock and said that he thought that his wife and children had been overcome.

Less than two weeks ago Phillips was named defendant in a $50,000 alienation of affections suit filed by a salesman named Joseph Seltzer, of Woodmere. In this suit Phillips had been arrested and freed on bail of $1,500.

The suit against Phillips alleged that he exerted influence over Mrs. Seltzer that caused her to attempt suicide. Failing in this, it is charged, Mrs. Seltzer deserted her husband and took their three children to live with her mother in Brooklyn.

On August 6, Seltzer charged, Phillips called at his home and openly professed love for Mrs. Seltzer.

Harry Shirk, attorney for Seltzer said that Mrs. Seltzer called on Phillips and the latter's wife at 1 p. m. yesterday. Shirk did not know the outcome of the conference.

Phillips is 35 years old, his wife 32.

BEATTY BREAKS SILENCE ON JUTLAND

Admiral Denies Blame For Escape of German Fleet

International News Service.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—Breaking a silence of more than 15 years, Admiral David Beatty, one of Britain's greatest naval heroes, has given M. H. Dalton, of the staff of the Toronto Star, his version of the famous battle of Jutland, disclaiming responsibility for escape of the German fleet at the moment its extinction appeared inevitable.

In the interview in the Star, Admiral Beatty told in graphic terms of the historic battle and the subsequent flight of the German fleet.

During a pause in his narration, he was asked point-blank how the enemy had managed to escape.

ADMIRAL ANGRY

The Admiral turned upon the interviewer angrily and explained:

"You want to know? Then go ask—"

Here he stopped, and no amount of persuasion could get him to admit that he was referring to Earl Jellicoe, supreme commander of the British fleet at the time of the engagement.

Friends of Earl Beatty for years have charged that Jellicoe, by misplaced strategy, allowed the German fleet to escape.

The interview took place in Lord Beatty's New York hotel shortly before he left for the Middle West. He paced up and down the room, using chairs for ships and desks for fleets, as he told of the day that made naval history. He said:

"You ask what was the biggest moment in my life?

"It wasn't a moment. It was an hour. It was several hours. It was the whole night. It was the night that followed hard on the battle of Jutland.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENT

"The battle of Jutland wasn't a battle at all. It was only a naval engagement. True, it was the greatest naval engagement since Trafalgar, but as the tumult and the shouting died that night, I realized that it was only the preliminary to the battle that would have put an end to the war there and then.

"When the first day's engagement ended, the German main fleet was here."

He pointed to his writing desk.

"The British fleet was here."

He indicated the center of the room.

"The Germans' happy home was there."

He pointed to the other side of the chamber.

"That is to say, the greatest fighting fleet in the world was between the enemy and his base. If he moved north, we could move north. If he moved south, we could dash south.

"We had him on the hip. The stage was set for us to wipe out the German fleet and end the war in the greatest battle of history.

"That is what I thought of all night. That was the biggest moment of my life. The worst came the next morning when I found he had escaped."

It was here that Beatty was asked how the enemy had escaped and here that his thundering but unfinished reply came. He said:

"Enough of that. There is no use crying over it. Let us talk politics."

1 SLAIN, 24 SHOT IN PRISON RIOT; BREAK FAILS

Warden, Using Scrub Brush as Weapon, Balks Stampede

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—A riot in the Speigner State Prison 20 miles from here was cut short yesterday as guards sprayed convicts with gunfire, killed one and wounded 24 others while a nervy warden subdued another group with a scrub brush. One prisoner escaped.

The uprising occurred during the recreation hour after Carl Singleton, 18-year-old Jefferson County convict, led 14 fellow inmates in a dash for liberty against the west fence of the prison inclosure. Singleton fell fatally wounded in the first volley from the guards.

Half of the 950 prisoners in the institution rushed the entrance as Singleton's body was brought through the main gate on a stretcher. They stopped short when 24 of them were dropped by shots fired by guards.

Meanwhile, the 14 who followed Singleton ran across an outer yard of the prison only to encounter gray-haired Warden A. B. Smith. He calmly shoved one hand in a pocket and told the fleeing group:

"All right, boys, you can walk in with me or go in like that fellow on the ground."

Ten turned back, but four continued their flight. The warden's only weapon, he said later, was a scrub brush hastily snatched from his automobile and thrust in his pocket like a gun.

Three of the four who fled were tracked down by bloodhounds, but Reuben Pittman, 16, Montgomery County prisoner, escaped.

N. Y. GANGSTER SHOT BY GIRL

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—John (The Spider) Murtha, with a record as sinister as his sobriquet, has fallen at last—and detectives think a dainty-handed gun-girl shot him.

Since last May New York's 18,000 policemen had been on the watch for Murtha, accused of two cold-blooded murders. They could not find him.

Yesterday a motorist saw a crumpled figure crawling painfully on hands and knees alongside a cemetery in Glendale, Queens. The woebegone person was the Spider. He had been shot in four places and pushed out of a speeding automobile to land on his head on hard pavement.

Considering Murtha's love life in the underworld (they said he was a gallant of sorts) and also considering the fact that it was a .25 caliber pistol from which the shots were fired, detectives were led to believe a girl did the shooting. Gangsters are never known to use that delicate type of pistol, they said.

Weather Conditions.

The northern center of the trough of low pressure, extending from Manitoba to the Gulf Saturday morning, advanced eastward rapidly Saturday night and Sunday and has disappeared from our field of observation in the Northeast, having been attended by only light rain in its path across the lakes. The southern center appears over Northern Georgia and Eastern Tennessee this morning, with heavy rains in the Carolinas, Virginia and portions of Tennessee and Georgia. Another low appears in the Southwest, with little or no precipitation as yet. It is cooler in the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Nevada and portions of the lake region, with little change in temperature elsewhere.

HYDROPHOBIA KILLS BOY

Hydrophobia, which the Pasteur treatment rarely fails to check, today had claimed the life of Joseph Kincel, 8, of 290 Benton street, Ross Township, according to a Coroner's report.

Joseph Kincel

The boy, bitten by a stray dog when he tried to pet it, was given the treatment at West Penn Hospital and apparently had overcome the infection. A few days after his discharge from the hospital he developed symptoms of hydrophobia. He died last night.

The history of the Pasteur treatment in this country, physicians said, shows failures to be very rare. They said, however, that capture and observation of the dog, to determine if it is rabid, and immediate treatment is necessary.

Three Gas Victims On Way to Recovery

Three employes of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, who were overcome by gas Saturday when attempting to fix a gas leak in a pipe line in Beaver road, Ambridge, will be released from the Valley Hospital in Rochester in a day or two, attaches said. The men, Joseph Sauers, Imperial; Bosey Yezzo, Coraopolis, and Mike Rollser, Imperial, were 40 feet under the street when they were rescued by fellow workmen.

DR. LOUISE LYLE DIES AT 90

Dr. Louise J. Wotring Lyle, 90, organizer and founder of the Presbyterian Hospital here, and a pioneer woman physician, died last night at her home near Washington, Pa.

The daughter of Abraham Wotring, an early Washington County associate judge, Dr. Lyle was a graduate of Washington Seminary and later became actively identified in Pittsburgh welfare work. Legend has it that despite strong opposition and with a capital of only $5 she started a movement that resulted in the founding of the present Presbyterian Hospital.

Following the founding of the hospital, she went to Cincinnati, O., where she established Cincinnati College for Medicine for Women, which was among the first to be established in this country.

Watch, Gift of Czar, Stolen in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The recovery of a watch and pendant presented 50 years ago by Czar Alexander III of Russia to Marie Bielalusoss as a token of his friendship was sought by Chicago police today.

The watch, passed on as a family heirloom to Mrs. Bielalusoss' granddaughter, Mrs. Fritzi Broide, was reported stolen from the Broide home.

Belfast Strikers Return to Work

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Workmen who went out on strike last week in connection with the unemployed riots went back to work this morning.

Authorities said normal conditions now prevailed and it was expected the curfew law which was invoked during the riots would be suspended tomorrow.

Bellevue Banker's Trial Postponed

The trial of A. D. Smith, former secretary and treasurer of the closed Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue, today was postponed in Criminal Court. Smith's counsel asked for more time to study the bank records. Smith is charged with embezzlement of more than $73,000.

SING SING WINS, 6 POLICE HURT

OSSINING, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—

"You can't win—we've got John Law on our side."

Placards with that slogan were paraded Sunday as the Sing Sing Prison team faced the Port Jervis Police eleven in the game of games, and the prisoners won, 7 to 0.

And the fine coaching of John Law, former Notre Dame captain, was credited with much that brought the victory.

Hayes, quarterback and captain of the Sing Sing eleven, scored the only touchdown of the game early in the first quarter.

Two thousand convicts and 1,600 civilians witnessed the battle.

"One cop down—10 to go," was the favorite cheer of the prisoners and the spectacle of a horizontal policeman seemed to give them great joy. In all six cops were injured during the bitter conflict.

FIND GIRL SLAIN ON RIVER FLOAT

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Police are preparing to drag the Monongahela River for the body of Matt Christy, last seen with Margaret Hickman, 20, whose body was found last night on a float anchored in the river.

A motive for the death of the girl meanwhile is sought by officers, who said she was the wife of Thomas Van Camp, held in the Wood County Jail at Parkersburg on a burglary charge.

Her death apparently was caused by a bullet wound in her throat, and police say she apparently had been placed on the float after her death.

Christy, a taxi driver, officers say, last was seen with the girl on Saturday night. They plan, in addition to dragging the river, to endeavor to learn from his relatives at Confluence, Pa., whether he had visited there.

Accused Slayer Of Oursler Caught

Ed Dudley, Oklahoma politician, alleged slayer of Howard B. Oursler, federal prohibition agent and former Pittsburgh official under Mayor William A. Magee, surrendered to police late yesterday according to an Associated Press dispatch from Stilwell, Oklahoma.

Exhausted from a three-day flight in Oklahoma hills, Dudley telephoned police he wished to give himself up. Officers said Dudley, a candidate for Constable, shot Oursler to escape arrest for questioning about sales of liquor.

BLOCK CITY BUY OF PAPER SHOES

Distribution of shoes to Pittsburgh's thousands of needy has been delayed because at least three dealers tried to deliver paper shoes, City Supplies Director W. R. Dunlap admitted today.

Of the committee which he appointed to examine the samples submitted by dealers with their bids, Dunlap said:

"The committee misunderstood my instructions."

He indicated the committee apparently thought the city wanted to buy the cheapest shoes, regardless of quality.

Dunlap today appointed a new committee—Edward Kunberg, David Glick and N. Zentler—to examine all samples again. The old committee—R. Bruce Murphy and W. C. Mohr—will also sit in at the inspection.

The shoe contract had been tentatively awarded to 15 dealers when the paper shoes were detected. The city has set aside $50,000 to buy the shoes, which will be distributed by the relief agencies. If the samples which are being inspected today prove satisfactory, it is possible distribution will start tomorrow.

Philadelphia Raids Yield Poison Rum

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—Superintendent of Police William B. Mills today issued a warning that much poison liquor is on the bootleg market in Philadelphia.

The poison found in liquor seized in raids by police within the past four months has increased upward of 600 per cent, Mills said.

Glass Plant Blaze Causes $5,000 Loss

JEANNETTE, Pa., Oct. 17.—Fire swept the hayshed of the American Window Glass Company here this morning, causing loss estimated at $5,000. The building, used for storing packing material, burned rapidly, but firemen kept the flames from spreading to the lumber shed. It was the third fire in the plant in three years.

SEMMERING, Austria, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Sinclair Lewis, the American writer, is under a doctor's care at his winter home here for a slight case of influenza.

SUCCOP'S CASE POSTPONED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Superior Court today allowed a postponement of the argument on the appeal of Bertram L. Succop, former director of supplies of Pittsburgh, sentenced to one year in jail for fraud in the letting of contracts for municipal supplies.

Succop's case will be heard October 31. The case originally was on today's list.

Counsel for Succop asked that the case go over until November 21. It was claimed "it was impossible to prepare the defendant's side of the case because of the lengthy record and of the difficulty in separating the 28 counts on which the defendant was convicted from the 45 counts in the original indictment."

District Attorney A. T. Park, of Pittsburgh, in opposing the continuance, said that the record had been available to counsel for the defendant on September 24, but that "the district attorney's office was unable to locate defense counsel." Park said defense did not require until November 21 to prepare argument. The compromise date then was fixed.

French Voting Gives Herriot 7 New Seats

PARIS, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—A further trend to the Left Center was shown today in nearly complete returns for yesterday's election for 111 seats of the French Senate.

Premier Edouard Herriot was the principal winner, adding seven new seats. Erstwhile followers of former Premier Tardieu were the chief losers.

Unemployed Father Of 6 Found Hanged

Steve Gharitomuk, 37, of 749 Valley road, Ambridge, found by a neighbor, hanging from a tree less than 50 feet away from his home, late Saturday night, probably will be buried tomorrow, police said. Beaver County officials reported the case a suicide.

Gharitomuk, unemployed for more than a year, leaves his wife and six children.

Jazz Music in Church, Choir Master Quits

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The strains of snappy jazz numbers played by a night club orchestra two weeks ago in the stately First Westminster Presbyterian Church had an echo today with the resignation of Herbert S. Boynton as director of the church choir.

Boynton attached copies of "I'm Yours for Tonight" and "Let's Have a Party," two of the numbers played, to his letter of resignation. He termed the presentation of them "an outrage which could not have been perpetrated had my position as director of music been respected."

The pastor, Dr. Elwood Rowsey, defended the appearance of the orchestra two weeks ago last night, saying he wanted to make his Sunday morning services devotional and those in the evening entertaining.

The following Sunday night, Edwin Markham, poet, appeared, while last night the church was lighted with candles and an old-fashioned service was held, with the congregation singing the songs of their grandmothers' time.

Religious Zealots Egg 'Green Pastures' Show

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Pulitzer prize-winning play, "The Green Pastures," played to a full house under police guard last night after a zealous group had egged the performers in a protest against "religious lampoonery."

The egging occurred at Saturday night's performance. Rotten tomatoes, stench bombs, and other projectiles were hurled on the stage during the second act, stopping the show. One actress was injured by a stone.

The police were called to restore order. They arrested one man. He was a young fisherman, and a handbill taken from him read in part:

"Sweden, awake in protest against the system which tolerates such religious lampoonery as we witnessed here and the present decay of culture."

The police said a group of National Socialists was responsible, but leaders of the party disclaimed responsibility, at the same time admitting sympathy for the idea behind the demonstration.

BETHANY HEAD'S RITES PLANNED WEDNESDAY

BETHANY, W. Va., Oct. 17.—Funeral services have been set for Wednesday for Dr. Cloyd Goodnight, president of Bethany College, who died at his home last Saturday after a heart attack.

Burial will be in Campbell's Cemetery, beside the grave of Alexander Campbell, founder of Bethany College.

He was born in Michigantown, Ill., December 2, 1881, and was graduated from Butler College in 1906. In 1907 he married Anna Hussey, of Carmel, Ind. One son, John Thomas, is a law student at Butler. Their daughter, Ida Frances, is a student at Bethany.

Dr. Goodnight served a number of pastorates in the Church of the Disciples of Christ. He left the ministry of the First Christian Church in Uniontown, Pa., to become president of Bethany in 1919. At the Indianapolis convention of the denomination last week he was elected vice president.

He was honored by the University of Pittsburgh in 1921, with the degree of doctor of divinity and Butler in 1929, made him a doctor of laws.

Dr. Goodnight was responsible for Bethany's program of strictly amateur athletics. Recently he inaugurated the unique policy of free college football games.

WOMAN EDITOR REPLIES TO ALICE

Under the caption, "Fifty Fifty," Eleanor Patterson, publisher of the Washington Herald, writes as follows:

Alice Longworth, in the fascinating first installment of "Some Reminiscences," published this month, tells the world that Franklin Roosevelt is only her fourth cousin once removed. Yet "some people have actually congratulated me on the nomination of 'my brother,'" writes Mrs. Longworth.

It is evident that Mrs. Longworth and her family are irritated by the possibility of a confusion between Gov. Roosevelt and junior T. R. But, what is the Governor's reaction to this case of mistaken identity, as reported by Mrs. Longworth? Maybe he feels flattered and complimented to be mistaken for Mrs. Longworth's brother. Maybe, though, he isn't crazy about it at all.

This reminds me somewhat of a story about that magnificant old Norseman, Andy Furuseth—head of the Seamen's Union. Some years ago when he was lying very sick indeed in a little sailors' hospital in San Francisco, a "society" lady came to visit him, her arms full of roses, her heart full of romance.

"Oh, Mr. Furuseth," she said, "come to my house and let me take care of you. You will have a flowered chintz room, fine linen, servants to wait on you."

Andy looked up from his narrow iron cot.

"Madame," he said, "that would be turrible for both of us."

Law Forgives Man Who Hunted to Feed Family

LANGHORNE, Pa., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Given 30 days in jail for violating the game laws, Joseph Madello, of Philadelphia, was released today because of the discovery of extenuating circumstances.

Justice Joseph A. Keating has learned, he said, that Madello is unemployed, has no money and little food for his wife and six children.

He had been convicted of hunting without a license and shooting a pheasant out of season.

NOLAN JAILED IN SHOW RAID

Sought for two weeks, Tommy Nolan, North Side dance promoter, was held for court at Greensburg today charged with operating an immoral show, raided by troopers at Vandergrift early October 2.

Nolan was picked up by police, they reported, while loitering near the North Side station Saturday night. He was held by Alderman J. A. Walton, of Greensburg. Six others, including four girl beauty parlor operators, previously were held for court as a result of the raid.

HUNTING DOGS BARE MURDER

ALLENDALE, N. J., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—A murder mystery with but few clues to the killers today had been uncovered for police by two hunting dogs, belonging to Edward Mackerson and J. Hilburt.

The dogs led their owners to the body of a young man lying near a tree, a tightly drawn belt around his neck.

Investigators said death apparently occurred sometime last summer.

Through the youth's suit and hat, obtained in New York stores, police hoped to establish his identity.

FIGHT TORTURE TRIAL VERDICT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 17.—(Universal.)—Held guilty of manslaughter by a jury here late Saturday, George Courson, convict camp captain who faced murder charges in Florida's famous "sweatbox" hanging, spent yesterday with his family at his home near Jasper, as his attorney laid plans for seeking a new trial.

C. A. Avriett, attorney for Courson, informed the court when the manslaughter verdict was brought in that he would move for a new trial. In event such new trial is denied, Avriett said he would appeal to the Supreme Court. The lawyer bluntly said he never expected to see his clint serve a day.

The usual penalty for manslaughter is one to 20 years, but Judge George Gibbs, who presided, pointed out that under the law Courson may be given from one day instead of one year, to 20 years, or he may be given a fine. A penny's fine would suffice for the spi... of the law.

Meanwhile, Solomon Higginbotham, the guard who was acquitted when the jury held Courson guilty of manslaughter, said he was through guarding convicts.

FIREMEN HURT IN EAST END

Two firemen were recovering today from injuries suffered during a fire at 5425-27 Howe street yesterday, which drove out more than a dozen persons, including several children.

The injured are Hoseman John Kenny, 43, of Engine Company 28, and Bernard Duffy, 50, of Engine Company 14. They were taken to Mercy Hospital.

The fire broke out on the top floor of the three-story building, routing the occupants of 12 apartments. Origin of the fire was undetermined. Fire Chief Fred Beckett estimated the damage at $5,000.

Swallowed Scissors Fatal to Boy Patient

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—A 19-day fight to save the life of 11-year-old Robert Sandstredt, Jr., in whose right lung a bit of a pair of surgical scissors was embedded, ended in failure yesterday when the child died of pneumonia. He had been operated on for removal of his tonsils. The operating physician said the piece of scissors, which the boy swallowed, broke off during the operation because of defective steel.

3 MEN ACCUSED IN DRY'S DEATH

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The government charged today that the killings of a Prohibition Department investigator and a Logan County, Kentucky, deputy sheriff at Russellville, Ky., late Saturday were the outgrowth of an attempt by Logan County and Russellville officers to free prisoners taken in prohibition raids there.

Kank A. Mather, 49, prohibition investigator, and Bluch Sovars, 57, a special deputy were killed when they shot each other during a dispute at a cabin in which prisoners had been corralled after being taken in raids.

W. M. Woodruff, administrator for the Sixth district, ordered warrants issued for Mike McEndree, Russellville chief of police; Dick Taylor, night patrolman there, and Jack Kemp, Logan County deputy sheriff, the party of officers that entered the cabin.

PREMIER QUITS KING CAROL

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The government headed by Premier Alexander Vaida-Voevod resigned today.

The Premier submitted his resignation to King Carol at the latter's summer residence at Sinaia after an hour's conference. M. Vaida-Voevod emphasized that he was unable to work with Nicholas Titulescu, who had been offered the portfolio of foreign minister.

The King accept the resignation and summoned Dr. Juliu Maniu, leader of the National Peasant party. Dr. Maniu had already left Sinaia, where he, the Premier and M. Titulescu attended the King's thirty-ninth birthday party yesterday.

Pittsburgher Attends Propeller Club Meet

Armand J. P. Vandermyn was in Norfolk, Va., today as representative of the Port of Pittsburgh at the national convention of the Propeller Club of the United States. He will offer Pittsburgh's bid for next year's convention.

Auto Skids Off Road, Blocks Pennsy Trains

Two westbound trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad were delayed from five to ten minutes early today when an automobile driven by William Johnson, of Aliquippa, skidded from the Beaver road at Haysville on to the railroad tracks, damaging the rear end of the machine.

WRIGLEY DOLLARS REAL BOON TO MOTORISTS

Wrigley's Great Satisfaction, While "Making Time."

By MISS MINT

Did you ever just ride, and ride—not having any definite place in mind? That's what I did yesterday. After riding for a while, I alighted before the Hubbard & Company Manufacturing plant, 6301 Butler St.

One of the first persons I encountered was none other than MR. W. LASHER, Assistant Manager. I broached my question, and Mr. Lasher brought forth the gum. "Wrigley's is the best on the market," he informed me. "By the way, did you ever try smoking in an automobile, traveling around sixty or seventy miles an hour? You can't smoke at that speed, and chewing Wrigley's affords great satisfaction on a long trip when you are making time."

That sounds like a very logical suggestion, MR. LASHER. I'm sure many motorists in the future will be following your suggestion.

Others who received Wrigley Dollars, yesterday, were:

H. W. KAHRER, 1207 Winterton St.; NAOMI LOBAUGH, 1638 Middle St.; L. S. BAUGH, 821 Fordham Ave.; CLARA MAE HOAK, 1331 Beechview Ave.; JOSEPH P. WEBER, 5201 Butler St.; PEGGY KANE, 4045 Cabinet St.; J. H. WORLEY, 6715 Beacon St.

Carry a supply of Wrigley's with you always—and don't forget that new, crisp, dollar bill.

BEAR HUNT FALL FATAL, FRIEND DENIES GUILT

SEATTLE, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Accusations made from the death bed of Frank Simpson, his friend for 20 years, today confronted Theodore D. Weed, Seattle businessman.

Simpson, 56-year-old restaurateur, died yesterday without altering his story that Weed, angered when his hunting companion missed two shots fired at a bear, pushed him over a 30-foot cliff. Simpson died of a broken back.

Weed denied the accusation. He is free under $10,000 bond on first degree assault charges, but Chief Deputy Prosecutor Emett G. Lenihan said he would file a murder complaint today and rearrest Weed.

Weed, free under $10,000 bond, declared at the side of Simpson's death bed:

"Frank is speaking through a delirium. He might imagine anything. It's more than possible that a bear knocked him over the cliff. He told me that he had met a bear face to face. Maybe the bear cuffed him and now he thinks I was the one who did it."

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Shot during an argument over the question of "who shot the duck?," John E. Kabel, 28-year-old Evanston fireman, lay in a hospital seriously wounded today, while Dr. Anton P. Lombardo, a dentist, was held on a charge of assault to commit murder.

The shooting of both duck and man occurred at Fourth Lake yesterday. Kabel and his companion Cyril Poole, were in one boat; Dr. Lombardo and his wife in another.

The quarrel arose when Kabel went to retrieve a duck which the dentist claimed his wife shot. Dr Lombardo said his gun went off accidentally when he raised it "intending to bluff him." The doctor said he had first warned Kabel away from the fallen fowl.

Dancing Instructor Tries to End Life

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Mrs. L. E. Buttrick, whose husband recently asked a divorce because she allegedly walked backward in front of him as he instructed girls in dancing in order to tell what he was saying by reading his lips, is recovering from a gunshot wound which, police said, was self-inflicted. Buttrick asked an injunction to restrain her from entering his ballroom.

Children Who Are Falling Behind in School

Children who are falling behind in school, have no interest in play, are underweight, listless and run-down, are the greatest source of worry to tired, anxious mothers.

They may not secure from their food the vitamins they must have to maintain growth and health, to keep up with their playmates.

Father John's Medicine contains exactly the food elements which are so often lacking in the diet and in a form which is easily taken up by a weakened, run-down system.

Among other valuable ingredients Father John's Medicine contains the purest medicinal cod liver oil, richest natural source of the vitamins A and D, the same as found in milk, butter, eggs, and green vegetables. So it builds up new strength in those who are weak and run-down, builds new energy to resist colds and maintain health.

HEARST POLL'S CONSERVATISM SHOWN AGAIN

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The conservatism of the nation-wide postcard presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States again was demonstrated today.

Published returns in the Literary Digest poll from 38 states, as contained in that magazine's issue of October 15, showed 58 per cent of the Hoover-Roosevelt ballots going to Gov. Roosevelt and 42 per cent to President Hoover.

Returns to date in the Hearst newspapers poll for the same 38 states show 54 per cent of the ballots going to Gov. Roosevelt and 46 to President Hoover.

The average per cent of the combined Democratic-Republican vote by which the presidency has been won in the 10 elections of the last 40 years has been 54, the exact figure that the Hearst newspapers poll shows Gov. Roosevelt drawing in the 38 states under consideration.

In two states, Arkansas and Utah, the two polls agree on the percentage division. In 10 states, the Hearst newspapers poll gives Gov. Roosevelt a higher rating than the Digest returns. They are Alabama, Arizona, Delaware, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nevada, South Carolina and Vermont. All of these are states of relative small electoral voting strength.

In the other 26 states of the 38, including everyone that may be regarded as debatable or that will cast a substantial electoral vote, the Hearst newspapers poll shows Roosevelt percentages varying from 1 to 9 per cent under the figures accorded Roosevelt in the Digest tabulation.

This is particularly noticeable in Ohio, where the Digest gives Roosevelt 58 per cent and the Hearst poll 49 per cent. Kansas is another, the Digest giving Roosevelt 55 and the Hearst poll 47 per cent of that state's vote.

The table that follows shows the comparative percentages for the 38 states of the two polls:

Presidential Trend By States

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States. It also shows the majority that each candidate has in each state in which he is leading. In addition it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each state as compared with the last preceding report from the state. These state reports are usually a week apart. The final feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each state where he has improved his position as compared with the preceding report from that state.

Poll Assures Roosevelt 232 Electoral Votes

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Gov. Roosevelt today appears to have 232 electoral votes in 23 states definitely to his credit. This is 34 less than the 266 necessary to elect.

To obtain those 34 votes he has 75 in eight states to draw on where he is showing a reasonable margin of safety. In addition, he is showing a slight advantage in six other states with 79 electoral votes.

37 SURE FOR HOOVER

Only 37 electoral votes in five states can be definitely placed to President Hoover's credit. Twenty more in two states look reasonably safe for him. He has a slight advantage in four states with 88 votes.

This is the way the presidential situation shows up with the campaign still three weeks to go, according to 461,360 postcard ballots received and tabulated in the nation-wide presidential poll of Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

The states classed as definitely sure for respective candidates are those wherein the leader has received 60 per cent or more of the poll ballots. In those with a reasonable margin of safety the leader has drawn 55 per cent or more, but less than 60 per cent of the ballots. The definitely doubtful states are those giving less than 55 per cent to the leading candidate.

States classed as definitely sure for Roosevelt are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

States wherein Roosevelt has a reasonable margin of safety are Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon and West Virginia.

Definitely doubtful states with slight leaning to Roosevelt are Delaware, Indiana, Michigan, Montana, Pennsylvania and Wyoming.

HOOVER STATES

Hoover's definitely sure states are Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont.

States with a reasonable safety margin for Hoover are New Jersey and Rhode Island.

Definitely doubtful states with a Hoover leaning are Colorado, Kansas, New York and Ohio.

The only noticeable shift of alignment during the past week was that West Virginia slipped from the definitely sure Roosevelt group to the group with a reasonable safety margin in his favor. This was the tangible result of the intensive drive the Republicans have been waging to recapture the southern border states.

Candidates' Percentage Rank

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Division of the 461,360 postcard ballots thus far recorded in the nationwide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States, shows Gov. Roosevelt this week drawing 57 per cent and President Hoover 43 per cent of the votes. This is a 1 per cent loss for Roosevelt and a 1 per cent gain for Hoover from the addition of 57,432 new ballots during the past week.

Roosevelt made gains of 3 per cent in Utah, 2 per cent in Delaware and 1 per cent each in Maine, Mississippi and Oklahoma.

Hoover gained 2 per cent in Illinois and 1 per cent each in Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Vermont and West Virginia.

The Hoover gain in West Virginia was the first break in his favor in the border states of the South. It removed that state from the definitely safe Roosevelt group by dropping the Roosevelt percentage from 60 to 59 and raising Hoover's from 40 to 41.

The following table shows the percentage division by states today as compared with a week ago, together with the gains and losses in states where there were changes:

Wheeling Prepares For Roosevelt Visit

WHEELING, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Island Stadium, with a seating capacity of 12,000, has been decided upon by Democratic leaders as the location for the mass meeting which Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will address here Wednesday. In the event of inclement weather, the meeting will be held in the State Fair Exposition Hall. Gov. Roosevelt will motor here at 11:30 a. m. from Pittsburgh. The Governor will be met at the West Virginia line by a detail of state police and a committee including Senator M. M. Neely and Judge H. G. Kump, Democratic nominee for Governor.

Cal's Lullaby Brings No Rest To Anxious G.O.P.

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

You can't blame Cal Coolidge for regarding Herbie Hoover as a boy who is going to college.

Cal was all through it himself and he recognizes that numb feeling which means Republicanism in an advanced stage.

That's why he indorsed Herbie's administration in a gentle speech that was like rain on a roof, like the pitter-patter of little feet on the stairs and as smoothly massaging as a pastry chef making vanilla cookies.

Cal was never great shakes for getting excited and emotional over any administration including his own. We forget whether it was Cal or Herbie who typified triple-distilled caution by wearing both suspenders and a belt.

If it was Herbie it was all in vain. He lost his pants just the same.

Cal's soothing hand on the Hoover cradle arrived too late to rock any Republicans into blissful repose during the campaign insomnia season.

We figure that Cal made that speech for the same reason grandma danced with the traveling salesman. She was asked.

'Gas' Thief Blamed For Fatal Air Crash

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—A thief who siphoned gasoline from his airplane was blamed today for the death of Richard C. Allen, 41, aviation inspector, killed while en route to his home at Jonesville, N. Y., where a birthday party was arranged for him by his family.

Allen took off from Roosevelt Field yesterday. He leaped from the plane near here when something went wrong and it started plunging downward, but the parachute failed to open, and he crashed into a tree.

Trolley Kills Youth, Rescue Efforts Fail

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Pinned for 20 minutes under a trolley car near Twenty-third and Mt. Vernon streets, today, Benjamin Perkowski, 20, died while the motorman and five passengers worked desperately to save his life.

Perkowski was struck and fell under the trolley while crossing the street. A blinding rain was blamed for the accident.

Pitt Grad to Aid 'Depression College'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Arthur W. Calhoun, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, has been appointed professor of sociology in "Depression College," Port Royal, Va., Dr. Arthur C. C. Hill, Jr., organizing secretary, announced.

The college is designed to bring together teachers idle because of the depression, and students who because of financial stringency are unable to continue their courses. The faculty will serve without pay.

Actor Bennett Owes $620, Dentist Says

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Richard Bennett, noted actor, still owes $620 on a dental bill he assertedly incurred in New York more than two years ago, according to a recovery suit for this amount filed in Municipal Court.

Dental work in the amount of $820 was alleged to have been furnished the actor by Dr. George W. Connell. The account became due on May 1, 1930, but the actor paid only $200 on the bill, the complaint asserts.

MacDonald's Church Destroyed by Fire

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The church were the family of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald usually worship was levelled by fire yesterday. Only the pulpit bible was saved by the beadle, Alex Macky, who ran through the smoke to get the prized book.

All of the congregation's church books were burned, including bibles belonging to the MacDonalds, among which was one believed to have been presented to the Premier on the occasion of his last visit to the United States.

FORMER BACKER QUITS HOOVER ON POWER

By FRASER EDWARDS
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Hoover apparently wants the power industry to remain a "happy hunting ground for get-rich-quick promoters of the Insull type," Prof. Edward A. Ross, of Wisconsin University, an original Hoover-for-President man, charges in a statement issued by the National Popular Government League.

The charge was made in connection with the announcement of Judson King, executive director of the League, that the organization had been instructed by a 90 per cent vote of the membership to oppose President Hoover and support Gov. Roosevelt, in view of the power crisis.

In reversing its non-partisan position, largely on the power issue, King announced the appointment of Senator Norris, veteran Progressive leader, as honorary chairman, and Prof. Ross as active chairman, of a special Roosevelt campaign committee to combat the "grossly false propaganda" spread by Republican leaders that there is no essential difference between the power policies of Roosevelt and Hoover.

As a professor at Stanford University, Ross said he admired Hoover as a student and was one in the Hoover-for-President movement in 1920. Ross added:

"Since he has been in the White House, however, I have come to feel that Mr. Hoover is the most big business-minded President we ever had. I am not blaming him; his pre-war activities were bound to make him that way."

Ross recalled the remark made by President Hoover to President David Starr Jordan, of Stanford, in Australia years ago, that he was receiving $100,000 a year from a big British firm, of which $5,000 was for his advice as a mining engineer and $95,000 as a financial expert.

DECISION BARS POWER UNIT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Power Commission held today that the New River in Virginia is navigable and hence a federal license is necessary for development of power projects ther e.

This finding represented another step in a lengthy controversy with the Appalachian Electric Power Company, which plans to develop a dam and power project near Radford, Va.

The company has challenged constitutionality of the commission's action in requiring a federal license. It contends the river is not navigable and a license is not required. The case is now in the federal courts in Virginia.

POLITICAL FORUM :-: Tribute to United States; Mystery Thrillers :-: ON THE AIR TONIGHT

Ritchie, Traylor, Strawn, Allen Give Party Views; Stars in State Parade

Addressed to the youth of America in an unusual political forum, a symposium of Republican and Democratic policies and platforms heads tonight's radio treats. The forum is heard in connection with the broadcast of ceremonies attending the dedication of the new Thorne Chapel at Northwestern University, scheduled on KDKA at 10:30 p. m.

Gov. Ritchie

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, and Melvin Traylor, Chicago banker, give the Democratic views, while Silas Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Henry J. Allen, former Kansas Governor and publicity director for the Republican National Committee, represent the G. O. P.

An address by Dr. Elton G. Mayo, of Harvard University, at the annual conference of the Child Study Association of America in the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, is heard over an extensive NBC network, including WCAE, at 8:30 tonight. Dr. Mayo's topic is "Freedom and Indoctrination."

Harold Nicolson, noted journalist, author and diplomat, speaks "To a Lowbrow" during the second of a series of international broadcasts featuring talks "To An Unnamed Listener" heard over a Columbia chain, including WJAS, today from 4:20 to 4:40. The program originates in London.

* * *

Program Pointers

With Lottice Howell, Aileen Stanley, Angelita Loya and Phil Dewey as soloists with a concert orchestra under the direction of Erno Rapee, the Parade of States, concluding its series of musical visits, pays tribute to the United States over an NBC network and WCAE tonight at 9:30. The program features the folk, semi-classical and popular music of American composers, and is grouped into five major numbers, each of which is devoted to a section of the country. A special tribute to the nation, written for the program by Bruce Barton, is a highlight of the broadcast.

Miss Howell

Original arrangements of two novelty selections, "Swiss Guide" and "Devil Is Afraid of Me," are featured by the three harmonizing "X" Sisters on WJAS at 7:30.

The Duquesne Theater of the Air, to be featured weekly on WWSW, makes its initial appearance tonight at 10. The "Red Maskers" of Duquesne University, present the productions, which will include dramatic, comedy and musical sketches.

The Boswell Sisters, back from a vacation in New Orleans, return to the musical quarter-hour with Nat Shilkret's orchestra at 10 on WJAS.

John H. Lucas, assistant to the president of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company, appears as guest speaker during the "Pittsburgh Today" program on KQV at 9.

Listening In—

Tarkington Serial. Muriel, the Trouper. Kirbery's Theme Song.

After little more than a month on the air, Booth Tarkington's first original series of radio sketches, "Maud and Cousin Bill," moves from its morning spot to an afternoon period on a revised schedule of three shows a week, instead of the former two, in response to popular demand. The new schedule—Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5 p. m.—becomes effective today over an NBC-WJZ network, including KDKA. The sketches, dealing with a typical American girl and boy, are produced under the direction of Winifred Lenihan, well-known Broadway star and supervisor of the Theater Guild Dramatic School, with Vivian Block, Andy Donnelly, Edwin Wragge, Ruth Wooster and Georgia Burke portraying the leading roles.

Miss Lenihan

Trouper . . . While Muriel Wilson, NBC soprano, was singing the "Blue Danube" waltz during a benefit performance at White Sulphur Springs, Va., recently, stage hands, working behind the scenes, bumped into and knocked over the back props. The set fell with a crash, the audience gasped and the orchestra momentarily stopped playing . . . but Muriel, without a quiver, held a high note, continued the song without interruption and in a few seconds the orchestra resumed playing.

Ralph Kirbery, who's been looking for a new theme song for some time, found it accidentally when he dropped in to see "Vanities" a few days ago. It's "Love, You Are My Inspiration." The moment he heard it he forgot about the show and dashed off to the publisher's for permission to use the melody.

Pickups . . . The Men About Town all carry the same kind of good luck charms—washers from a propellor from Jack Parker's yacht . . . The oldest theme song on the air is "Weary," written by Emerson Gill for his orchestra in Cleveland . . . Five major recording companies, instead of just the one company as originally planned, will bring out Johnny Marvin's air signature . . . Fred Lester, the tenor with George Munday's band on WCAE, was once a singing usher at an East Liberty theater.

Raymond Knight will blossom out soon with a story in a national magazine called "Tsar and Feathers" . . . In it he confesses that he's really a Russian grand duke . . . Kinyamagine!

Debutantes and others who attend the Saturday afternoon sessions at the New Yorker, where George Olsen holds forth, comprise the maestro's "tune jury" . . . Every Saturday he plays all of the new tunes, and if they go over, they're included on Olsen's air programs . . . and vice versa.

Stomach Ulcer Formula Attracts Much Attention

Toma formula soothes pain from hyperacidic conditions quickly and relieves at home. No rigid diet, no operation required.

Sufferers who have used this formula pronounce it the most astonishing scientific achievement of years to soothe and relieve stomach ulcers from hyper-acidity, to neutralize trouble-causing acids and to aid the digestive system.

Acidosis, gas, acid indigestion, sourness, lack of pep and constipation from over-acidity are also quickly relieved by TOMA TABLETS, which can be obtained only from our offices at Ligonier, Pa.

Write today for our valuable free booklet "Your Stomach and You," which describes symptoms of stomach distress, tells of the Toma formula and gives information everyone should know.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Minnie Block.

Mrs. Minnie Block, 57, of Cherry Lane, West View, mother of Police Inspector Anthony Block, of the North Side station, died today in her home. Born in the Spring Garden district, Mrs. Block had lived on the North Side all her life. She was a member of the Bethel Lutheran Church, North Side.

Besides Inspector Block, she leaves two sons, Edward and John Block; two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Clifford and Mrs. Elfreda Hummel; two brothers, two sisters and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Schellhaus funeral home, East street, North Side, at 2 p. m. Thursday, with interment in Uniondale Cemetery.

Muldowney Funeral.

Funeral services for Fire Capt. William F. Muldowney, brother of City Councilman M. J. Muldowney, who died Saturday, were held today in his home, 147 Moultrie street. Additional services were to be held in St. Agnes Church, of which he was a member. Capt. Muldowney was injured Tuesday while fighting a fire. Pneumonia developed suddenly, causing his death. He was identified with the city fire department nearly 15 years. At the time of his death he was captain of Engine Company No. 5.

Mrs. Harry Halliwell.

Mrs. Ellen McGowan Halliwell, 56, died yesterday at her home, 6819 Thomas boulevard. She was born in England and had been a resident of Pittsburgh 40 years. Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at Holy Rosary Church. Mrs. Halliwell leaves her husband, Harry Halliwell; two sons, Henry and John Halliwell; two daughters, Rose Halliwell and Mrs. Robert Waldron; her mother, Mrs. Eliza McGowan; a brother and a sister, Mrs. A. Burrett, of Ithaca, N. Y.

Parrot Dies Saving Owners From Fire

BANDON, Ore., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—A 60-year-old parrot saved the lives of its owners, then died in a fire that destroyed their home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Way and their daughter, Catherine, were awakened by the bird's cries. They had barely time to escape with their own lives, and old Polly, four love birds and 12 canaries perished.

FEWER SCHOOL DAYS LOST DUE TO COLDS

Remarkable Results of New Colds-Control Plan of Special Interest to Mothers and Teachers

Last winter, comparative tests of Vicks Plan for better Control-of-Colds were made among 862 children in nine schools. A group of 429 did not follow the Plan—and lost a total of 501 days on account of colds. The other group of 433 followed the Plan—and lost a total of only 178 days on account of colds. A saving of practically two-thirds in school time!

Each Vicks package contains full details of this unique Vicks Colds-Control Plan.

To PREVENT many Colds

..after exposure, at that first sniffle or any other signs of "catching cold." The number and spread of colds can be cut more than half.

To END a Cold Sooner

..at bedtime, for its famous double action and quicker relief. Vicks is the mothers standby for treating colds. And it's available now in a new Stainless form.

In Mayfair

-With-

Patricia Pitt

There's some news to brighten even this drizzly, woebegone day. One of the younger set is betrothed, Bobbie Wilson, or Anne Unger Wilson, as she was baptised.

Her father and mother, the Unger Wilsons, of South Aiken avenue, are announcing her engagement to William J. Kountz, son of the George McClellan Kountzes.

The news was revealed first yesterday afternoon at a tea Bobbie's cousin, Maria Patton Wilson, daughter of Mrs. George C. Wilson, Jr., gave in her home, also South Aiken avenue.

At Dow School

Bobbie attended Miss Dow's School at Briarcliff Manor during the past year and her fiance studied at the Hill school and the United States Military Academy.

She is the granddaughter of George C. Wilson, the retired lawyer, of Wilson Farms, Mifflin, Pa., and of the late Sullivan Johnson, of the North Side.

Mr. Kountz is a grandson of the late Commander W. J. Kountz.

Just when the wedding will be hasn't been decided.

* * *

The coming week is going to offer a variety of things to the smart set, and there's promise of more and more exciting things to come.

Cathedral Wedding

There's going to be a wedding tomorrow morning, that of Virginia Murphy, the Bert L. Murphys' daughter, and Dr. William L. Mullins, to take place at 11 o'clock in stately St. Paul's Cathedral.

On Tuesday the Episcopalian members of the smart set will be busy entertaining visitors to the Episcopalian Thirteenth Synod of the Province of Washington, opening Tuesday and continuing through Thursday.

There'll be a reception on Tuesday at the E. W. Mudge home. Mrs. Howard N. Eavenson is in charge of the hospitality committee, which will do much to make the visitors' stay in Pittsburgh pleasant.

* * *

Friday afternoon will bring with it one of the largest benefit bridges of the season, that to be held in the afternoon at the Pittsburgh Field Club under the direction of Mrs. J. Kennedy Irwin. The unemployed will benefit from this event.

Benefit Bridge

Then Friday will bring the opening of the all-women painters' exhibit in the Grant Building under the direction of Blossom Lomax, one of the painters in the smart set.

Friday will be a particularly big day, for added to these events, the Art Society will have its opening concert that night in Carnegie Music Hall with Albert Spalding as the artist.

* * *

The Samuel B. Caseys, of Beacon street, have a very young daughter, Constance Therese Casey, who made her debut into this world October 7. Her mother is the former Constance Connelly.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Halter, of Thorn street, Sewickley, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ida Margaret Halter, to Joseph Henry Rattelsdorfer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rattelsdorfer, of Fifth avenue, Coraopolis, which took place October 1 in Wellsburg, W. Va.

Claudia Seeger Has Church Nuptials

At a pretty ceremony Tuesday in the Bethany Lutheran Church, Miss Claudia Mae Seeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cloud E. Seeger, became the bride of Harry W. Stevenson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stevenson, of Nadine, with the Rev. George W. Englar officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of rose-beige crepe and brown velvet, with a brown velvet hat and carried a shower bouquet of talisman roses and bronze snapdragons.

Miss Ruth Renshaw, the bride's only attendant, wore pale blue crepe with a sapphire blue turban and carried Johanna Hill roses and blue delphinium. Ralph McCance was the best man.

After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, Jr., will reside in Pennsylvania avenue, Oakmont.

Engineers' Wives Form Here to Help Hoover

A new local organization is to be known as the Western Pennsylvania Branch of the National Hoover Committee of Engineers' Wives and has Mrs. Allan Davidson as chairman. Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Mrs. Henry Ford and Mrs. Henry Guggenheim are members of the national committee.

Horse Race Cup To Honor Name Of Whitney

NEW YORK.—Since the days of the late William Collins Whitney, Secretary of the Navy in President Cleveland's cabinet, the name of Whitney has been enscrolled in the annals of American turfdom.

It is to honor this name that the United Hunts Racing Association will present a gold cup at their fall meet, November 8, at Belmont Park. The trophy is offered for the mile and a half flat race, a handicap sweepstake.

William Whitney was the first of the clan to show an active interest in American turf events. His sons, Harry Payne Whitney and Payne Whitney, inherited his love for blue blooded horses.

Mrs. Payne Whitney, wdow of the latter son, has one of the finest stables in the world, the Greentree on Long Island. Her son, John Hay Whitney and his wife have fine stables on Long Island and in Virginia.

Cornelius Whitney, son of Harry Payne Whitney, bought out his father's stables in New Jersey, Kentucky and on Long Island.

The Cherry Malotte Open Steeplechase, entered on the card of events at the meet for years, is a memorial to Mrs. Whitney's first little racer.

Reception to Be Held By Tuesday Musical

Plans have been completed for the annual president's day reception of the Tuesday Musical Club, which again honors Mrs. E. W. Flaccus as well as the new members of the board of governors. The reception will take place in Memorial Hall, Tuesday, from 2 to 2:30 o'clock, and is in charge of Mrs. Henrietta Hibbard, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. G. Frank Slocum, chairman of the tea committee. Mrs. Jean McCrory Newman has arranged the program, which will be given by Virginia Brown Wilharm, pianist; Roy Shoemaker, violinist, and Mary Jones Sherrill, who will read "The First Mrs. Fraser."

Dormont Literary Unit To Open Year Tomorrow

The literary department of the Dormont Mothers' Club will begin its season of programs tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Harold G. Ewens, who has again been elected chairman of the department. Mrs. Fred Mai will assist.

Mrs. H. C. Stevens will lead the discussion on current topics; there will be a round table of summer reminiscences and Mrs. C. R. Hinkley will review the book, "The Young Mrs. Meigs."

Current Events Class To Honor Its President

A musical program will feature the president's day of the Wednesday Current Events Class this week in the Longue Vue Country Club. Mrs. J. E. Roth, the new executive head, is the honor guest, of course. Mrs. R. J. Alderdice and Mrs. J. F. W. Eversmann are hostesses and the program will be given by Carolyn Hunt Mahaffey, contralto, and Felix Cellurale, who will give violin solos and conduct a string trio.

Notre Dame Club Dance To Be Held October 29

The Notre Dame Club will hold a dance in the main dining room of the Hotel Schenley October 29, the evening following the Pitt-Notre Dame football game.

Making arrangements for the dance are G. H. Kingsley, D. M. Meinert and Edward J. Nebel.

Voters' Leagues in Two Wards Unite for Meeting

The Seventh Ward League of Women Voters is uniting with the Tenth and Eleventh Ward Leagues for a meeting this afternoon in the Y. W. C. A., Spahr street. Mrs. R. Templeton Smith is the speaker and her subject, "The Political Situation."

The Fourth Ward League also is having a meeting this afternoon in St. Peter's Parish House, with Dr. Benjamin F. Williams, of the University of Pittsburgh, speaking on "The International Situation in 1932."

20 Here Join Pilgrimage For Foster

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

About 20 members of the Stephen C. Foster committee of the Tuesday Musical Club will motor to Indianapolis on Wednesday for a Foster pilgrimage. The party, which will include almost all of the committee members, Mrs. Elmer W. Flaccus, the club president; Mrs. Jessie W. Rose, Stephen C. Foster's granddaughter; the Foster Singers and probably Mrs. Oliver S. Hershman, who is returning today from Europe, will be guests of Josiah K. Lilly.

Mr. Lilly has built a Foster chapel on his Indianapolis estate where he houses mementoes and first editions of Foster songs. In this place, which is called Foster Hall, the Foster Singers, Mrs. Lewis E. Young, Mrs. Esther Edmundson Mohr, Mrs. Eda S. Kreiling, Mrs. Anne Woestehoff, and their accompanist, Mrs. Martha Meyers Murdoch, will give a program to an invited audience Thursday night.

The party will return to Pittsburgh on Friday.

Women's Association Opens Year at Geneva

The Women's Student Government Association of Geneva College opened this year's social program with a "backward" party, Thursday evening at McKee Hall. All women students of the college were guests.

Plans were made for the members to attend "Cyrano De Bergerac," which is coming to the Nixon Theater the early part of November.

The committee in charge of the evening's affair included Miss Helen Witherspoon, chairman, Donora; Miss Maude Frazier, Portland, Ore.; Miss Ruth Piper, Pittsburgh; Miss Margaret Park, Montclair, N. J., and Miss Ruth Widdoson, Kittanning.

Mrs. S. E. Diescher to Be Hostess for Town Club

A reception and bridge luncheon in the home of Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher tomorrow in honor of its president, Mrs. D. Allen McCully, will mark the opening of the Town Club's season. A surprise program will be offered by the chairman of entertainment, Mrs. Wilson Scott, assisted by Miss Isabel Bell, social chairman.

American Avenue P. T. A. To See Pupils in Play

The second meeting of the American Avenue Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the school auditorium tomorrow evening. Under the direction of the Pittsburgh District Dairy Council the pupils of the school will present "A Story Book Frolic." Music will be furnished by Paul Brautigam, baritone, accompanied by Miss Margaret Hertzler.

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

By SALLY MARTIN

If New Relatives Disapprove Of You Avoid Trouble

The boy friend's mamma is putting little Gwen on the spot; hinting she's a tramp; warning him against her.

Shall Gwen stage a riot? Or shall she keep still, saw wood and let things work themselves out?

It's the old, old story of Mamma being friendly until she discovered the hussy had serious designs on her darling boy—

And then putting on an act to smash up their plans!

"You'll have to give her up, or I'll cut you out of my will!" she shrieks at him, every time he mentions Gwennie's name. And Gwennie wants to walk up and ask her how come and what's what.

Would you?

"Dear Sally—

"Will you help me with my problem? It's got me going round in circles and I need a more distant point of view on it.

"I am 26 and my boy friend is 30. We have gone together for a year and a half. When we first started going out together there was nothing serious between us. And his mother seemed to think the world of me. She invited me places, and it seemed she just couldn't do enough for me.

"I never took advantage of this in any way, but I did accept her invitations when I could. If I couldn't, I was always careful to send my 'regrets,' as one should. I never tried to force myself on her, for I didn't want her to tire of me. I always liked her a great deal, and I fear I still do in spite of the funny way she is acting now.

"For, now that she has found out we are 'going steady,' her attitude has changed entirely. She knows we love each other and intend to marry some day. And she's doing everything she can to break us up.

WANTS TO FACE WOMAN

"She has even told her son that he will have to give me up or she will disinherit him, and all such stuff. And now what makes her especially angry is his refusal to break with me.

"He simply told her that he would not give me up under any circumstances, that whether she disinherits him or not, he intends to marry me, and that we can make our own lives by working together. Since we're both used to working, this won't be hard, especially since I'd work my fingers to the bone rather than give him up.

"Now, what I've had in my mind to do is to visit his mother and ask her, point-blank, what she has against me. Should I do that?

"I've always been on the square. I make friends easily, and I'm not a bit hard to get along with. I mind my own business and believe in letting the other fellow mind his. I believe, too, in the old motto, 'Wear a smile, even though your heart is breaking.' But mine is breaking. I can't bear to see him nagged at continually on my account.

IS SELFISH

"He has threatened to leave home, which would, of course, mean getting married right away, but I don't believe in 'rushing things' when conditions are as bad as they are now.

"What is really the trouble, I think, is that none of her children is married, and he is the oldest, so she doesn't want to see him go. She is selfish about sharing him with somebody else.

"What shall I do? Shall I pay her that visit I'm thinking about? Or shall I just let things go on? Will she become reconciled to her son's marriage if I don't go, do you think?

"GWENDOLYN."

Shall you beard the lioness in her den?

No, honey, I wouldn't do that. It would just stir up more trouble, and not mend anything at all. The chances are that she hasn't actually anything against you, except the jealousy you yourself suspect; and nothing you can say can cure that.

Then what'll you do? Go ahead and live your own lives to suit yourselves. Get married, if you're sure of each other and willing to stick things out together.

When she sees you've done that, the chances are she'll cool down and be friends, which she won't do if you start a row with her.

Now what do you think, Stranger?

Is or isn't that your advice to any girl who's being put on the spot by an older woman?

Fay King Criticises Girls Who Make Vain Impressions

By FAY KING

It is difficult to convince a pretty girl in a small town that she should stay there.

She hears so many fascinating fictions of the great world that fill her with ambition and hope.

She hears so little of the unsavory facts that would frighten her.

When girls who have traveled the road of regret return to the home town for a visit they do not tell of the misery and hardships they have endured.

They will beg, borrow, spend their last cent, and go into debt for jewelry, furs and finery to make an impression of prosperity.

The talk is all so glowing every other pretty girl wants to follow their path.

The best acting they ever do is for the home town!

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

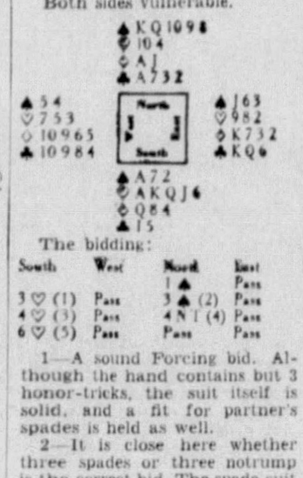
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Successful Slam Bidding

Successful Slam bidding depends more often than not on the confidence which two partners have in each other. In the majority of instances Slams will be missed, due to the failure of one or both of a partnership to trust the other's bidding.

An example of this occurred during the recent Individual Master's Tournament. Most teams failed to reach the Slam contained in the following hand, due to the fact that the players did not sufficiently visualize the reason for partner's Forcing bid. The team which successfully reached the Slam did so because North, Mr. Oswald Jacoby, injected the invitation at the proper time and was duly rewarded by his partner's immediate Slam response.

North—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
		1 ♠	Pass
3 ♡ (1)	Pass	3 ♠ (2)	Pass
4 ♡ (3)	Pass	4 N T (4)	Pass
6 ♡ (5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—A sound Forcing bid. Although the hand contains but 3 honor-tricks, the suit itself is solid, and a fit for partner's spades is held as well.

2—It is close here whether three spades or three notrump is the correct bid. The spade suit is not strictly rebiddable, but North fears that a three notrump bid will be passed, and he see the possibility of a Slam after partner's Force.

3—Having forced once, South can do little more than bid for game. His holding of 100 honors in hearts determines his choice of suits.

4—This is the bid which the majority of players failed to make. They neglected to consider the fact that South was almost certain to hold the spade Ace, from the bidding, and that his heart suit can, at most, contain but one loser. With the two missing Aces, therefore, some sort of Slam invitation is in order.

5—It would not do for South to bid only five hearts at this point, as he must reason that North cannot have very many more bids left. The Rebid of the spades has shown him that that suit is fairly solid, and partner is almost certain to hold the missing Aces.

The hand, of course, is a laydown for six, with the diamond finesse for seven. Mr. Jacoby and his partner were duly rewarded on the hand, as it developed later that no other team had reached the Slam.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

Today's Question:

May Dummy call attention to a revoke by his opponent?

Answer: Yes, unless he intentionally has seen the face of a card held by Declarer or either adversary, thereby forfeiting his rights.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

The Girl's Prerogative

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—When a boy and a girl go to the theater, is it correct for the boy to put his arm around the girl, and if it isn't, how can you tell him to take his arm away without embarrassing him?

2—When a boy and girl go somewhere, is it correct for the girl to suggest it is time to leave, or is she supposed to wait until the boy suggests it? E.

1—When a boy puts his arm around a girl in the theater, he makes both of them conspicuous, cheapens both of them. The girl of taste and breeding naturally is revolted by this, and doesn't allow it. She needn't be brusque . . . even a boy who isn't especially well-bred takes a hint like this very quickly, and usually in perfectly good humor. To be explicit; if she leans forward a bit, and says, with as much graciousness as she can summon, "please," she'll find at once that he will "desist." Or an "I'd rather you wouldn't, Bob," is another way to make this request that she be treated with mannerliness.

And the grand part of it all is that he won't be "embarrassed" . . . he'll be proud that he is with a girl of taste and social discrimination.

2—The girl always has the prerogative of suggesting the time of leaving a place of entertainment.

An Ingenious Idea

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Would it be proper to have a hard-time party for Halloween, if all the decorations are to be for this season, such as corn stalks, pumpkins and orange and black trimmings?

R.

Yes, this would be correct, and I think that you could make such a party most attractive and a great deal of fun. It's an ingenious idea.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Traces of Albumin May Not Be Cause for Alarm

Many of my readers have requested information about "albuminuria"—the name given to that condition in which albumin is found in the urine. While albuminuria is likely to be associated with Bright's Disease, it is not sure proof that the latter disease actually exists.

Dr. Copeland

Normally no albumin is found in the urine. Its presence may be caused by diet, exercise, infection or kidney irritation, but faint traces of albumin need not cause worry.

Many of these cases clear up spontaneously. Others respond quickly to diet and simple medication. Persistent and excessive formation of albumin is more serious and requires careful medical attention.

A form of albuminuria found in individuals whose work requires continuous sitting or standing in one position is referred to by the doctors as "orthostatic albuminuria." It disappears upon change of occupation. Albuminuria is sometimes found in athletes who train continuously.

Albumin in the urine is observed often in persons living on a high protein diet, including an excessive amount of meat, fish and eggs. When the diet is adjusted the trace of albumin disappears.

Albuminuria is often hereditary, certain families showing a tendency toward it, and it is most frequently found in thin, energetic individuals.

If you have been told that you have a trace of albumin, don't become alarmed. Follow the diet and instructions given by your physician. Lead a quiet life, avoiding worry and excitement. Guard against undue exposure to cold and dampness. Take sensible precautions against "catching cold." Infected teeth and diseased tonsils should be removed.

Exercise is permissible but never to the point of fatigue. Do not take very hot or very cold baths. Warm baths are preferable. Drink plenty of water, but avoid coffee, tea and alcoholic beverages. Daily elimination is essential.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Depilatories can be used to remove fuzzers from the legs. Won't do to have them when hosiery is of sheer cobweb substance; they show through.

Correct posture does not mean rigid carriage, but an easy, graceful pose. Chin level, head and chest high, hips swinging backward, tummy held flat. But no ramrod effect. Thus it was in the old days when Delsarte classes were all the go, when the straight front corset became an institution and ladies wore bust ruffles to give them more of a pouter pigeon outline. Look at a photograph of grandma when she was about 27 and you'll see the fashionable silhouette and laugh.

Snatch rest periods for your soul lamps upon every occasion. They're hard working and they like time off now and then. During that 10-minute wait for your appointment with the dentist, close the eye shutters. In public conveyances indulge in eye naps, relief from vision. When eyes smart and burn they are begging for mercy. Bathe with warm water, then with cold, lie down for 15 minutes with eyes covered with a small towel that has been wrung out of cold water. Little enough to do. If the merry evening is on the social calendar, it is specially important to have the lanterns bright, looking fresh and rested.

BROWN AND WHITE IS FAVORED EVENING COLOR COMBINATION

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 17. — Brown and white is one of the new favorite evening color combinations in Paris. Women find it a relief from the familiar all-white, or black-and-white combinations. Brown, as an evening color, is scheduled by Paris stylists to remain a high fashion for some time to come.

* * *

THERE ARE many clever ways of adapting the combination of brown and white. There are brown dresses with white girdle-sashes to match white wraps; there is the reverse—white dresses with brown sashes and matching brown wraps. There are types of white dresses which have white scarfs attached to each shoulder, then wind around the bosom or arm-eyes in making their way to the waistline where they become sashes.

* * *

PROBABLY THE most popular of all are the costumes which are made on the following scheme: All-white dress, with no contrast of color; brown crepe de chine of velvet pumps with sheer brown hose; brown net or brown velvet evening gloves, and a brown wrap. White evening bags are preferred to brown, however.

* * *

AN INTERESTING all-white dress from Mainbocher is shown today, in combination with a brown wrap. The dress is heavy white satin, and follows closely authentic Greek lines in its higher waistline, loose folds for fullness and scarfs which fall from the shoulders.

THE BROWN WRAP, by Patou, is really an elaborate scarf of velvet, edged with golden-brown fox,

Items I Never Met Before

(Read 'em and sleep)

That Walter Edge cannot speak a word of French. His name sounds familiar? It ought to. He's the U. S. Ambassador to France.

That it is much easier to get a divorce in Illinois than in Paris or even in Reno! (What a lotta time you've wasted.)

That New York has 1,300 churches (And needs 'em!)

That local cops are honest, reliable, etc., we all know. But their expense accounts must be sworn to before a notary.

That mosquitoes never bite Doug Fairbanks, Sr.

That Hollywood is overrun by police dogs and others of the canine species brought by doting owners seeking movie contracts. Even cats! There are about 2,000 of them seeking cinema jobs.

That Havana has two Mayors all the time. (N. Y. please copy.)

That you readers who smirk at the seeming simplicity of some of these items will agree you know a straight line when you see one. Sure. But there's no such thing as a straight line, you dope!

That S. Johnson, the dictionary compiler, misspelled woids!

That the Methodist College for Ministers in Hungary cultivates its own vineyards, imbibing plenty of the juices. And they want the wide world to know it—so here it is. (What conceit.)

That Asa Hapgood invented the Pullman upper berth. He ought to be ashamed of himself.

That at Waterloo, Napoleon (not the pastry) chirped: "At last I have the English!"

That Lewistown, Wyo., has a population of two. Surprising? Well, for years Bodie, Cal., had a pop. of one!!!

That ancient Celts believed so strongly in immortality they borrowed coin with the understanding it would be repaid in heaven.

That 142,857 multiplied by 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 contains the same numerals in the sums. (If it fails, the fault is the proofreader's)!

That the postoffices in all the larger burgs in the U. S. have peep-holes through which trusted employes may be (and are) spied upon. (U. S.—under suspicion!)

That should postal officials resent the above item, I'll remind them that I'm also aware that were they required to enter the service via the current, ordinary postal clerk test—most of the officials wouldn't pass! (Look, look! He's looking for a fight, again!)

That monkeys are passionately fond of giggle water.

That tho' airplanes will never make 750 miles an hour (as stated here recently) they will safely go 730 an hour—till they hit a rain. At that speed fine rain cuts the hardest steel to shreds!

That Ripley says Columbus got a few thousand dollars for discovering America. (He ought to give the money back.)

That a Tarascan (Mexico) who is long ill is choked to death by friends, the custom demanding that while they strangle him with one paw, they pat him on the back with the other, saying: "How terrible this is!" (Ridiculous as it sounds, it is true, nevertheless!)

That Tschaikowsky and Rachmaninoff tunes are barred in Russia.

That in "The Tenderfoot," Joe E. Brown pursues a gang of toughs through the streets of New York which are readily recognized as the streets of Los Angeles. (Oh, that Winchell is too fussy!)

That if you love your little bittie ootsie-tootsie (I mean your pet chow, ma'am) shed a tear. They eat 'em in China—ugh!

That on Tikopia Isle (in the Pacific) custom demands that the girl who asks a man to marry her, and is refused, must drown herself.

That Henry III, of England, roamed the streets panhandling change from the citizens! (A bum!!!)

That in Germany a man pushing three baby carriages would be subject to arrest. (Here they'd give him a vaude contract.)

That Chase's "Beginning of the American Revolution" devotes 70 pages to the Boston Massacre, tho' it was the one mix-up that had nothing to do with the Revolution. (Haw. He knows better than historians!)

That the saxophone was invented by a Belgian musician named Sax, and was intended for military bands. It was shaped for easy playing on the march or horseback. "Phone" meaning the range of human voice.

That in Italy cab drivers pay their fines to the arresting cop right on the spot. (Where the racket began?)

That the word "punch" (drink) is derived from the Hindu word "panch," meaning five, the number of original ingredients in that brew.

And that among other legends is that gossip writers peep thru keyholes. (When almost every door these days has a Yale lock!!!)

Bonus Army Tot Given Lead

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17.—Little Dorothy Jean Hamilton, 2½-year-old Los Angeles youngster, is a child born to live dramatically. Only a short while ago she was gassed during the expulsion of the Bonus Army from Washington.

Last week she signed a motion picture contract to play leading roles in a series of children's comedies. The first will be "Kid'n Hollywood," a Jack Hays production for Educational.

Eddie Cantor

True to the rest of her brief but eventful life, Dorothy Jean's introduction to the movies reads like a fiction story.

When she and her little brother, Raymond, recovered from the cruel gas, they came out to California with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hamilton.

One day the mother saw a newspaper advertisement seeking children not over 36 inches tall. She read that they were wanted for film work.

AMONG 150 OTHERS

The next morning, Dorothy Jean was dressed up in her best clothes and taken to the Metropolitan studio, where Jack Hays directs his all-children casts. There were 150 other children there, but Dorothy Jean's mother refused to give up hope. She was used to difficult causes.

And this time, as if trying to make up for the past, fate relented. Someone singled Dorothy Jean out. She came before Hays.

"We'll take that kid," he said.

And only then did he learn that he had signed a child born to drama—that this pretty youngster already had been through an adventure more perilous than falls to many people during their whole life.

BOULEVARD TOPICS:

Many Hollywood stars have financed horses and fighters, but Eddie Cantor has a new idea. He wants to stake a young bullfighter, Eduardo Castro, who worked in the comedian's picture, "The Kid From Spain." The plan is to send the youth to Seville to polish up his technique and later feature him in the bull rings of the world. Cantor will own a financial interest in his career.

Jackie Coogan

Time does fly. Adrienne Ames reports seeing Jackie Coogan dancing with a pretty blonde at the Hotel St. Francis in San Francisco . . . Strong-man Charles Bickford can bend a horse-shoe with his hands. Most people treat them respectfully these days . . . Gary Cooper got a thrill, he tell me, when the plane in which he was returning to Los Angeles, had to circle around in the fog and finally to turn back and land near Victorville . . . Remember Fritzi Ridgeway? She's making a screen comeback in Ruth Chatterton's picture, "Common Ground" . . . Leroy Prinz will stage the new revue at the Frolics. Opens the twentieth . . . Allen Rivkin is minus his appendix and doing well . . . Before leaving here for Europe, Ernst Lubitsch will direct an episode for "If I had a Million."

HECHT TO WRITE ANOTHER

For all that talk, Ben Hecht is going to write another story for the movies. He gave his promise after a long distance conversation with David Selznick, youthful production head of R-K-O studio.

The picture will be "Topaze," and will star Lionel Barrymore.

In one thing, Hecht did not relent. He will prepare the treatment in New York instead of Hollywood. As soon as the deal was arranged, Director Harry D'Arrast hopped a plane for the East. He and Hecht will get together with Selznick when the producer goes to New York on the twenty-second.

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Ella Ethridge of the Edwin Vail Players will have the featured role, a comedy part, in "The Vinegar Tree," a play so extremely light that it is almost farce, to be presented by the resident company in the Pitt next week. Miss Ethridge will do the character portrayed in New York and on the road by Mary Boland, that of an erratic woman whose romantic yearnings at middle age involve her whole family. Shirley Booth will play her flapper daughter. This week's attraction in the Pitt, opening tonight, will be "The Animal Kingdom."

All of the dramatic critics didn't attend Monday night's performance of "The Pure In Heart," Theater Guild play that appeared in the Nixon last week. The most illuminating criticism was saved for Friday night, and did not come fort in print but as a snore. When the house darkened at the beginning of the third act, a patron settled into a nap from which he awakened with a distinct jerk, to the accompaniment of a snore just as June Walker and her gangster boy friend, Paul Kelly were indulging in some sentimental twiddle-twaddle about romantic islands and pink-winged angels.

* * *

Seats are now on sale in the Nixon box office for the appearance next week of Ed Wynn in "The Laugh Parade," which will be presented in that house at five night and three matinee performances. The Tuesday night show will be skipped while the star gives his regular weekly radio broadcast. It will take place on the stage of the Nixon, to which the public will be admitted, as a benefit for the Welfare Fund. The extra matinee will be given Friday afternoon. Featured players with Wynn in "Laugh Parade" include Elsa Ersi, French artiste, Earl Oxford and Jack Powell, popular comic of the vaudeville stage.

* * *

John H. Harris, who recently resigned as manager of Warner Brothers theaters in the Pittsburgh zone, has been succeeded by Harry Kalmine, formerly of the New Jersey zone.

World Wide Borrows Shirley Grey

Shirley Grey, discovered by Sam Goldwyn, who signed her to a five-year contract, has been borrowed for the leading feminine role in World Wide's forthcoming production, "Uptown New York." Miss Grey will play opposite Jack Oakie in this drama revolving around a typical young married couple living in "Uptown New York." The screen play is based on the story "Uptown Woman," by Vina Delmar. Others signed for important roles include Henry Armetta, the gesticulating Italian, George Cooper and Leon Waycoff.

Director

Milton Silver has assumed his duties as advertising director for Warner Brothers in the Pittsburgh zone. He came here from New York.

BITS OF LIFE — All in a Day — By MARK HELLINGER

Such Popularity—

YEARS AGO he was one of America's most popular singers. He wasn't a crooner. He didn't have asthma. And he never sang through his nose. Yet, when he bellowed "I Hear You Calling Me," sweet young things from Tuscaloosa to Tuscaloosa would fall into the aisles in a dead faint. Yessir. This guy had something.

But that was 10 years ago. Today, Frank Martin is looking for work. Any kind of work. Daily he visits the agencies. And daily he gets the same old answer.

"Sorry, Frank. You had a sweet break last year and you muffed it. Too bad. Of course, if we hear of anything—"

A year ago Frank was just about broke. He had just returned from a long vacation in Europe. When he left America, he was a big name, a great singer. When he returned, people murmured: "Where have I heard that name before?"

Oh, yes, people forget. Very, very quickly . . .

One day, shortly after his return, Frank Martin ran into a couple of old friends. He explained the situation to them. He had just returned from Europe, and he needed a little cash. The tours he used to make from coast to coast were dead. Everybody was talking radio. What should he do?

Well, one thing that friends are notorious for is advice. They give that until it hurts—the person who needs it, I mean.

At any rate, he was told to look up a good booking agent and get himself an audition for radio. So Frank did.

He walked into a Broadway office, and sat around with a flock of youngsters who were there for the same purpose. The girl at the switchboard chewed gum and told him to wait.

After awhile he was admitted to the inner sanctum.

"I'm Frank Martin," he told the agent. "I want you to help me get on a radio commercial program. Think you can do it?"

The agent knew him at once.

"I've heard you sing plenty of times, years ago," he said. "How is your voice? Good as ever? That's fine. Where are you staying? Let me have your phone number. I'll call you. I'll see what I can do."

A few minutes later, Frank Martin was on his way out. He was smiling again. He had heard that radio artists pull down thousands per week for singing. Why not Frank Martin?

A week later, he got the phone call. The agent asked him to meet him at a certain restaurant. A big advertising man would be there. They would talk business.

With a happy heart, Frank dressed his best and appeared at the specified time. He met the agent and the advertising man. The latter seemed just a little drunk.

The agent explained that a new program would soon go on the air. It would be broadcast from coast to coast. The advertising man had charge of all arrangements.

Frank offered to sing for the man as soon as they left the restaurant. But the advertiser said no.

"You lissen to him," he said to the agent. "Thass your bizniss. If you say he's good, 'sokay with me. You know that, don'tcha? 'Sokay with me. Anything you say, boy. 'Sokay with me."

Frank wanted to discuss terms. The agent told him later that the advertiser would give him a two-week trial on a small Jersey radio station. If he met with success there, he would be hired on contract at $1,000 a week.

Frank's head spun dizzily. One thousand smackers a week! Gee, it would be like old times. He could again hold his head up.

"But wait a minute," said Frank. "You said that I get the contract provided that I'm a success on this Jersey station. It's a sort of tryout, eh? Well, how will they be able to tell whether or not I go over? How do they figure success on radio?"

"Easy," replied the agent. "Mail. Fan mail. People who like to listen to you will write in to the station. If you get the mail, you get the contract. Get it?"

Frank understood. Very, very well . . .

And so, with trepidation in his heart and a throat spray in his pocket, Frank Martin went to that small Jersey station. The studio officials were most courteous. They took him into a big room hung heavy with drapes, and pointed out a small black pancake on a music stand.

"That," they whispered, "is the microphone." They showed him how he should stand, and gave his accompanist proper instructions. A few minutes later, Frank Martin's golden voice was pouring out of loud speakers in thousands of homes. Some took the time to dial him in better. Others took the time to dial him out in favor of tips on cooking. It's a toss-up which was the wiser course . . .

On the very next morning the letters started to drift in. Just a few at first. A mere handful. But on the following day there were more. And then the pile increased. As the two weeks drew to a close, the mail was stacked high in the studio and Frank had broken all records at the station.

Frank left the studio as though he were walking on air. He was unquestionably a great success. In his mind, he had already spent his first two weeks' salary.

On the third day he received a call from the advertising specialist. He went to the man's office with a definite thought in mind. He was going to hold out for $1,500 instead of the $1,000 that had been agreed upon. And why not?

This time the advertising man was strictly sober. He sat in his private office. There were letters on his desk. Stacks of letters. He turned to the singer.

"Mr. Martin," he said, "I will be brief and to the point. When we met the first time I was hardly sober. That's why I mentioned the $1,000 salary and the Jersey try-out. As you undoubtedly know, we do not run our radio business in that fashion.

"I tell you frankly that I had very little faith in the idea when I sobered up. But after your first broadcast I was amazed. The letters began to pour in. As the broadcasts continued the results were even more amazing. There seemed to be no limit to your fan mail."

The singer's chest was moving outward by degrees. Why, this was even better than anything he had hoped for. He would ask for $2,000 now instead of $1,500!

"Yes, sir," the speaker was saying, "the mail was so terrific that I grew a trifle suspicious. I ordered some of the letters sent to me. This is the second one I read. Would you mind reading it—and getting out of my office as soon as you are through?"

Martin gulped. He took the letter with trembling hands.

"Dear Frank:" it read. "We got your letter and will be glad to help you. As you requ[e]st we will each tell twenty o[f] our friends to write to the [s]tation, telling how much t[hey] enjoyed your singing. I've wr[itten] ten eight letters myself already, although I haven't had time to hear your program." . . .

What's Doing In Talkies

Laurel and Hardy have completed their first Hal Roach comedy since returning from Europe. It is entitled "Their First Mistake." The supporting cast includes Mae Busch, Billy Gilbert and May Wallace.

Four Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer players who have October birthdays are: Buster Keaton, Helen Hayes, Louise Closser Hale and Lawrence Grant.

Charley Chase has put the finishing touches to his fifth Hal Roach comedy, "Fallen Arches," under the direction of Gus Meins. Muriel Evans, Billy Gilbert and Eddie Dunn are in the supporting cast.

Charlotte Susa, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's newly signed foreign actress, doesn't go in for crystal gazing when she looks at her wrist watch for the face of her timepiece has a platinum covering with the hour and minute hands revealed through small apertures.

Though there are no school bells for Mary Carlisle, ingenue player, she follows a school girl's study routine—her subjects including French, dancing, singing and elocution.

New Story Selected For Dietrich

"Hurricane," an emotional drama with a West Indian background, has been selected as Marlene Dietrich's next picture by Paramount. The story is being written by Jules Furthman during his present trip to Haiti with Josef von Sternberg, who is to direct the picture. It was for the purpose of filming a hurricane for the picture that von Sternberg went to the West Indies with Furthman and two cameramen last week. Production is scheduled to start on "Hurricane" immediately after the return of von Sternberg and Furthman from Haiti sometime in November.

Dramatic

Preston Foster is featured in "The Last Mile," film version of the sensational stage drama that will come to the Fulton Thursday.

Judicial Vacancy Fans Conniving, Dickering.

By MARK SHIELDS

Mr. Shields

The resignation from the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County of Judge Joseph M. Swearingen because of ill health has fanned to a high flame the conniving and dickering energy of professional politicians, regular and independent. They were at the game even before the judge resigned, and were arranging various deals which fitted into their own plans.

However, they appear to have proceeded without taking into consultation Gov. Pinchot, who must fill the vacancy, or the remaining Common Pleas Court judges, who would have the responsibility of selecting a District Attorney should Andrew T. Park go on the bench.

The last word from Harrisburg was that the Governor had not heard directly from any of the gentlemen stirring the political pot, and had not been greatly impressed by what he had read.

In all of the local political discussions District Attorney Park is affected. From that point on, putting Park on the bench, the scene shifts. Senator James J. Coyne would like to have Assistant District Attorney Roy Clunk succeed his present boss. County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern first brought out Attorney Ralph Smith, Pinchot campaign manager in the last primary, as a successor to Park, but when that idea failed to click with other politicians and with some judges—according to report—he advanced as an alternative Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay. In this strategy he was joined by Commissioner C. M. Barr.

Lindsay, however, wishes to be appointed to the bench, and is understood to have let it be known that with him it was that or nothing.

There were reports some time ago that McGovern, regarded as the Pinchot leader here—though he hasn't been getting much from the Governor lately—favored Lindsay for the Swearingen place.

Dickerings Precede Swearingen Resignation

It should be understood that all of these dickerings preceded the Swearingen resignation, the aged jurist being persuaded to retain his office while the bootless trading went on. Actually, Judge Swearingen wished to resign some time ago and the position in which he was placed, unable to perform his duties, but closing the door to a younger and more vigorous man, was distasteful to him. The situation finally reached a point that without consulting any one he sent his resignation to Harrisburg.

One report was that Judges Macfarlane and Rowand, who must seek re-election next year, if they wish to remain on the bench, did not desire to have Swearingen resign until they knew who their new associate was to be, and how far he might get with them in a campaign. Some fear was reported that an unsuitable colleague might let down the bars to shoals of lawyers seeking the bench if the organization could not underwrite the "sitting judge" ticket, and there might be a repetition of the last county primary when Judge Joseph Stadtfeld was defeated.

Despite theories, it is well known that political considerations surround appointments to the bench—not unusually elections also—and the situation must be considered in that light. It sums up to a question of whether Mr. Pinchot might not find among those who have been independents in the past some available attorney of integrity, and appoint him, rather than select Mr. Park, who was with the governor only for a short moratorium during the 1930 campaign, and then only because the Republican organization of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county followed that surprising course.

No longer ago than last week it was stated in Harrisburg that the Governor would certainly give first and serious consideration to Mr. Lindsay, whose cause has been supported by Judge James H. Gray, and who intends to support it again, and more vigorously, now that Judge Swearingen has resigned.

Prosecutor's Office Post of Authority

What gain do the Governor or the professional independents make if the District Attorney's office should remain in organization hands, as it almost certainly would should Park be promoted? What good reason is there for the Governor to name Park if he can find another capable man, not for a moment aspersing the potential ability of Mr. Park as a judge?

It simply doesn't make political sense, unless all precedents fail, and hatreds show up as mere shadow boxing in the past to befuddle voters. It is inconceivable that Mr. Pinchot, in view of the existing bitterness between himself and Coyne, should open one job to a friend of the Senator, much less two, as probably would be the case should the district attorney become a judge.

Undoubtedly McGovern would have lent his aid to the Park appointment in harmony with Coyne could he have gotten the district attorneyship for Ralph Smith. But the latter is one happening for which Coyne would never stand, the fiery young lawyer having tucked into Coyne with bare oratorical knuckles during the last primary, making the senator's campaign for re-election a chief target.

After all, it is the district attorney's office which is the real position of authority. That official names the county detective force, and that way lies power. Senator Coyne is not sufficiently politi-

CROWN JEWELS OF OLD RUSSIA ON DISPLAY

Diamond Easter Egg, Gift of Czar to Wife, Shown

By PENELOPE REDD

The second exhibition of Russian imperial treasures collected by Dr. Armand Hammer and Victor Hammer, is now on view at Kaufmann's galleries and will continue through the next two weeks. This year, in addition to palace appointments, rare objects from the collection of crown jewels in the Alexander Palace are included.

Of greatest association interest is the diamond and lapis lazuli Easter egg. Inside this egg is a double-headed Russian imperial eagle set with 2,000 diamonds. On the breast of the eagle under the crown is a miniature of the pathetic Czarevitch Alexis. The late Czar Nicholai II made this gift to his wife, Czarine Alexandra, on Easter morning in 1912. Faberge, the court jeweler, spent three years in its preparation.

Miss Redd

Another gift designed by Faberge, which was also presented by the last Czar to his wife, on her birthday in 1907, is a column of gold decorated with triumphant laurel. The column is used to suspend a miniature of Nicholai II.

A rare item which associates the religious fervor of the Russian imperial tradition with a sad memento of a tragic royal incompetent, is a Golovnaya icon, said to be the oldest type of Russian religious painting. The subject is the sudarium with the head of the Christ under a halo of gold filigree.

The inscription memorializes a gift from Catherine the Great to her son Paul on the day of his bethrothal. Since it comes from the Pavlovsk Palace which Catherine gave to Paul in 1777, the inscription may refer to his second marriage with Sophia, of Wurttemberg, about the time the United States issued the Declaration of Independence. Paul's brief misrule at the eighteenth century's end was terminated by his assassination.

ANCIENT ICONS

The oldest objects exhibited are, of course, the icons, which belonged to a collection formed by the last Czar. Some of the icons date back to the century of Columbus' discovery of America. They were properly cherished as religious paintings to be venerated.

The profane objects, essential to the splendor of palaces, date from the reign of Elizabeth, (1709-1762), daughter of Peter the Great. She took time off from maintaining control of her tempestuous land to found a royal porcelain factory. From her reign onward, rich objects in porcelain silver, crystal and fabrics, were accumulated in fabulous quantities.

Family gifts on holiday occasions, mementoes from noblemen, and utilitarian furnishments elevated to a splendor such as only Orientals might imagine, comprise this exhibition. In other lands, comparable regal possessions are guarded carefully in official collections.

WILD CARGO

Another Thrilling Story of the Jungle by The Author of "Bring 'Em Back Alive"

By FRANK BUCK
With EDWARD ANTHONY

Spitfire's Career Is Ended By Sharks After His Escape From Boat

In Saturday's installment the writer described the capture of Spitfire II, fierce black leopard, in the dark Malay jungles. Today he brings Spitfire's life-story to a close in one of the most stirring tales of combat ever told.

CHAPTER IV.

The cages were borne on the backs of coolies with carrying poles to the nearest village. From there we got our live freight by motor truck to Port Swettenham, the nearest shipping point.

As soon as the dock coolies learned there were black leopards inside the cages, they refused to handle them. I afterwards learned that a serious accident of recent occurrence involving one of these feared animals was the reason for their attitude.

Ali and I, assisted by some boys we had brought down from the cave country, lifted the cages off the truck. Unaided by the dock personnel, we also arranged the ropes by means of which the ship's gear swung our strange cargo on board the boat that was to take us to Singapore. Chinese sailors—(the entire crew was comprised of "Straits-born" Chinese, the only white man on board being the English captain)—soon placed my three boxes of black fury on the No. 4 hatch, aft of the bridges.

CAGE LASHINGS ARE REINFORCED

The ship got under way as I started inspecting the cages to see how much relashing was necessary as a result of the strain to which they had been subjected by the winches. Spitfire II was comparatively quiet for the time being, but his eyes were flaming, fixed on the foliage of some distant trees which probably reminded him of the freedom of his far-away jungle home.

From the hatchway I could see the ship's butcher sitting in front of the door leading to the galley. He was sharpening a long knife on a stone. This is always a reminder that one is aboard a Chinese boat. Pork is the principal foodstuff used, and, as the Chinese prefer theirs fresh-killed, live pigs are carried and there is much pig-sticking on a trip of this kind.

The butcher, a scrawny little Chinaman almost as brown as a Malay, would probably spend half his time on the trip sharpening knives and the other half running them into unsuspecting pigs. Spitfire growled maliciously at the butcher.

With Ali's assistance I reinforced all the lashings while the boat got under way. The motion of the ship annoyed the three black devils, who alternately snarled and roared as they lunged furiously at the stout wooden bars.

After lunch I took a look at Spitfire, who was crouched in a corner of his cage, his angry eyes intent on the passing panorama of jungle and forest. He seemed safe enough for the time being, so I decided to rest from my labors in a hammock on the cabin deck while we steamed steadily up the channel, perhaps the most picturesque waterway in the world, connecting Port Swettenham and the shark-infested straits of Malacca.

SQUEALING OF PIG ATTRACTS LEOPARDS

As I stretched out I could hear on shore the musical call of the argus pheasants, mingled with the weird howl of the gibbon apes in the heavy jungle and mangrove brush. In the water below, 14-foot crocodiles splashed and cavorted.

Overhead a marvelous assortment of birds filled the sky with color; gorgeous green barbets, huge hornbills with their great saffron beaks, hanging parrakeets with their scarlet throats and cobalt blue crowns (they hang head down when in repose), squawking black minas with wattles of bright yellow, fast-flying, long-tailed parrakeets and several varieties of fruit pigeons, including the most beautiful of all, the jambos, with bright scarlet heads and brilliant green bodies.

Fringing both shores were the waders—egretes, cranes and bitterns—familiar birds in many tropical waterways, but nowhere so plentiful as here. The earth holds few scenes comparable to this picture that greeted my eyes as we slipped out of Swettenham Channel into the open sea.

I found myself really relaxing for the first time in many days and thinking how good it was not to have anything to do until we reached Singapore the next afternoon. My first task on arriving would be to rout out Hin Mong, the Chinese carpenter who had served me for years, and have him build the strongest of teakwood cages to house Spitfire II on his long journey to America. Crude native cages are good enough for a short trip, but one should never take a chance on them for a crossing of the Pacific.

As I lay there in my hammock thinking things over and idly watching the rainbow-hued birds overhead, I heard the tumult of pig-sticking from the aft deck. The butcher was preparing a meal for his compatriots, and his victim was protesting vigorously. The pig's

DRIVER JAILED; TWO WOMEN, CHILD HURT

Victims in Two Other Traffic Accidents Die of Injuries

Returning from a false alarm of fire, a truck of Engine Company No. 31, collided with an automobile at Lilac and Windsor streets last night, causing injury to three motorists and two firemen.

The automobile was hurled against a pole by the impact.

Those injured were Mildred W. Wandless, 40, of 926 Greenfield avenue, who is in Mercy Hospital in a critical condition; Mrs. Louise Kerns, 64, and Mary Jane Clydesdale, 7, both of 926 Greenfield avenue. Firemen on the truck were Capt. Martin Devine and Hoseman Julius Unvary; Albert Kerns, 33, of 303 Musgrave street, driver of the automobile, escaped injury, but was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

AGED WOMAN KILLED

Deputy coroners today investigated the death of Mary Foster, 78, of 2751 Cobden street, who died in her home yesterday following her discharge from Allegheny General Hospital, police reported.

She was struck by an automobile at Federal and Lacock streets, police said, when she was crossing the street. Taken to Allegheny General Hospital, they said, they took her to her home when hospital authorities said she was not injured, according to the coroner's report.

Her death was due, a coroner's report said, to a fractured skull. The alleged driver, C. W. Ajortz, of 2311 Perrysville avenue, was arrested for questioning today.

HIT-RUNNER SOUGHT

Search is being made for a driver who failed to stop after hitting William Demteill, 70, of 5816 Kentucky avenue, at Center and Negley avenues, causing Demteill's death early yesterday in Homeopathic Hospital of a fractured skull.

Four persons were injured when their automobiles crashed at Thomas boulevard and Braddock avenue yesterday. Mrs. Mary McClain, 48, of Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Mrs. Mary Stark, of 1032 Montier street, were injured when their automobile, driven by John McGreevy, of 713 South avenue, crashed with another car, driven by Wayne Stoner, 24, of 7320 Mt. Vernon street, according to police.

Stoner's sister, Catherine, was also injured, and was removed with others to the Pittsburgh Hospital. Both drivers were held by police for reckless driving.

ASKS DOCTORS FOR CHINA

There's a need for women and men physicians and nurses in China, Dr. Josephine C. Lawney, former Pittsburgh physician now dean of the Women's Christian Medical College in Shanghai said here today.

And she added:

"Even though most of the Chinese do not welcome scientific medicine; still go to the temple to have the devils cast out; go to quacks who jab hot needles into the afflicted area, and use medicines made of ground tigers' teeth to get strong."

At present, she explained, there are seven class A hospitals in China. The institution which she directs is the Margaret Williamson Hospital in Shanghai, known as the "hospital of 1,000 babies," although over 3,000 general cases are treated annually there.

Here to raise $100,000 for new building and an emergency fund, she visited Pittsburgh for the first time in six years.

M. E.'S TO HEAR STIMSON

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will deliver the principal address at the closing session of a two-day regional conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church opening here October 25.

Church leaders will attend from Western New York, Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and portions of Maryland and Virginia.

The Rev. Dr. Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, will speak on "The Church and Foreign Missions." Other prominent speakers will include President G. Bromley Oxnam, of DePauw University, and Dr. Irving Fisher, political economist of Yale University.

Dr. Earl E. Harper, president of Evansville College, will arrange a musical program.

NUMBERS CZAR AMBUSHED

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Fired upon from ambush as he was entering his machine, John B. (Hot Stuff) Johnson, one of Cleveland's reputed "big four" policy game operators, was shot and seriously wounded in front of his home here today.

Assailants of the Negro underworld figure, who was taken to Huron Road Hospital with six bullet wounds in the right shoulder, were two men who fired from an automobile that had been parked 75 feet from Johnson's machine.

Police said Johnson's attackers, who sped away rapidly after the shooting, apparently were members of a gang attempting to "muscle in" on the policy racket. Johnson's wife, said by police to have been engaged in the operation of a policy game, was murdered a year ago.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 17.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph.

Here is one for Ripley. Peru and Colombia are going to war over a boundary, the usual reason down here, but get this. The land in dispute is so isolated that neither nation can get to it, so they are arranging to have the armies meet at some convenient place and fight over a piece of ground that the winner can't get to after they have won. Chile has had five presidents this fall. One inaugural parade started out with one president and wound up at the White House with another, so they inaugurate two presidents for the price of one. The man that's in now is afraid to send out his laundry. When you read this at breakfast in the morning I will be flying the Andes, a long ambition realized.

NINE SEIZED IN 'FREE-FOR-ALL' KNIFE BATTLE ON 'HILL'

POLICE QUELL RIOTING MOB WITH CLUBS

Nine men, seven of them Negroes, arrested last night in a free-for-all fight at Bedford avenue and Logan street, were to be arraigned today in Center Avenue Police Station.

The clash, that emptied the stands of a nearby football game and brought nearly 2,000 to the scene, culminated the argument over a minor automobile accident, police said.

A crowd of Negroes, police reported, stormed the doorway at 1420 Bedford avenue, where, they said, Abe Owen had taken refuge after he had banged the fender of an automobile driven by Robert West, a Negro, of Havre stret.

The fight that followed was quelled by police who used their clubs to parry knife hrusts of the mob.

Those under arrest are Owen and West and Charles Gagliardino, 21, of 66 Elm street; Chet Powell, Negro, 36, of Whitney terrace; Charles Martin, Negro, 50, of 617 Junilla street; Sam McCloskey, 39, Negro, of 21 Crawford street; Edward and May Stanton, Negroes, of 2827 Orbin street, and Lamont Stanton, 18, Negro, of 2904 Wylie avenue.

KAHN SETTLES SINGER'S SUIT

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Happy over the out-of-court settlement of her suit against Otto Kahn for $250,000, Rosalinda Morini, coloratura soprano of the Chicago Opera Company, today set herself to the task of completing the writing of her story for music students. She opens her season here Wednesday night in the title role of "La Traviata."

Mis. Morini's suit against Kahn was brought to recover damages for his alleged repudiation of a published statement praising her voice. The singer was informed that the settlement will involve payment of "a substantial sum," together with a settlement by Kahn, clearing up the "misunderstanding as to the exact words" he used.

Miss Morini said she was more pleased over the vindicating statement than over the money settlement.

CRASH KILLS 2 GRID PLAYERS

JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Two youths were killed last night and six injured when a truck overturned six miles east of Johnstown. All were members of the St. Francis Midgets football team of Johnstown, returning from South Fork after a game.

Those killed were William Harbay, 16, and Louis Vlasaty, 19. One of the injured, Arthur Lordit, 15, was brought to a hospital here. The others were less seriously hurt.

PRIEST LEAVES FOR AFRICA

The Rev. Vincent De Paul Deer bid goodbye to his family and friends at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station this morning, as he departed for Kilimanjaro, British East Africa, where he will stay for six years doing missionary work.

Father Deer will go first to the senior seminary of the Holy Ghost Fathers, Norwalk, Conn., where he was ordained a year ago. There a departure ceremony will be given for him.

The missionary priest lives at 4118 Gittens street, North Side. He attended St. Anne's Parochial School, Annunciation School and was graduated from Duquesne High School in 1924. He then attended the Junior Seminary at Cornwell Heights and was graduated last year from Ferndale, at Norwalk, Conn.

McKeesport Raids Net 12 Prisoners

Raids staged late Saturday night by county detectives, assisted by McKeesport police, netted 12 prisoners, all Negroes. Lula Charles was held under $1,000 bail as proprietress of a disorderly house at 1007 Brick alley, McKeesport. Seven visitors were arrested. Adeline Jenkins was arrested as proprietress at 907 Brick alley, where three visitors were taken. Police reported seizing liquor at both places.

DIAMONDS GAIN IN VALUE

Increased demand for diamonds, according to Leonard D. Helfer, president, Pittsburgh Jewelers Club, has resulted in local dealers being notified of a price increase from 25 to 50 per cent.

Local jewelers reported a gradual increase in diamond sales since mid-summer, Helfer said. Citing August as usually being a dull month, the Brussels market reported a firm demand. A brisk Christmas season is expected in all large centers according to predictions reaching Helfer. Explaining the reason for the market gain, Mr. Helfer said:

"The demand for diamonds for investment was manifest in many places. Investors felt they would insure themselves against depreciation of currency by buying merchandise. As for the local market, the majority of diamonds purchased in the past 60 days by the individual consumer have been for investment purposes."

APPEAL BE GUN BY Y.M.-W.H.A.

The Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association today launched its initial drive in a $60,000 emergency campaign for funds to carry on work of the association.

Several hundred campaign workers, gathered last night at the association building in Bellefield avenue, heard "Y" leaders declare the organization in desperate financial condition and stress the fact that, as the facilities are being used more than ever because of unemployment, the building must be kept open. Unless the campaign is successful, the workers were told, the organization will be forced to close its doors.

Previous to the meeting, appeals in behalf of the drive were made in radio talks by Edgar J. Kaufmann, general chairman, and Maurice Falk, honorary chairman.

Among those who addressed the meeting were Rabbi Herman Hailperin, Irvin F. Lehman, Alfred W. Oppenheimer, D. Philip Goldstein, Harry Applestein, W. B. Klee, Leon Falk, Jr., Sally Mazer and Hyman Rogal.

DEATH MASKS POPULAR HERE

Life and death masks are still just as popular in Pittsburgh as ever, it was said today at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Joseph B. Ellis, professor of sculpture declared he has made two death masks this year, the usual number. He said:

"The market and demand for death masks is just as great in Pittsburgh as ever. Students in sculpture have to be taught how to make the masks the same as before."

His assistant, Louis Squitieri, vouched for the sale of masks, explaining:

"I have been called upon twice this year to make life masks of persons here in the city. They are still popular."

DAUGHTER SHOT, WOMAN HELD

Alleged to have shot her daughter through the head as the victim sat before a fire in her home, Mrs. Anna Jacobs, 50, of 200 Keehl street, Aliquippa, was held for court at a hearing before Justice of the Peace M. J. Kane, of Aliquippa.

Police said Mrs. Jacobs told them the shooting was an aftermath of a dispute with the daughter, Mrs. Emma Breich, 26, of Aliquippa, over money matters.

Mrs. Breich was brought to Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, where her condition was not regarded critical.

TRY WOMAN IN 3 POISON DEATHS

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Mrs. Daisy Louise de Melker, a trim, handsome little woman of 44, went on trial today charged with having poisoned two husbands and her 20-year-old son.

Early in the morning a long line waited at the courthouse hoping to hear the testimony in one of the most sensational cases South Africa has known in years.

The opening session was taken up by C. C. Jarvis, the prosecutor, who outlined the crown's case, charging that Mrs. de Melker poisoned her first husband, William Alfred Rowle, in 1923; her second husband, Robert Sproat, in 1927, and her son, Cecil Rhodes Rowle, last March. The two husbands, it is charged, died after having made wills in her favor, and the son after having assigned to his mother an insurance policy of £100.

Mrs. de Melker is now the wife of a famous South African Rugy player.

SKULL-BUTTING CONTEST FATAL

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Arrested on a manslaughter charge for breaking the neck of Alex Chillis, 45, Negro, in a skull-butting contest, Donnie Nall, 29, also a Negro, declared it was "all in fun," police say.

Nall was arrested three hours after Chillis died of his injuries and was held for a hearing Friday. The contest was held in Elm Grove, a suburb.

Police described skull-butting as a sport in which the contestants rush at each other, heads lowered in goat fashion, each attempting to butt the other into unconsciousness.

They quoted Nall as saying Chillis had boasted of his prowess at the "sport."

STUDENT SLAYS ROOMMATE

HANCOCK, Md., Oct. 17.—(Universal.)—The Damon and Pythias friendship of two college boys, sons of prominent physicians here, came to a tragic end yesterday when Homer E. Tabler shot and killed Otis Tobias.

The youths, each 22, roommates at the University of Maryland and teammates on the soccer team, fought behind the Tabler home at dawn after returning from a party at the home of a mutual friend.

Grief stricken and mystified as to a motive, Dr. I. H. Tobias, father of young Tobias, requested State's Attorney J. Lloyd Harshman not to prosecute Tabler and requested he be released immediately. Harshman decided to investigate further.

Tabler, the son of Dr. H. E. Tabler, told police he had no idea why Tobias attacked him. It was revealed Tabler fired his revolver when Tobias, with gun in hand, said he was going to kill him.

SOUTH SIDE SUSPECTS HELD IN ROBBER GANG INQUIRY

3 OF ANOTHER ALLEGED BAND FACE QUIZ

Members of an alleged hold-up gang, captured by South Side police and said to have figured in a score of Pittsburgh vicinity holdups, were held for investigation when arraigned in South Side Police Court today.

An alleged bandit trio, charged with the theft of an automobile, and suspected of other holdups, police reported, were also held for further investigation yesterday by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, of Morals Court.

Those arrested on the South Side, suspected of holding up 40 customers in Harry Heck's store, 1614 Lowrie street, Saturday, said they were Eugene Salutte, 20, of Welsh way, caught after a chase near the holdup scene; Frank Staggert, 21, of South Eighteenth street; George Flacsnik, of South Eleventh street; Charles Lengel, of 915 Pine way; John and Mike Homer, of Newton street; Michael Kranick, of 304 Forward avenue; Dominic Calabreese, of 302 Forward avenue; John Hapshuck, of 327 Four Mile Run road, and Leo Agustyniak, of 505 Arlington avenue, police said.

They are reported to have confessed to a dozen holdups.

Those held by Magistrate Jones were James Cotton, 21, of 1313 Juniata street; Charles Martin, 18, of 2302 Charles street, and John Dehart, 23, of Philadelphia. They are suspected of two gasoline station holdups, one in Columbus avenue and the other in East street.

TAMMANY SET TO CUT BUDGET

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Tammany, reacting to the charge that it has forced New York City to the brink of a grave financial crisis, today called for a total reduction of $67,000,000 to $100,000,000 in the 1933 budget.

This action came after a powerful group of Wall street bankers had warned they would not extend credit to the city unless a drastic retrenchment program is put into effect.

Comptroller Charles W. Berry presented a sweeping program to save the city's credit after Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City Bank, had called upon the Board of Estimate publicly to disregard politics and effect "greater cuts" in the budget so that public confidence would be restored.

Farm Army Shouts For 'Soviet Canada'

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—An "army" of several hundred industrial workers and farmers, some shouting for "a soviet Canada," were encamped here today prepared for a march on the government offices to ask relief from economic stress.

They have been marching into Winnipeg since the middle of last week. Their demands will be made upon Premier John Bracken.

Field Kin Seeks British Citizenship

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Arthur Field Tree, son of the late Countess Beatty by her first marriage, and grandson of Marshall Field, her father, today applied for naturalization as a British citizen. His mother's will bequeathed $1,000,000 each to this son, two sons by her second marriage and to Admiral Lord Beatty, her second husband.

CAPTIVE 6 DAYS ACCUSES TRIO

HULL, Mass., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Six days of torture were described today by Herman F. Rutstein, 32, Boston theatrical supply dealer, as he prepared to accuse three prisoners charged with kidnaping him for $50,000.

A swift police raid on a summer cottage here yesterday, after an anonymous call, released Rutstein and bagged the trio. Five others in an alleged kidnaping ring were sought.

Kidnaped from his garage in Boston last Tuesday, Rutstein was bound and blindfolded almost continuously for six days. He was roped to a bed and gagged with ticker tape.

The three men seized said they were Joseph Gould, 34, and Walter M. Addison, 28, of Boston, and William Harmon, 29, of Brooklyn.

OBSCURE POEM BY POE FOUND

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Discovery of a little-known poem by Edgar Allen Poe was announced today by Richard Gimbel, a member of the family of department store owners and an admirer of Poe's works.

The poem, called "The Lady Hubbard," was found in the December, 1849, issue of Godey's Lady's book, Gimbel said, and apparently never had been recopied in any of the numerous collections of the famous American's works.

A nine-stanza composition, the poem gives a new explanation for Old Dog Tray's failure to get a bone from the cupboard of the old lady in the Mother Goose rhymes. In explanation of the poem's long period of obscurity, Gimbel said it might have been considered unworthy of Poe's genius by his early collectors.

WILD CARGO

Another Thrilling Story of the Jungle by The Author of "Bring 'Em Back Alive"

By FRANK BUCK
With EDWARD ANTHONY

squealing was prolonged, for the Chinese method of slaughtering these animals is a long-drawn out process, in which the blood is slowly drained from a small wound in the throat.

From the hatchway I could hear my three captives lashing furiously around in their cages. Naturally the squeals of the dying pig and the smell of its blood had stirred them up.

SPITFIRE BREAKS LOOSE

I was thinking of calling Ali and asking him to have a look at the cages, to be sure that the lashings were all secure, when suddenly there came a scream from somebody on the aft deck.

Obviously something was wrong, and I leaped from my hammock to the edge of the upper deck.

Below me I caught a glimpse of Spitfire II wriggling his hindquarters free from a half-collapsed cage!

Hesitantly he looked around him, taking in at a single circling glance the Chinese sailors hustling down companionways, up riggings, or into other places of refuge. He saw the dying pig, hung from a post. He saw the tree-lined shore. He saw the ship's butcher, too frightened to move.

Swift as lightning, yet with no appearance of haste, Spitfire made his choice. In a graceful black curve his body moved across the deck, lifted itself easily into the air and over the rail into the sea.

While leopards like all cat animals, have no fondness for the water, they are fairly strong swimmers when the occasion demands. I had no fears that Spitfire could not readily swim the comparatively short distance to shore. But my mind was already busy, trying to figure some plan to capture him, for he was too precious a prize to be lightly permitted to escape.

PURSUED BY SHARK

I accused myself of negligence in not watching his cage more carefully. No doubt he had managed, by dint of extraordinary persistence, to bite and claw loose even the doubly reinforced rattan lashings that had held the logs of his cage together. I should have posted a guard there!

These thoughts flashed through my mind, almost automatically, as I leaped down the ladder connecting with the lower deck and over to the rail. Ali appeared from somewhere and was at my side, all breathless.

"Jerong, tuan, jerong!" he cried. ("A shark, master, a shark!")

Even as he spoke my eyes rested on Spitfire, swimming strongly toward the shore and already 30 feet from the boat. In the same instant that Ali's words penetrated my consciousness, I noticed also a big dorsal fin sticking up.

Even in this unaccustomed and handicapping element, the leopard's battling instinct did not desert him. It warned him, somehow, of the approach of an enemy, and he deftly dodged in an oblique direction.

I stood rooted in my tracks. Poor Spitfire seemed so tiny and helpless against the giant antagonist which was sweeping down on him underneath the surface. I knew that this shark was probably 12 or 14 feet in length, with a sheer weight equal to a dozen Spitfires.

But the leopard did not surrender.

Of course his pitiful effort at dodging did not help. He had not taken three strokes before his adversary dealt him a staggerling blow from beneath sending his whole body a foot into the air.

The shark, on account of his peculiar set-back mouth, has to turn over on his back when he strikes. I could see the white belly of this particular sea-wolf flash in the sunshine as the blow was struck that sent the leopard's black form catapulting upwards, his hindquarters in the shark's jaw.

Spitfire's muscles used that jaw as a fulcrum to throw his teeth and claws into action, anywhere, against this strange enemy. Somehow the leopard swung himself around the shark's head, probing with frantic futility the impenetrable hide of the monster and quickly discovering two vulnerable resting places for his terrible claws—one under the shark's right eye, which Spitfire ripped out—the other in an opening in the gills on the same side.

The shark, badly wounded, dropped back into the water, but his jaws still clung tenaciously to Spitfire's leg. As the great fish lowered himself he made a series of quick movements characteristic of his species, not unlike the familiar performance of a dog shaking a rat. Having given the leopard a thorough shaking, he let go for a moment, probably intending to make a swift circle and attack again.

END OF SPITFIRE

But before the injured water demon could execute this maneuver, another shark struck Spitfire from below, knocking him into the air again. This new adversary had the leopard's forequarters in his jaws, and Spitfire was too numb and probably too breathless to fight back in the brief instant before he was submerged.

Our boat was moving along so slowly that by running backward along the rail I had been able to keep even with the combatants throughout the few seconds of their struggle. My final glimpse showed the first assailant returning to the battle, a little groggy perhaps from his gouged-out eye and torn gills. He managed, however, to grab the leopard's badly chewed hindquarters again. And I saw the pair of deep-sea cut-throats setting out to do a thorough job of tearing to pieces the finest example of the black leopard I have ever seen, slowly pulling him under the water as they went to work.

I have discussed the dramatic incident with wild-animal men of my acquaintance. Some of them believe, with Ali, that the leopard was consciously making a dash for safety when he leaped overboard.

Personally, I doubt it. Cats are not that keen about swimming. My own belief—and that of the leopard-wise shikaris I know—is that Spitfire II hadn't the faintest idea of what he was doing when he went over the side. The act was one of pure panic.

Regardless of what was responsible for the leap overboard, I feel reasonably sure that it was the pig-sticking, with the smell of blood and the squeals of the victim, that furnished the immediate inspiration for the escape. No leopard—especially a black one with all the fierceness of the species—could be expected to be calm in a situation like that. But once free, the animal appeared to have lost his head.

Be that as it may, Dr. Ditmars got his pair of black leopards. I have always regretted that he didn't get Spitfire II, but he did get a well-matched pair, in perfect condition. One of them has since died. The other may be seen to this day in the New York Zoological Park in the Bronx.

Don't Deceive Yourself about a COLD!

A Cold is Nothing to Take Lightly and Nothing to Treat Lightly! A Cold is an Internal Infection Calling for Specific Internal Medication!

A cold is nothing to trifle with. You can't tell where it will end. Be serious in your treatment of a cold—and—be intelligent!

Don't fall for half-way measures. They leave you with a half-cured cold — and there's nothing more dangerous.

A cold calls for a COLD remedy. Preparations good for a number of other things besides colds won't do. They only allay temporarily the symptoms of the cold while the cold itself goes on taking deeper and deeper root in your system. Several of the remedies which people commonly take for colds actually make the relief of a cold more difficult because these remedies are constipating and also make the system acid.

A cold also calls for internal medication. For a cold is an internal infection. Local or surface treatments can't reach the seat of the trouble and can't stop the infection spreading within your system.

Play Safe!

As soon as you catch a cold, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. There is nothing wiser you can do, as your own doctor will probably tell you.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine does the four things necessary to rout a cold decisively and thoroughly. First of all, it opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly—the first step necessary in knocking a cold. Second, it kills the cold germs in the system, drives out the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Thus it is the complete treatment you need.

Swift, Positive, Harmless!

Effective as it is, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe for old and young to take. It contains no narcotics, does not upset the stomach or nauseate or cause ringing in the head.

In the form of dainty tablets, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is convenient and pleasant to take. Comes in handy, pocket-size boxes, cellophane-wrapped. All druggists in America sell Grove's Bromo Quinine and few will offer a substitute because they know its merit, famous for years. Keep it handy all winter and you will be in a position to stop a cold before it really gets started. Get a box today.

BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

Investment Council Services to Be Discussed

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE PROBLEM OF giving dependable and unbiased advisory service to investors has become so acute that the question is to be discussed at a special forum at the annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America to be held at White Sulphur Springs October 22 to 26.

The unfortunate experiences of investors during the depression years have made it obvious that the average person does not have either the time or the necessary knowledge to thoroughly analyze his investment problems and to select the securities which he should have in his portfolio. The pitfalls are so numerous that expert attention is needed.

To meet this need many investment bankers have formed special departments to give this service to their customers. In addition many firms not engaged in the business of selling securities have been formed to give investment advice.

* * *

Many Problems Are Encountered

IN ANNOUNCING that the special forum to discuss the problem is to be held, Alden H. Little, executive vice president of the association, said that the convention's special meeting on investment management service has aroused more interest among investment bankers throughout the country than had any of the other important internal operating problems that would be presented at the convention. He said:

"From the investing public's viewpoint it is decidedly important that this subject be threshed out by representative investment bankers from all parts of the country in a carefully planned meeting. A lot of questions touching investors' welfare are involved in the subject. What constitutes investment management service and what may an investor expect and demand of it? How can an investor recognize adequate and dependable investment service and thus distinguish it from the spurious and the superficial which are often distinguished in deceptively-plausible, technical patter? What are the costs involved and what is it worth to the investor?"

* * *

Cost Is Found to Be Major Consideration

MR. LITTLE SAID that from the bankers' viewpoint the problem revolves on cost and on the investing public's possible realization of the importance of investment management service. Many investment banking organizations maintain special departments thoroughly equipped for this service. A number of houses are making commensurate charges for the service and some are furnishing it without charge. He declared that an investor's problem boils down to the fundamental need for accurate and adequate facts with accurate and adequate analysis. Mr. Little said:

"Today larger numbers of visitors are becoming aware of that fact, as is evidenced by their receptive attitude toward a varied galaxy of advisors that range from the tipster sheet disguised as an alleged statistical service, economic soothsayers and on up to a small group of reputable services. On his shrunken or vanished margin of profit it is obvious that the investment banker cannot continue to give investment management service to clients whose holdings may require intensive analytical study. The problem is to broaden investment management service to the investing public's advantage as well as that of the investment banker. If it is practicable to enlarge operations on a professional fee basis, both for the protection of the public and for business profit, how is the best way to do it?

"I have indicated only a few public and investment banking angles of this important question, which will be the subject of special deliberations at a meeting led by Ralph T. Crane, of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., New York. The subject is also decidedly important to borrowers both government and industrial, because it concerns the use and protection of the country's capital supply, its direction into sound and productive purposes and the stabilizing of values of dependable securities."

NEW MICARTA TRAYS ARE MARKETED

Early Christmas shoppers, with an eye for something new and different, will find beauty and practical usefulness combined in a series of five unusual decorative trays being introduced to the market this week.

Indian lore, romance, adventure, speed and motion and imperial power are the themes interpreted in brilliantly colored metal inlays of the gleaming black surface of the micarta tray materials, designed for Westinghouse by George Switzer, of New York.

NEW PROCESS

The new trays, considered outstanding examples of application of artistic design to a commercial product, are being shown to leading artists, designers, decorators, art collectors and art editors in New York. Development of a process of inlaying decorative designs in the surface of micarta has opened a broad field of uses to this versatile material.

Housewives will be interested in the heat and acid resisting qualities of these micarta trays. Smoldering cigarets cannot mar their surface, nor can beverages leave stains. Already inlaid micarta is widely used in the paneling of restaurants, banks and offices, in the name-fronts and store fronts of shops and buildings, in the tops of counters, tables, desks and dressers, in the doors and cabs of elevators and in the walls of bathrooms and kitchens. The new trays now bring micarta into the drawing rooms and dining rooms of the American home.

FIVE DESIGNS

Motifs of the five designs are modernized interpretations of authentic periods, designed to fit in with living room, dining room and porch furniture of popular periods and with the various modes of modern decoration. They will harmonize with the early American, French provincial, Chippendale and other eighteenth century designs, Directoire, Empire, Federal and modern interiors.

The designs are Nocturne, interpreting a romantic mood; First Empire, symbolizing the domination of Napoleon; Tribal Prayer, presenting provincial symbols of prayers for rain; Marco Polo, reflecting the Chinese influence upon decoration, and Dynamique, reuresenting the dominant characteristics of the world today, power, motion and speed.

SMALLER NET LIKELY FOR RADIATOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—With operations running at a sharply curtailed rate during 1932, indications are that the earnings of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation for the current year will not compare favorably with 1931, when net totaled $200,646. However, any sustained improvement in business that is accompanied by a resumption of anywhere near normal building operations will find the company in position to benefit promptly. For the past several years efforts have been concentrated on reducing operating expenses and adapting operations to the actualities of current business. In line with this, the parent company during the past four years has cut overhead (not including manufacturing expenses) by $15,000,000, or more than 50 per cent for comparable domestic subsidiaries. The saving thus effected is roughly equal to the net earnings of these particular subsidiaries for 1928.

POSITION GOOD

The financial condition of the company continues good. As of the close of 1931 net quick assets totaled $56,296,778. Current assets, after foreign exchange valuation reserve, amounted to $64,113,432, of which cash and bonds accounted for $21,208,869. It is understood the present cash position of the company is only slightly below that figure. Cash and its equivalent at the close of last December were nearly three times current liabilities and more than double the company's funded debt of $10,100,000.

ADDS NEW LINE

Notwithstanding the drastic let-up in residential construction, a major contributor to Radiator's activities, first became apparent some years ago, the company has continued its quest of new lines. Its most recent effort in this direction was the marketing of a line of air-conditioning equipment. Interests who have closely followed the developing of this new field, believe that this division will become an important new source of earnings when conditions return to normal.

Pennsylvania Water Increases Capital

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Stockholders of the Pennsylvania Water and Power Co. have authorized an increase in number of shares from 540,000 shares without par value, to 640,000 shares without par value, by creation of 100,000 shares of $5 preferred stock. The action is to put the company in position to issue additional shares when it deems it advisable to do so.

GOLD SUPPLY LEADS 1920

Tracing the relation of gold holdings to bank deposits since the beginning of the century, the current Business Conditions Weekly of the Alexander Hamilton Institute finds the present credit situation far more comfortable than in 1920 or 1921.

There is more gold in relation to total credit than in either 1920 or 1921. In the former year the ratio dropped as low as 6.3 per cent and by 1921 it had been restored only to 7.7 per cent. But taking the most conservative estimate of the rate of decline in other than national bank credit, the ratio for this year would be in excess of 8 per cent.

SCHOOL ELECTS COUNCIL

Pittsburgh School of Accountancy's 13 classes recently elected their representatives to the student council, a body which acts as the connecting link between the active students and the alumni association.

Nearly 600 students, enrolled in both the day and evening divisions, joined in the balloting, which selected Pittsburghers to represent three classes. Local students chosen were Ian Sharpe, and Andrew Shapiro, of the East End, and William Crichley, 2719 Banksville avenue.

For the rest of the semester, the remaining classes will be represented by the following out-of-town students: Lewis Young, New Brighton; E. W. Horner, Edgewood; Dale Klingensmith, New Kensington; M. R. Hilty, Leechburg; John Williams, Homestead; J. R. Greenal, Wilkinsburg; John Stuart, Oakmont; Rolland G. Ford, West View; and Donald Lambert, Rochester.

Ramage Recovering In Oil City Home

S. Y. Ramage, president of the Upper Allegheny River Improvement Association, is recovering in his Oil City home from an illness with which he has been confined for several weeks. Mr. Ramage is one of the leaders of the movement for the construction of a Pittsburgh-Lake Erie ship canal by way of the Allegheny River-French Creek route. He is one of the pioneers of the Pennsylvania oil industry.

Wholesale and Jobbing Trade Conditions

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Tabloid review of wholesale and retail business conditions and the state of crops as reported to Bradstreet's last week from the following centers on the basis of comparisons with conditions in the same areas in the corresponding week last year:

	Whole. and Job. Trade	Retail Trade	Mfg. and Industry	Collections	Crops
Pittsburgh	Quiet	Quiet	Quiet	Slow	Good
Chicago	Good	Good	Fair	Fair	.....
Cleveland	Quiet	Quiet	Quiet	Slow	Fair
Detroit	Quiet	Quiet	Quiet	Fair	Good

Omaha	Quiet	Quiet	Quiet	Slow	Good
St. Louis	Quiet	Quiet	Quiet	Slow	.....
St. Paul	Quiet	Fair	Fair	Slow	.....
Baltimore	Fair	Fair	Quiet	Slow	Good

Pittsburgh—Demand for coal improves; plate glass production on uptrend; department store trade active, but with collections backward; Youngstown steel operations at about 20 per cent of capacity.

Chicago—"Chicago Week" resulted in unusually large wholesale orders; steel operating capacity advances to 19 per cent, compared with 30 per cent in 1931; industrial payrolls improve in value and volume.

Cleveland—Banks' third quarter balance sheets show improvement; steel ingot production about 20 per cent of capacity; slight advance in automotive steel buying; textile activity tapering down to normal.

Detroit—Automobile industry preparing for production of 1933 models; heating equipment and electrical supply houses seasonally active; building continues to lag.

Wives Sometimes Object To Life Insurance! Widows Never Do

Wives of today don't think about life insurance the same way their mothers did. They know that the family must be supported no matter what happens. They know that they would need life insurance to take care of the children, to pay off the mortgage, to settle up debts.

Modern wives who realize these things are setting out to familiarize themselves with the facts about life insurance. To help them, we have prepared an interesting booklet

PITT SHOWS GREAT POWER

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Panther Scare Helpful. Averts Overconfidence. Coaches Differ on Punts.

Maranville to Carry On. McKechnie Tries Deals. Boxing League Proposed.

PITT OUGHT TO PROFIT BY CLOSE CALL

NOTHING BETTER COULD have happened to Pitt than that the Army game turned out to be a whole lot tougher than had been anticipated. For one thing there was more glory in winning. There is far more credit due to the brilliant Warren Heller and his mates—notably Joe Skladany, Paul Cuba and Harvey Hooker—for having beaten a greatly underrated Cadet team that really is one of the best in the East, in as thrilling a battle as ever was fought anywhere, than if it had been a walkaway victory like that of last year.

Warren Heller

But that's the least important angle. Of much greater weight in serving the future interests of the Panther team is the fact that the close call will avert any danger of cockiness or overconfidence which might have resulted from early successes, and that the severe pressure revealed weaknesses, particularly against a passing attack, on which Coach Sutherland can now concentrate in time, possibly, to prevent disaster in other big games to follow.

THE PANTHERS HAD the heart and the stuff to come from behind to win after their early lead had been wiped out; they showed a defense that was good enough to hold for downs once on the one-yard line and at the finish on the nine-yard line.

And with 26 players sent into action and the sub rivaling the regulars in all-around work, they demonstrated again that their reserve string is as good as the average first team. What more could be asked in the first hard test of the year? Saturday's developments were encouraging rather than alarming.

DARTMOUTH AND DETROIT are exhibits as to how greatly opinions may differ on the value of punting in football. Dartmouth always has a fine booter. Bill Morton kept the Green in many a game the last two seasons, and now Bill Clark is doing it.

Gus Dorais was a sweet kicker himself in his Notre Dame days. It was his field goal that beat Pitt 3 to 0 here in 1912. Yet in all his years of coaching at Detroit, his team never has had the advantage of owning a great punter. Gus came out of South Bend with the idea that the best system of all is to carry the ball and hang on to it. He believes in punting only in an emergency.

"I KNOW AS well as anybody that the kick is a valuable thing," Dorais says, "but I have always tried to develop a team that could hold the ball as long as possible. Thus I have devoted most of my efforts to a running and passing game, hoping that we'd not have to do much punting. Even with a strong wind in our favor, we have sometimes failed to use our punters to advantage. Perhaps it was a mistake, but I have felt that I had to concentrate on some one thing, and I have selected ball-carrying as the one most likely to bring results. I don't advocate this system for other teams. It's a case of 'don't do as I do, but do as I say.'"

Rabbit Maranville

AND STILL BASEBALL'S age marvel, Rabbit Maranville, is to carry on. He'll be 41 on November 11—the record books are one year short on him, according to the Rabbit himself—but he retains the fire of a rookie, and for that reason Manager Bill McKechnie announces officially and definitely that the Rabbit will continue to be part of the Braves' lineup next year.

"Of course, we'll keep Maranville," McKechnie said. "There's only one Rabbit. I admit I did not think he could stand up through so many games this last season. He was in 149, almost all that our club played, and I never thought he could deliver such a fine grade of ball in so many contests. The manner in which he continued hustling, kept up the morale of the infield and of the entire team, and the way he made plays was the agreeable surprise.

"TRUE, MARANVILLE HIT only .235, but that has been about his average of hitting for the last few years. My hope is still to have the Rabbit in there and at the same time to add a punch to the infield combination that will make more runs for us.

"The Braves would not look the same without Maranville. He's 100 per cent in team value. His personality is a big asset. People come to see him play."

M'KECHNIE IS NOW on a quiet hunt in the East for new players, talking trade or purchase with both major and minor league clubs, and the Wilkinsburg man is hopeful that by the time he has ended his travels he will have acquired a new regular or two capable of giving his club more batting power. Rumors come from New York that the Giant management has proposed a trade that would send Freddie Lindstrom and Frank Hogan to Boston in exchange for Wally Berger. The Boston club announced recently that Berger would not be sold or traded, and has since given no intimation of a change of mind.

THERE ARE BASEBALL leagues, football leagues, basketball leagues and what not. Now James Michael (Red) Mason, veteran boxing manager, rises to ask, "Why not a boxing league?" Mason outlines the idea in a letter from Chicago, where he is located for the present, though as ever keeping an eye on fistic affairs in Pittsburgh.

It is a revival on a larger scale of a plan that Red himself introduced here more than 30 years ago, when he held inter-city bouts at Old City Hall. The latter idea has just been taken up in the Middle West, and the first show of that kind will be held in Chicago tonight between Windy City and Cincinnati boxers.

MASON WOULD GO farther. He thinks it could be broadened into a league of eight or ten cities along the lines of the major baseball circuits, with each team meeting every other team once at home and once abroad, and that by this means boxing interest could be spurred and some good fighters developed.

James M. Mason

He would follow a regular schedule providing for Cleveland at Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, Detroit at Chicago, and so on, at judicious intervals, and predicts that in time the organization would become almost as well known as the two big baseball leagues, and that every season would see new fighters being developed, just like new ball players.

"THE PITTSBURGH DISTRICT has a goodly number of fighters in all classes at present," Mason writes, "and there ought to be no trouble in picking a crew that would keep the best in the other large cities busy. In these tough times, fighters that do not hold titles and cannot command any kind of money for their work are among the chief sufferers. A good fighter may lie around a town for years, perhaps until he is done, without ever getting a real chance to show what he can do unless some wise geezer takes him in tow and manages to get him to the front. A young ball player gets into some small league, and if he shows any kind of ability it is not long until he is picked up by a scout and taken to the big leagues. A boxing league ought to develop young boxers in the same way and give them a chance to advance. There are thousands of pretty good fighters scattered all over the country that would be glad to get an opportunity of showing their wares, no matter how little they might receive."

PIRATE PILOT, BOSSES PLAN MEETING

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Even as Pittsburgh football fans breathe the rarified air of championship aspirations, the city's baseball overseers are endeavoring to absorb some of the same satisfying elements.

Sam Watters

Pirate Manager George Gibson is expected to reach the home office this week for an important conference with Bill Benswanger and Sam Watters, the Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson of the local staff. As quickly as the diamond specialists meet they will go into a huddle on a couple of trick plays they would like to slip over on some other alert moguls. In other verbiage, fans, the Pirates have something on tap.

BUC DEAL ON TAP

Apparently Prexy Benswanger is getting ready to open a bottle that may have a real kick. The stuff started to forment during the world series, at which time, Benswanger is said to have talked cold turkey or hot tamales with rival magnates.

During the series, the Buc president was in touch with Boss Gibson, who has been visiting his daughter in Texas since the National League curtain went down. Gibby has promised to be here in a few days in the interest of whatever negotiations that may have been started by the youthful magnate.

Yes, folks, the Buccos appear to have started something in the way of trades, but perhaps they, like certain other baseball people, will prefer to hold off for a spell before putting anything through to a conclusion.

NEED LONG HITTER

Some of the diamond directors feel that the football season should be finished before the big trades pop, yet Connie Mack and others believe in getting the business at hand transacted without considering the amount of publiciay it will attract. Perhaps this method is just as effective as the contrasting plan.

In any event, the Pittsburgh trio is attempting to deal with somebody. The Giants may be the party of the second part, inasmuch as the Buccos would like to land Fred Lindstrom. Gibby and his brethren realize that a right-hand batter with a long drive would make a sure flag contender of the 1933 club.

CHILLYSAUCE

Bill McKechnie, manager of the Boston Braves, is reported to be negotiating with Bill Terry, Giant manager, relative to a big swap. The "lowdown" is that Skipper Bill seeks Francis Hogan and Fred Lindstrom in return for Walter Berger.

At first blush a swap such as Bill is working on favors the Boston club in a definite way, yet there are at least two big considerations. The first is that Lindstrom appears to be dissatisfied with his present berth.

Berger is no more valuable than Lindstrom on an even-up proposition, but if you put the big and fleet Californian in the Polo Grounds for 77 ball games he should strut.

Braves Field is just about the hardest park in the country in which to make homers. Wally, in the short-fence Polo Grounds might come through with a bumper crop of the "dishonest" round-trippers.

McKechnie needs another high-grade catcher and were he to land Hogan he doubtless would make him the first-string performer. It will be a big day in Bill's career if he can get the two mentioned without giving up any more than his star centerfielder. Berger, by the way, is a real hawk in the garden.

George Susce, the Hercules of Calico Hill, was one of the smoothest receivers in the International League this year, in the opinion of Francis Brown, who officiated in that circuit.

Susce had a lot of sport in chucking out the fleet and funny Fresco Thompson, his former mentor, who starred for Jersey City under a Brooklyn option. Fresco could not swipe a cushion on the Schenley High star.

It was Thompson, then Quaker second baseman, who sponsored George when the latter tried to bridge the gap from the school fields to a berth with the Phillies in one leap.

THIRD IN ROW FOR CAREY

DETROIT, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Bob Carey, Anderson, Ind., pilot, scored his third consecutive victory at the new Detroit motor speedway yesterday, leading the field all the way to reel off the 20 miles with an average of 65.54 miles an hour. Deb Snyder, Detroit, was second, and Henry Banks, also Detroit, third.

Carey set a new track record of 76.36 miles an hour in his qualifying trial.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Held in check only on a few occasions, Santa Clara University's football team turned on the power when it was needed and rolled up a 32-to-0 victory over the San Diego Marines in their annual game here yesterday.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: THE ELECTION OF A DEAD MAN—R. J. Estes, of Melbourne, Ark., popular Sheriff and Collector of Izard County, who died Sunday, August 7, 1932, two days before the Democratic primary was held in which the deceased figured as a candidate for re-election, was the recipient of a remarkable tribute to his popularity. Although every voter was aware of his passing, he received 1,251 votes to 593 votes cast for his living opponent. The result of this curious election created a unique situation in the county. The voters manifestly expressed a preference for a man they knew to be dead. There is no local precedent to guide the powers that be in the declaration of an existing vacancy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Opening a dull week among the nation's cauliflowers, Tommy Loughran and Stanley Poreda, representing the extremes of age and fighting style among the heavyweights, clash in a 10-round bout in Philadelphia tonight.

Loughran is far from the lightning fast boxer who held the light-heavyweight title for so long, but he still has the experience and boxing skill to stave off a good many younger heavyweights. He was knocked out by young Steve Hamas in two rounds, lost a decision later to the same slugger and then boxed his way to a decision victory in their third engagement. He may beat Poreda if he can avoid the Jersey puncher's terrific wallops.

In Los Angeles tomorrow night, Baby Arizmendi, of Mexico, recognized as featherweight champion by the California Boxing Association, defends his claim to that title against the veteran Newsboy Brown, of Los Angeles.

Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight contender, meets the New England sensation, Unknown Winston, in a 12-rounder at the Boston Arena tomorrow night.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Old Man Stagg probably figured when he took that Chicago job, more than 40 years ago, it wouldn't be permanent . . . That Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame meeting at South Bend next Saturday will be their tenth clash, of which Tech has won two of the last five, in 1926, by 19 to 0, and, in 1928, by 27 to 7 . . . Tartan teams generally have managed to hold down the scoring of the Irish elevens by playing the proper sort of a defense . . . Last year's score was 19-0; that of the year before, 21-7, and, in 1929, the Irish won by only 7 to 0, here.

A Dolly Varden trout recently died in a hatchery in California at the age of 19 years, weighing 13 pounds. . . . When a small water snake, measuring only 20 inches in length, was killed in a lake in Wisconsin recently, it was cut open and 68 small bass, freshly swallowed, were found in its stomach . . . Just a couple of vouched for fish stories to start the week off right.

When bigger and better thrillers are staged in football they'll have to be hot stuff to beat the Pitt-Army games of last year and this. . . . Fats Heller just about assured himself the East's vote for all-America halfback honors with his display in Saturday's skirmish. . . . Wash-Jeff's new attack, with the constant faking and masking of plays in the backfield, proved interesting to the fans who saw the Presidents play their 6-6 tie with Tech at the Stadium Saturday. . . . Since Tech resorts to a lot of deception along similar lines, it was a great spot for amateur detectives seeking clues leading to the whereabouts of the ball, which happily was white and couldn't be lost sight of entirely, or for long at any one sitting.

Considerable local interest will be focussed upon the clash between Pop Warner's Stanford eleven and Southern California on the Coast next Saturday. . . . The fans here want Pop to pull through on top and keep his record clean until he brings his team here to play Pitt in the closing game of the season, which may decide the national championship. . . . Boo Boo Hoff, widely famed manager of boxers, of Philadelphia, wants to send his Jimmy Mack here to box Mose Butch. . . . He reports Mack has had 14 straight wins, including one over Jackie Rodgers.

What the country needs is more and better featherweight boxing champions of the world. . . . Just now the lack of such champions is deplorable. . . . There are only three of them, in fact, and what, we ask you, are three among 30 state boxing commissions and the N. B. A.? . . . Battling Battalino started it all when he retired from the class because of inability to make the weight. . . . The National Boxing Association conducted an elimination tournament, which was won by Tommy Paul, who was designated the new champion. . . . Then the New York Athletic Commission recognized Kid Chocolate, after he had stopped Lew Feldman a few nights ago, and now the California commission chimes in with its choice of Baby Arizmendi, the Mexican, who defeated Paul in what was to have been, but wasn't, because of the weight, a non-title battle in Mexico City recently.

Pennsylvania should rally to the colors and nominate its featherweight champion without further ado. . . . Such action undoubtedly would be a big step in the direction of hastily restoring the economic stability of the country at a trying time. —HARRY KECK.

SOUTH BEND WINS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The South Bend Athletics defeated the Postums, of Battle Creek, Mich., 3 to 2, yesterday to win the championship of the fifteenth annual interstate baseball tournament. It is the second time South Bend has won the title, the first being in 1930.

VALLEY CAMP, CURRY TIE

One of the largest crowds of the season turned out at South Park yesterday afternoon to watch Curry and Valley Camp clash in the feature game in the Keystone Soccer League. A rough game wound up in a 1-1 tie. Referee McArdle was forced to banish four players during the session.

While these two outfits were fighting it out, the Zoneys defeated Cecil, 2 to 1, and at the Bridgeville Speedway, the Morgan and Bridgeville clubs, rivals of many years, battled to a 1-1 deadlock.

The Allegheny Valley League staged four games. The Barsottis proved that they are not fast enough for the circuit, losing to Springdale, 9 to 0; Tarentum defeated Curtisville, 2 to 1, at Tarentum; Valley Athletics stopped Harwick, 2 to 1, and Kinlock battled Millvale to a 2-all tie.

ST. MARY'S WINS OVER 'FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Before a wildly enthusiastic throng of 35,000 fans, St. Marys Galloping Gaels pounded to a 16-to-7 victory over the University of San Francisco Dons here yesterday.

After his second team, which started, had been held scoreless the opening quarter, Coach Slip Madigan rushed in his regulars, who pushed over a touchdown and chalked up a safety before half time.

Both teams scored touchdowns in the final quarter.

PANTELON WINS

LONGCHAMP, France, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Pantalon, owned by Henri Cottevielle, won the Grand Criterium, feature attraction for 2-year-olds at 2,600 meters here yesterday and earned the big share of the purse of 150,000 francs. Negundo was second and S. J. Unzue's Lord Byron third. The winner paid 8 to 1 in the betting and won by a length.

ARMY BATTLE PROVES METTLE OF PANTHERS

By JESS CARVER

About 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, one of the most distinguished collections of self-satisfied college football scribes and experts that ever wore yellow topcoats and destroyed free hot dogs was grouped in the press box at Michie Stadium, West Point. The boys had the Pitt-Army game "in." There was nothing to it. Pitt was to win by three or four touchdowns and all the Army was going to get was the cheers. Everything was lovely.

At 2:30 o'clock, the majority of the lads were wondering if maybe they hadn't ought to have stuck to plumbing or laid off football and written tennis. There was some shellaching going on there in the Stadium, and the Pitt team wasn't getting all of it. Some reputations for picking 'em were being slightly soiled.

PITT POWERFUL

The Pitt-Army game is history and everyone concerned is better off for the way the game turned out. Pitt has had any vestige of conceit knocked higher than a dozen kites. The Army has discovered that it has a pretty good ball club after all and the East is satisfied that if Pitt can overpower an eleven the like of which the Cadets trotted out for inspection Saturday, that the Panthers are plenty good. Hard pressed as they were, the Panthers made themselves reputations in the East.

The Pitt-Army game was the most viciously fought struggle these astigmatized old eyes ever have seen. The Cadets, always in the pink of physical trim, fighting for their honor in their own backyard and pointed for the struggle, made a savage scrap out of it. You could tell after the first play just what was going to happen. Pitt had the ball and Heller carried it, but all you could see was the flying forms of Pitt players being tossed about the gridiron. King, Army's left end, picked up the Pitt interference and threw it right in Heller's teeth. He continued to play that sort of football all afternoon.

ARMY DEFENSE TOUGH

The Army played a 6-2-2-1 defense, with the two men backing up the line playing just behind the ends. That setup practically gave the Cadets four ends. The ends charged in fast and the halfbacks waited to see what would happen. Quarterback Hogan's failure to crack the center of the line more, where a comparatively unprotected area existed right over center, made it tough on the Pitt attack, for the Cadets, discovering that there was to be little or no pounding at the center of the line, massed their defense at the tackles and ruined Pitt's reverses.

Warren Heller caught the fancy of the boys in the East with his great exhibition at the Point. His running was fine and his passing great. He laid the ball right in his receiver's laps. His two passes to Skladany were pips, masterpieces of the art of placing 'em where they belonged.

Here's a good one on Skladany and his touchdown. Muggsy didn't know he'd scored until the end of the half. He'd been bumped in a scrimmage just before the pass play was called. He ran down the field mechanically, over the line, turned around and pulled in the pass with one hand and straight-armed a Cadet defensive man with the other. He stood there hugging the ball when Paul Cuba ran up and told him to touch it down. He didn't know he'd scored and didn't realize what had happened until the half was over.

WALTON PLAYS WELL

Frank (Tiger) Walton, Pitt's husky tackle, played a pip of a game after he relieved Bobby Hoel. Walton was as tough on the defense as any man in the heroic Cadet line, which is saying plenty. His offensive work was passing, too, the big fellow pulling out of the line to get into the interference with the speed of a halfback.

Unless you count the Tech and Wash-Jeff deadlock and Westminster's win over Grove City as upsets, the struggling in the tri-state area over the week-end ran remarkable true to form. Penn State was taken apart by Harvard; Allegheny lost to Springfield; Furman beat Davis and Elkins; Thiel licked Slippery Rock; Waynesburg ran over Bethany; Edinboro defeated California and West Virginia downed Wesleyan in Saturday's tussles.

Friday night, the Dukes had trouble enough with Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels and Geneva found its mitts full in getting by St. Vincent's Bearcat eleven.

Ray Tesser, Tartan end, who suffered a fracture of his left cheek bone in the Wash-Jeff game, was discharged from the hospital yesterday and will be able to practice again in about a week.

PURDUE STAR HURT

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Dixie Moore, Purdue right halfback, sustained a fractured collarbone in the football game with Wisconsin here Saturday and will be out of uniform for at least three weeks. The Boilermakers, undefeated this season, face Northwestern at Evanston next Saturday, and New York University at New York on October 29.

Selected as the standard-bearers of scholastic football in Western Pennsylvania, the 12 members of the Class AA Conference, operating for the first time this season, have failed to live up to their reputations and as a result are being upset with surprising regularity by teams playing under banners of lower classification.

Considered to be too powerful for the average high school elevens, the 12 Conference members were banded together last year primarily to segregate the district teams into Class AA, Class A and Class B groups, thereby making the various championship races more equally balanced.

The mere fact that Conference elevens carry Double A rating apparently does not disturb teams playing under the Class A and Class B banners, judging from the results of games played so far this season.

NORWIN LOSES THREE

Only seven members of the Class AA Conference this season have been spared the ignominy of defeat or deadlock by a so-called inferior opponent, and of the seven Norwin has failed to win a single Conference decision in three starts. New Castle, Jeannette, Greensburg, New Kensington, McKeesport and Charleroi are the other AA teams to escape a defeat or a tie game with a Class A or Class B opponent.

Turtle Creek Union, Washington, Wilkinsburg, Clairton and Monessen, other members of the Conference, all have felt the sting of a defeat or tie game at the hands of teams operating in lower class groups.

Turtle Creek Union, undefeated in four games, including a Conference battle with Norwin, saw its record shattered Saturday when Sewickley Township, a Class B eleven, scored a 14-7 victory over the Foxy Miller machine.

Washington, for 15 years a strong contender for the W. P. I. A. L. title, has been held to tie scores by Aliquippa and Waynesburg, both Class A teams. Wilkinsburg was lucky to emerge from a contest with Rankin, a Class B team, with a 6-6 draw, while Clairton, winner of the W. P. I. A. L. title last season, bowed in defeat before an inspired Uniontown eleven, 12-0, after the Fayette countians had lost to Scott High, 27-6. Monessen was held to a scoreless deadlock by Duquesne and lost to Canonsburg, 7-6.

FAVORITES FALL

Shocked by upsets from the opening games of the season, followers of the scholastic sport hereabouts no longer are surprised by upheavals of the dope bucket. Last week saw a number of the topnotchers fall by the wayside, making the races for the various championships wide open affairs.

Even the City League has not been immune from surprising contests. Last Friday all three games in the Section II group were upsets. South Hills, the defending champion, lost to Langley, Perry scored an unexpected victory over Allegheny and Oliver vanquished Carrick. Dormont saw its hopes for the Class A championship ruined by a fighting Crafton eleven, while Homestead, beaten by Glassport the previous Friday, turned right around and scored an impressive victory over Mt. Lebanon. Springdale ruined East Pittsburgh's hopes for the Class B title by winning, 7-6.

The Class AA Conference battles ran true to form with New Kensington and McKeesport playing to a 6-6 deadlock in the feature attraction. As a result New Castle moved into first place with two victories and no defeats.

RACER KILLED

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Losing control of his machine, Arthur Blachy, 25, Waukegan, Ill., auto race driver, was killed yesterday at the Roby track when the car crashed through a fence at the south turn and was wrecked.

Specialty Football Stars Demonstrate Worth

By Howard Harpster

Geneva College Coach; All-America Quarterback at Carnegie Tech, 1928.

Occasionally we find specialty players in football, who are injected into the games to do a certain odd job at the right moment, whereupon they fade from the picture and are not heard from or seen again until another similar situation arises.

Last Saturday's games involving Pittsburgh's two major college elevens saw instances of these specialty players when the Army called upon Broshus, a drop-kicking sure-thing man, for the extra point to give it a 13-12 lead which stood until Pitt got its final touchdown.

Mr. Harpster

At the Stadium here, Coach Hank Day, of W. & J., called upon Bob Deacle, his pinch man and scoring ace, after W. & J. had worked the ball to the 25-yard line, from where the plunging fullback punched it over in unstoppable fashion.

It will be recalled that, a few years ago, Notre Dame inserted an end named O'Brien into a game with the sole purpose of having him catch a forward pass for the winning score. Some seasons before that, Pennsylvania had a halfback named Sullivan who was a great sprinter. The Quakers picked their spots for him. All they wanted to do was to turn him loose once and he was away for a score.

It's a good plan to have one of these pinch players up your sleeve when you need him—but how many coaches are lucky enough to have them around?

Harpsterisms

The manner in which Tech started off in its game with W. & J. led most observers to believe the Tartans would win in a walk, after the first touchdown, which was the result of some nice running by Capt. Kavel, and which came in the first five minutes of play, either the Tech boys suffered a decided letdown or the W. & J. team came suddenly to life. In either case, the game was very closely contested after Tech's score, and neither team came very close to a scoring position except for W. & J.'s fine touchdown march of 50 yards late in the second quarter.

On the first scrimmage play of the game, Kavel threw a pass to Tesser which was good for a first down on the W. & J. 40-yard line, but a Tech player was detected offside and the play was brought back.

Late in the first quarter, Zagray quick-kicked to the Tech seven-yard line. Running plays carried the ball to the Tech 34 for a first down, from where McCurdy, the Carnegie quarterback, threw the most beautiful pass of the afternoon to Ostrosky. The Tech end was running full speed toward the W. & J. goal and the ball sailed squarely into his hands, only to slip through. It wasn't the easiest kind of a catch, but it was one that Tony wouldn't miss once in a dozen times. Had he caught it, he could have trotted for a touchdown, for there wasn't a W. & J. player within 20 yards of him.

The kicking of both W. & J. and Tech was very good, although each side got off one or two poor ones. Mihm's first try traveled 63 yards in the air, but in the second quarter, he got off a kick that went only 20 yards before it went out of bounds at midfield. From this point, W. & J. marched to its score. Zagray got off some fine quick-kicks, always punting away from the Tech safety man, thus getting the roll. One of his kicks stopped on Carnegie's seven-yard line and another was downed on the two-yard line.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—A punt blocked by Tom Nash in the second period yesterday gave the Green Bay Packers a 2-to-0 victory over the Chicago Bears, and left the defending champions the only undefeated team in the National Football League.

Dick Nesbitt's kick bounced off Nash's chest over the end zone, automatically becoming a safety. The Bears threatened frequently and in the fourth period, a long argument followed when the officials refused to confirm that Bill Hewitt, Bear end, had recovered a loose ball in the end zone for a touchdown, claiming that Luke Johnsos, the other Bear flanker, had touched it before it went over the goal line.

CHICAGO CARDS WIN

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Chicago Cardinals gained their first National Professional Football League victory yesterday by defeating the Boston Braves, 9 to 0, at Braves Field.

BROOKLYN BEATEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The New York Giants defeated Benny Friedman's Brooklyn Dodgers in a National Professional Football League battle here yesterday, 20 to 12. The contest was a nip-and-tuck thriller.

PORTSMOUTH IN TIE

STAPLETON, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Portsmouth and Stapleton battled to a 7-to-7 deadlock in a National Professional Football League game here yesterday.

School Notes

Perry's unexpected victory over Allegheny was the first for that school on its new athletic field. It also marked the first time Perry had scored on the new gridiron. Perry boasts three fine running backs in Manning, Nolan and Harris.

Homestead handed its supporters a real thrill by the manner in which it upset Mt. Lebanon High. Homestead looked ragged in its battle with Glassport the previous week-end, but showed a complete reversal of form against the Mt. Lebanon machine. Baptie, Miller and Borgan were impressive in victory. Bill Davidson, Mt. Lebanon triple-threat star, was well covered.

Johnny Uram appears to be enjoying one of his best seasons with New Castle High, one of the reasons the Bridenbaugh machine is making a determined bid for the Class AA Conference championship. Uram is being given valuable assistance by Nicholm, another brilliant New Castle halfback.

"Peanuts" Macel, substitute fullback of the Allegheny High squad, acquitted himself creditably in his first appearance on the gridiron. Macel was pressed into service due to the loss of the regular fullback and he came through with a number of fine gains through the Perry line.

If Oliver High can take the measure of South Hills at Langley Field Friday, Ray Peters' eleven has a good chance of winning the Section II crown. South Hills does not appear to be the same team that won the title last season without Bill Lentz in the lineup. Mel Bizon, however, continues to sparkle in the line.

Swissvale, a contender for the Class A championship, and Glassport, a contender for the Class B crown, continue their unbroken string of victories. Ed Paulie's Swissvale team added Avalon to its list of victims, while Roy Hickes' Glassport eleven knocked off Trafford, 13-2. Glassport's victory over Homestead takes on added significance inasmuch as Homestead turned right around and defeated Mt. Lebanon.

Odeal Pryor, crack Negro halfback of the Fort City High eleven, continues to run wild against all opponents. Nesnie Cameron, basketball mentor at Fort City, rates Pryor the best halfback in the district. Fort City, coached by John Honse, appears to be in for another successful season.

TROJANS FACE TEST FROM STANFORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Football fandom scratched its collective head today and stared unbelievingly at the final scores that made Saturday's gridiron scramble in the Far West the biggest upset week thus far this season.

Washington State's startling 7-to-2 victory over California's Bears was no more surprising than the win the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins claimed over Oregon.

In the pre-game size up, Montana had been figured to have an even chance with Idaho, but the scoreboard told a story of 19 points for Idaho and six for the Grizzlies.

To complete the picture, Southern California's Trojans, defending Conference champions, nosed out a skimpy 6-to-0 win over tough non-Conference opposition as furnished by Loyola, of Los Angeles.

Championship hopes of California, making its first Conference stand, and Oregon, previously held to a scoreless tie by Washington State, cracked up in a resounding fashion.

Only Stanford ran absolutely true to form yesterday. Coach Pop Warner's Cardinals swarmed over the West Coast Army team, 26-0. With his mind on the big Conference classic with Southern California, Warner called substitutes to play most of the game.

The ending of the U. C. L. A.-Oregon game was sensational, with the Bruins coming from behind to snatch victory from the air in the final seconds of play.

RANGERS WIN OVER OAKLAND

The Oakland Community eleven gave Toby Uansa's Rox Rangers all the football they wanted yesterday afternoon, but the Rangers battered out a 6-to-2 victory. A large crowd turned out for the contest, played in Oakland.

Rodgers went over for the Ranger touchdown in the second quarter and the Community team counted a safety later in the period.

The victory march of the Aliquippa Indians was halted by the J. J. Veronas at Washington field yesterday, Arrigo scoring in the second quarter to give the Veronas a 7-to-0 triumph.

In other contests of importance on district sandlots, Knaplis won over the Brookline Merchants, 12-9; Ambridge downed Sto-Rox, 6-0; P. J. McBrides tied the Duquesne Scholastics, 13-13; North Side Panthers defeated West View Juniors, 6-0; Broadway Mounts nosed out Kreiger-Marx, 7-0; North Braddock Firemen defeated Versailles, 6-0; Arnold Firemen tripped Oakmont, 13-6; Brighton walloped Wabash, 20-6; Farrell defeated the Rooney Reds, 6-0; Snee won over Gus Ellis, 19-6; North Side Mystics and Phipps drew, 13-13; the Trafford Indians stopped the Evergreen Olympics, 12-0, and St. John's Scholastics defeated the Goslins, 6-2.

Tech Sets Plans For N. D. Trip

Carnegie Tech's invasion of South Bend will start in earnest Thursday night when the Carnegie squad under Bob Waddell climbs aboard a Pennsylvania train for Niles, Mich. The team will make its headquarters at Niles before going on to South Bend.

Some 45 players, student managers, coaches, trainers, and newspapermen will make up the party. Coach Wally Steffen will join the squad at South Bend.

The Carnegie Tech Band and followers will travel to the game on a football special leaving Pennsylvania Station at 11:30 p. m., Friday.

AUTO RACER KILLED

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Pinned beneath the wreckage of his racing automobile, Arthur Plasky, of Waukegan, was dead today. The accident occurred as 10,000 spectators watched the feature race of the Sunday program at the Roby Motor Speedway. Plasky's car locked front wheels with another machine driven by Tony Willman and turned end over end before crashing.

SING SING WINS

OSSINING, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Sing Sing football team won its big game of the season yesterday, even though it's only the middle of October. It trimmed the Fort Jervis Policemen, 7 to 0, while 1,624 visitors and some 2,000 prisoners looked on.

CADETS VICTORS

The St. Williams Cadets team, of East Pittsburgh, defeated the Braddock Park Arrows by a 19-0 score at East Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon before 3,000 fans.

PASSERS MEET TONIGHT

Local basketball teams will hold their first meeting of the season tonight at 204 Sixth avenue for the purpose of organizing leagues.

AL FAY TO BOX GODFREY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Al Fay, of Charleroi, Pa., has replaced K. O. Christner, of Akron, as George Godfrey's opponent in the feature bout at the Arena here next week.

Christner was removed because a week ago he dropped a decision to Tiger Jack Fox at Terre Haute, Ind. Fay was defeated in his last start by Vincent Parille in one of the preliminaries to the Max Schmeling-Mickey Walker fight, September 26.

Old Horses Best For Fancy Riding

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—A young fast horse is all right in his place, but the clearing of high hurdles and water hazards is a job for veterans, most of whom are at least 12 years old.

F. C. Churchill, a senior instructor at the Fort Riley, Kan., Cavalry School, has been training Army jumpers since 1906.

He prefers the older jumpers among the 515 horses in the cavalry school. His animals, rated among the best in their class, are not placed in training until they are 4 or 5 years old.

Dick Waring and Babe Wharton, two of the horses ridden by the United States Olympic team at Los Angeles, are 15 years old.

ENGLAND VICTOR

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—England today defeated Ireland, 3-0, in their annual football match.

Johnson Seeks Easy Marks In Germany

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, is going to Germany to pick up some easy marks.

The giant Negro, now 54 years old, plans to sail a week from today to appear in boxing and wrestling exhibitions. He is unable to appear in most states in this country because of the National Boxing Association's age limit.

ROONEYS WIN; PAPALES TIE WEST VIEW

Two hectic battles in the Western Pennsylvania Independent Gridiron Conference yesterday afternoon found the East Liberty Papales and West View battling to a scoreless tie at West View Park, and the J. P. Rooneys keeping their two-year undefeated record intact by defeating the Dan Burns Club, 7 to 0, at Greenlee Field, before the largest crowd of the season.

Two powerful lines at West View nullified the efforts of the backfields to score.

CONTEST THRILLER

The game at Greenlee Field was a thriller. Burns hardly deserved to lose. Harp Vaughan, probably the hardest playing halfback in the Conference, saved the game for the Rooneys, his thrilling tackle of Berkman in the third period when the Burns captain was clear of the Rooney line, won the game for the Big Green machine.

It had been a nip-and-tuck battle until the half, with the Rooneys having a slight edge. But the tide changed in the third period. The Big Green plowed down the field to the Burns five-yard line, where the Black and White line stiffened and held for downs.

Berkman then put his machine in high gear, hitting the tackles hard and carried the ball down to the Rooney 18-yard line, only to lose the ball. Following an exchange of punts in the final period, Burns again was in possession of the ball in Rooney territory. Harp Vaughan intercepted a pass, and led by Mose Kelsh, the champions smashed their way down the field with Jimmy Clark going over the line. Jimmy Rooney kicked the extra point.

YALE LOSES TWO STARS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Felix Hughes, Eli football player who was carried off the gridiron on a stretcher during Saturday's Yale-Brown game, will be unable to play during the rest of the season because of a twisted knee.

Hughes was converted from a fullback to an end for the Brown game. Coach Mal Stevens said a knee injury will also keep Joe Crowley, regular halfback, out of the Army game Saturday.

Jack Heston Out With Broken Leg

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—An X-ray examination has revealed that Jack Heston, University of Michigan halfback, suffered a leg fracture in Saturday's game with Ohio State at Columbus.

Heston, son of Willie Heston, a gridiron immortal, received his injury late in the game when several tacklers hit him at once. Physicians said a bone in his right leg was cracked and ligaments near the ankle joints severely torn. He is out of play for the remainder of the season.

Another casualty is Stanley Fay, also a halfback, who suffered either a fractured rib or a muscle strain and probably will be out of the lineup for two weeks or more.

Big Star for State

WILLIAM P. LOHR . . . AT PEAK AGAINST HARVARD

Penn State halfback, who starred in the Lions' 46-13 defeat by Harvard Saturday, scoring one touchdown on a run and throwing forward passes that brought the other one and presented several more scoring opportunities. This is an International News Photo Service picture.

TITLE LOOMS FOR MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The Wolverines, of Michigan, co-sharers of the Big Ten gridiron championship for the last two years, have sunk their claws deeper into the 1932 title.

The Wolverines, victorious over Northwestern and Ohio State, meet Illinois at Ann Arbor Saturday and if they get past the Illini, they undoubtedly will have clear sailing to championship honors. Michigan conquered its traditional foe, Ohio State, Saturday, 14 to 0, and in doing so avenged the Wolverines' only Conference defeats in the last two years. Both Michigan scores were the result of passes with Harry Newman firing them in the first half. From then on the Wolverines settled back to protect that margin to wage a defensive battle.

While Michigan will be attempting to conquer Illinois, six other Big Ten teams will continue the elimination conquest Saturday. Purdue and Northwestern will meet at Evanston in what will be the most important game.

The result promises to be a toss up. Northwestern's 26-to-0 triumph over Illinois indicates the Wildcats have found their sense of direction and possess the necessary power to give Purdue a terrific battle. Purdue conquered a surprisingly strong Wisconsin team, 7 to 6, presenting a line that was able to take care of itself both on defense and offense.

In the other games of Saturday, Chicago will encounter its first Western Conference opposition in meeting the highly efficient Indiana eleven at Stagg Field. Iowa will be host to Minnesota at Iowa City in what promises to be a very disastrous homecoming for the Hawkeyes.

AUBURN LEADS SCORING RACE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Auburn's touchdown machine has taken the lead in scoring among the nation's undefeated and untied football elevens.

The Southern Conference eleven has piled up 162 points and held the opposition to seven in winning four successive games. Harvard's 152 points entitle the Crimson to second place in this list. Fordham is third with 151; Colgate fourth with 150 and Pitt fifth with 138. The leaders follow:

Alekhine, Kashdan Tie in Chess Play

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The eighth round of the international chess masters' tournament, contested here last night, resulted in victories for Dr. Alexander Alekhine, of Paris, and Isaac Hashdan, of New York, the two leaders.

Dr. Alekhine, had the white side of a queen's pawn opening against J. Brunner, of Mexico City, and won easily in 22 moves. In addition the world champion scored at the expense of Dr. J. Asiain, of Mexico, in their game adjourned from the seventh round, thereby taking first place along with Kashdan with a score of 7½-½ each.

Kashdan, playing the black pieces, adopted the Cambridge Springs defense to the queen's gambit declined, to outmaneuver M. Acevedo, of Mexico, in 28 moves.

The standing:

Alekhine, 7½—½; Kashdan, 7½—½; Araiza, 5½—2½; Asiain, 4½—3½; Gonzales, 4—4; Medina, 3—4; Vazquez, 2½—4½; Acevedo, 2-6; Soto-Larrea, 1½—5½; Brunner, 0-7.

TWO PROS TIED FOR MEDAL

Perry Del Vecchio, of Greensburg, and Ted Luther, of Valley Heights, were tied for the medalist honors in the annual tri-state professionals' golf championship at Longue Vue today, each scoring a 74.

Three were tied for the sixteenth place in the match-play competition, Jimmy Devlin, of Nemacolin, winning the playoff. The cards of the two leaders:

Del Vecchio's card:

George McBride, Country Club	45	39—84

Pairings for the match play competition, which is being played this afternoon, follow:

UPPER BRACKET

Ludes vs. Underwood; Sutherland vs. Luther, Johnstone vs. McBride and Nelson Zimmerman vs. Tobias.

LOWER BRACKET

Vellcan vs. Jewett, E. Loeffler vs. Del Vecchio, D. McKay vs. Devlin and Manning vs. Eldred.

In the prelude of the tournament, the pros teamed up with Fox Chapel amateurs yesterday in Scotch foursomes, Jimmy O'Donnell, Churchill Valley, and R. S. McClintic, winning with a 67.

George M. Laughlin III, playing with Dr. E. A. Pitcairn, William H. Schoen and Bennett Oliver, scored an eagle 2 on the 350-yard fourteenth hole, the first time the feat has been accomplished.

K. M. Day was the winner of the match play against par tourney at Stanton Heights, finishing 4 up. M. LeBosquet, Jr., and Miss Bartholomew led a field of 23 foursomes in the mixed two-ball event at the Pittsburgh Country Club with a 69.

State, Syracuse Series Unique

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 17.—Penn State and Syracuse will be shooting at the record book with both barrels when they meet here Saturday for their annual football game.

This series, now extending to the eleventh game, is one of the most unusual in football history for any rivals. In the 10 games played to date neither team has exceeded a score of 10 points, nor has the total for both teams ever exceeded 15 points.

Two scoreless ties and one 6-to-1 tie have helped to keep the scoring down. Syracuse has won five of the 10 games, State two, with the other three ending in deadlocked scores.

LION BOOTERS END TRIP

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 17.—The Penn State soccer team will complete a strenuous two-game trio in the East today when it plays Springfield College on the latter's home field. The Lion booters played Harvard on Saturday as a companion opponent for the football team which faced the Crimson.

ICEMEN BEGIN TRAINING

OSHAWA, Ont., Oct. 17.—(INS.)—The New York Americans and their farm team, the New Haven Eagles, begin hockey training today at Oshawa, Ont. Ronnie Martin, formerly of Buffalo, of the International League, and Rip Milks, late of the Rangers, are among the newcomers.

PATRICK McGOWAN DIES

BRANFORD, Conn., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Patrick McGowan, 70, father of Branch McGowan, manager of the Baltimore baseball team of the International League, died yesterday. McGowan had resided here 25 years. He became ill Saturda.

Buckeye Star End Out of Pitt Game

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 17.—Ohio State will enter its game against Pitt at Pittsburgh next Saturday with Junie Ferrall, left end, missing from his position as a result of injuries suffered in the game with Michigan here Saturday. Ferrall was assisted from that fray with one of his knees hurt.

Regis Monahan, tackle from Pittsburgh, also was carried from the field, but will be able to play again this week. He was bumped on the head, but recovered soon afterward.

HELLER HOLDS SCORING LEAD IN DISTRICT

Warren Heller, Pitt's crack halfback, continues to lead the Western Pennsylvania college football scoring parade, thanks to his efforts against the Army Saturday, but Izzy Weinstock, Pitt fullback has been displaced as runnerup to his teammate by Shorty Troiana, of Geneva. Shorty scored two touchdowns against St. Vincent's last Friday night to take second place with 26 points.

Weinstock, counting once against Army, is third with 25, and Bob Deacle, of Wash-Jeff; Kavel, of Tech, and Harry Johnson, of St. Vincents, are engaged in a three-way tie for fourth with 24 points each.

Ten newcomers joined the scoring ranks over the week-end, the new members of the touchdown club being Strutt and Krankota, of the Dukes; Skladany, of Pitt; Snyder, of Thiel; Arrowsmith, of Edinboro; McCracken, Ross, Mancuso, and Currie, of Waynesburg, and Bill Staples, Westminster fullback. The records follow:

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENT IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—The stock market was a lifeless affair today, with prices inclined to some heaviness, but trading slow and largely professional.

The list eased off 1 to 2 points during the first hour, recovered most of its loss in the second hour, but again drifted lower in the third. A somewhat steadier tone developed in wheat, which may have tended to bolster stocks a little.

Net losses of a point or so were numerous during the early decline, with a few issues down 2 or more. After recovering, the list again drifted off, but in the main held above the lows of the morning.

Cheap money remained one of the bullish talking points in Wall street, with call loans again renewing at 1 per cent. When money was reduced to 1 per cent some months ago, substantial withdrawals resulted, but the current experiment with the low rate has not had that effect, so plentiful is the supply of short term funds. Bankers pointed out, however, that cheap money is likely to be effective in bolstering prices and stimulating business only when other conditions favor, and that its effects are likely to be gradual.

Offsetting the easy money factor, market analysts pointed out, was the expectation that industrial earnings reports for the third quarter, soon to appear in large numbers, would be disappointing in many instances. United States Steel's report, due a week from tomorrow, is receiving considerable discussion. Steel quarters pointed out that the low rate of operations clearly foreshadowed a large deficit. What Wall street is chiefly interested in is whether the directors will regard the recent improvement in general conditions as of sufficient proportions to justify payment of further preferred dividends from surplus.

The first of the important weekly carloadings reports to appear was that of Santa Fe, which showed 29,291 cars handled during the week ended October 15, another increase, for the total the previous week was 27,441 cars.

U.S. NEAR WORLD WHEAT PARITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Dow, Jones & Co. (Wall Street Journal) said today that for the first time in nearly two years "the United States appears on the verge of being able to re-enter the world wheat export markets on a competitive basis," a development that is considered "possibly the most constructive single factor in the present wheat outlook."

At present Liverpool wheat, in American funds, is roughly 7½ cents over the corresponding price, the analysis said, although normally exporters figure the cost of shipping a bushel of wheat from Chicago to Liverpool at about 12 cents. In seaboard quarters "important factors indicated that there was a good chance of business developing should the spread rise to only 10 cents."

Greece is bidding fairly heavily for American winter wheat from the gulf, with premiums for number one dark hard going to as much as eight cents over Chicago December paid. This represents the highest premium on the present crop, with very little offered at this level.

Another constructive factor, the analysis stated, was the rise in Canadian dollars which recently were at a 10 per cent discount. This means about a two cent improvement in Canadian wheat prices on 50 cent grain in American funds.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company (Chicago) and subsidiaries, report for September quarter shows consolidated net income of $773,620, after interest, taxes and depreciation, equal to $1.13 a share on 686,492 shares outstanding in hands of the public at the end of the period. The 714,795 shares reported outstanding at the end of the June quarter, included shares owned by a subsidiary. This compares with net income of $947,549, adjusted to current basis for accounting, or $1.51 a share on 626,357 shares outstanding in the third quarter of 1931.

Madison Square Garden Corporation had net loss of $156,144 in the quarter ended August 31, compared with loss of $214,853 in the same period in 1931. These figures do not include operations of the Ice Bowl, Madison Square Garden Corporation, a partly owned subsidiary, which lost $35,893 in the 1932 quarter, against loss of $33,946 a year ago.

Penick and Ford and subsidiaries report for the September quarter profit of $339,187 after depreciation, etc., but before federal taxes, compared with $1,463,826 in the preceding quarter and $208,491 in the third quarter of 1931. Nine months profit before federal taxes was $858,846, comparing with $840,355 in the first nine months of 1931.

American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Company and subsidiaries report for the September quarter net profit of $5,540 after taxes, interest, depreciation and depletion, compared with net loss of $29,450 in the preceding quarter, and net profit of $68,980 in the third quarter, 1931. For nine months net loss amounted to $39,816 against net profit of $325,014 in the first nine months of 1931.

Industrial Rayon Corporation reports for the September quarter net loss of $96,115, after taxes, depreciation, interest, etc., comparing with net loss of $292,461 in the preceding quarter and net income of $333,109 in the third quarter of 1931. Nine months net loss totals $210,928 against net income of $397,971 a year previous.

Alpha Portland Cement Company reports for 12 months ended September 30 net loss of $1,432,285 against net loss of $382,975 in the 12 months ended September 30, 1931.

Forbes

Main Trend Is Still Upwards, Though Uneven

—By B. C. FORBES—

B. C. Forbes

MID-OCTOBER finds the United States, although only three weeks from a presidential election, moving, on the whole, in the right direction.

STOCK quotations closed the week with net gains. Commodity prices suffered moderate recessions.

Irregularity characterized the week's economic developments. However, the favorable outweighed unfavorable events.

Such a showing immediately preceding presidential voting which may bring in a new administration, must be regarded as encouraging.

PERHAPS THE MOST reassuring and impressive circumstance is that trade, industrial, telephone, utility and monetary changes reflect continued modest increase in activity.

Colder weather has stimulated retail buying, and retailers have discovered that wholesale and factory supplies of merchandise are embarrassingly meager. On Saturday the railroads reported another increase in car loadings which, though slight, is sufficient to mark a trend totally different from that current 12 months ago. Leading railway systems announce somewhat better net earnings, achieved, however, in part by reduction in employes to less than 1,000,000 for the country's railroads, a low total not matched since 1898.

Building permits show their first gain in almost two years. The steel corporation's unfilled orders scored a second monthly increase following decreases for 16 consecutive months. American Telephone is now disconnecting fewer telephones and adding an increasing number of new customers.

Business failures are less numerous. The decrease in new life insurance is now smaller than at any time since early this year. Cotton consumption expanded last month and finished goods on hand are officially described as the lowest on record.

MONEY RATES in New York have fallen to unprecedentedly low levels. Not only are day-to-day loans abundantly available at 1 per cent, but, still more remarkable, funds are obtainable up to four months at ¾ of 1 per cent—a year ago the rate was 3 per cent. Choice commercial paper is discounted at less than half the cost a year ago. Gold continues to pile up.

Banks and bankers must live. They cannot live on the rates now available in Wall street, or on short term treasury obligations. It will be logical for them to begin buying bonds. Commercial borrowers should also find bankers more responsive.

Proverbially, super-abundance of excessively cheap money brings about trade and industrial expansion. While political uncertainties may interfere temporarily, the indications are that economic history in this respect is likely to repeat itself.

WHAT OF CONDITIONS and prospects abroad?

An inspiring verdict is rendered by H. R. Knickerbocker, capable New York Evening Post correspondent, on concluding a comprehensive tour of investigation throughout Europe. Thus:

"Commodity prices have shown gains.

"Stock prices have climbed.

"The capital market is reviving.

"National bankruptcies have ceased.

"Revolution does not come into serious consideration.

"War is more remote than ever.

"Most of the great countries have balanced their budgets.

"Currencies no longer collapse.

"Every government makes return to gold its aim.

"Trade barriers have ceased to grow like mushrooms.

"World commerce has flattened out its downward trend.

"International payments are balancing.

"The trend to national self-sufficiency is checked.

"Reparations are settled.

"Most of Europe's 400,000,000 are living better than ever before."

IT IS UNTHINKABLE that Americans should, no matter what happens politically, again give way to abject, unreasoning hysteria. Economic forces are more powerful than political influences. And, happily, economic forces here, and throughout the world, on the whole, are on the mend.

STEEL AWAITS R. R. ORDERS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Steel production advanced half a point to 19½ per cent last week, but the rising curve which has put the steel rate up six points in six weeks appears to be flattening out, the magazine Steel said today. The survey continued:

"For the substantial market improvement since September 1, small and moderate-size consumers are almost entirely responsible. Any further substantial improvement must originate with tonnage buyers. The railroads loom as the best customers for steel.

"Momentarily the Pennsylvania Railroad is expected to allocate about 15,000 tons of plate for the 1,285 freight cars it will build with Reconstruction Finance Corporation assistance. The Reading, which has bought 1,500 tons for cars, has 2,200 more tons to place. Interstate Commerce Commission approval of an R. F. C. loan to the Baltimore and Ohio will release material for repairing 165 locomotives and 2,500 freight cars and building 820 gondolas —about 20,500 tons."

UNITED CIGARS HELD SOLVENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. — The trustee of the United Cigar Stores Company of America has been ordered by a Federal Court to show cause by tomorrow why the bankruptcy should not be set aside.

The order, result of a petition by the court and Montague Realty Corporation, of Brooklyn, was obtained last Thursday and a copy served on counsel for the Irving Trust Company, trustee, but its existence was not immediately made public.

The petition charged the bankruptcy had been sought for the sole purpose of voiding valid leases and alleged that the company is and always has been solvent.

The realty company asserts that the cigar company had combined assets and liabilities of about $9,000,000 on the day it went into bankruptcy.

A restraining order appended to the show cause order seeks to prevent scheduled hearings before a referee on motions by the trustee to disaffirm 60 leases in various cities.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Further mild irregularities made for a rather jumbled bond market today and indifferent trading generally held transactions to a minimum. Germany and Australian obligations were unsettled. Britsh 5½s again improved, as did Brazilian 6½s and Austrian 7s. Japanese bonds were a trifle lower. United States Government loans were moderately firmer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000, omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

ADDITIONAL SPORTS NEWS

PANTHERS RANK WITH ELITE OF EAST

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Here's how the struggles for sectional football championships shape up now as the nation's leading elevens approach the halfway point of the 1932 season.

East—Pittsburgh, Colgate, Columbia, Holy Cross, Harvard, Fordham, Penn, New York U., Temple, Brown and Boston College, among major schools, all unbeaten and untied but Pitt, Colgate and Fordham, look most powerful right now.

PITT FACES O. S. U.

Pitt, which upset Army, 18-13, Saturday, meets Ohio State of Big Ten this week, while Colgate and N. Y. U. meet in a test of undefeated machines. Fordham plays Michigan State and Harvard battles Dartmouth in other big-time games, while Penn, Columbia, Holy Cross and Brown face lesser opposition. Yale looks like a certain loser against Army and Princeton may chalk up its first major victory since 1928 against Navy, which already has been twice beaten.

Midwest—Michigan and Purdue the outstanding contenders for Big Ten honors, both continue Conference competition. Michigan should overcome Illinois without trouble, but Purdue may be in for a warm afternoon against Northwestern's aroused Wildcats. Iowa and Minnesota, Chicago and Indiana are paired off in other Conference games.

Notre Dame, which has rolled up 135 points in two games, will be strongly favored over Carnegie Tech.

Big Six—Only four Conference games have been played so far with Kansas State, Nebraska and Oklahoma now tied for the lead with one victory apiece. Kansas State and Oklahoma clash this week in a game crucial for one and perhaps for both.

Pacific Coast—Southern California and Stanford are matched in the week's headliner at Palo Alto and the result probably will determine which shall win the rule of the Coast Conference this year. Stanford has the more impressive early-season record for Southern California was disappointing against both Oregon State and Loyola, of Los Angeles.

LEADERS CLASH

South—A much less interesting schedule this week than last with the battle of two undefeated leaders, Kentucky and Virginia Poly, the feature. Auburn, another of the unbeaten pace-setters, meets a stern test in Tulane, which was tied by Vanderbilt last week.

Tennessee, conqueror of Alabama, and generally regarded as the most serious threat for the Southern Conference crown, eases up in a game with Maryville.

GRINS From the GRID

By O. W. (Red) Severence

Noted Southern Football Official. (Written for Associated Press.)

Vic Hanson, head coach at Syracuse University, still gets a chuckle out of this unforgettable wisecrack from his great pair of ends—George Ellert and Abe Stoneberg.

The pair were forever together on the gridiron, in class and at play, and for six successive years had fought together on the same teams—two years at Cushing Academy and four at Syracuse.

Fall practice rolled around for their final season, and, on the third day of practice, the whole squad was beginning to wilt under the terrific heat and the steady grind.

Ellert and Stoneberg in particular were fagged after the long workout, and Coach Hanson waved them over to the water bucket at the edge of the field for a drink and a brief rest.

Stoneberg dropped on his hands and knees in exhaustion, stuck his face and neck into the bucket and emerged a moment later dripping a combination of sweat, dirt and water.

Turning to Ellert he growled:

"No son of mine will ever play this game."

Ellert sweetly replied:

"Well, Abe, in that case they will be taking right after their old man."

LOCAL PIGEON RACE VICTOR

Emma, a red hen from the loft of J. A. Walter, was the Pittsburgh winner in the race of approximately 10,000 racing pigeons from 15 states liberated in Washington, D. C., a week ago yesterday. The birds had to face a stiff head wind in the flight over the mountains.

Repeater, owned by T. J. Fulton, finished second, according to the report of the Greater Pittsburgh Center.

Garden to Resume With Herrera Bout

This is just another Monday without a boxing show being scheduled in the Pittsburgh district, the third in a row. Motor Square Garden will take care of the matter by staging a Tony Herrera-Battling Gizzy battle in its arena next Monday night, and scheduling weekly Monday night shows thereafter.

Meanwhile Matchmaker Lew Raymond, of the Arena, on the North Side, is rounding out a card of three six-round preliminaries for his fourth show, scheduled Friday night and featuring two heavyweights, George Panka, of Homestead, and Charley Belanger, of Canada, in the main bout.

Young Fighter Commits Suicide

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Almer Williams, 16, a boxer, died here yesterday in the fighting trunks he loved so well, and left a written request to "bury me as I am."

The youth was found shot to death in the bedroom of his parents' home with a bullet hole through his head and a pistol aad the note lying nearby. Officers said he committed suicide.

Williams recently returned from a series of boxing engagements on the Pacific Coast.

La Barba Gets Win Over Little Dempsey

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 17.—(AP.)—Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, former flyweight champion, now fighting in the featherweight division, took a 10-round decision from Little Dempsey, of Manila, in a fast bout here Saturday night.

The fight was put on in the rain and Dempsey fought barefooted from the thrid round on. La Barba won seven rounds, but was forced to give his best throughout. There were no knockdowns.

Traynor Named Coach at Canisius

BUFFALO, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Mike Traynor, former Canisius fullback, today headed the 1932 college football team as coach. He succeeds Gene Oberst, former Notre Dame star, who took command of the Eams in 1931. Authorities of Canisius, in announcing the change in coaches, declined to comment.

Bancroft Severs Giant Connection

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS.)—Dave Bancroft, assistant manager of the New York Giants baseball club, has severed connections with Bill Terry's outfit, it was reported today.

Dan Howley will get the job if his negotiations for the Toronto franchise of the International League are unsuccessful, it was said.

VALENTINE

Captivating Story of a Shy Girl Rushed Into Love

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Val Decides to Use Money To Help Aunt Instead Of Getting Divorce

CHAPTER XLIX.

Aunt Julia waited on Val, fussed over her, cooked for her, just the same as ever.

But she wasn't the same. She was sallow, her skin was leathery, and her china blue eyes behind the same old gold-rimmed spectacles seemed to have sunk in their sockets.

"Aunt Julia, why don't you let me help?"

"You run along. You never did a lick of anything around this place, and you're not going to start in now!"

No, Val thought, and maybe I'd be better off if I had...

Aunt Julia's tongue never stopped. She talked, talked, talked. She must have been very lonely, Val realized with a pang of remorse. That was why she had written those long letters beginning:

"I am sitting in the sewing room, writing."

Or, "It is now 8 o'clock and I thought I would get a letter off to you, before going to bed."

Poor Aunt Julia...Val was ashamed of herself, remembering how impatiently she had scanned the long, carefully written letters. Well, she'd make up for all that...

"Did I tell you the rig up Mrs. Carey had on the day she got married?" Aunt Julia, continuing her endless monologue, licked her lips as she came to this spicy bit.

"No, but I can imagine—"

"No, you can't. Wait till I tell you. But the worst was getting rid of her family, one by one, throwing them overboard like rats off a sinking ship—"

SLOW IN EXPLAINING

Val laughed. "Like what?"

"Like rats leaving a—Val, you know perfectly well what I mean! I think you're real mean to laugh at me!"

And then Aunt Julia showed all her big, uneven teeth in one of her old-time laughs, and for a moment Val forgot that anything was changed.

They went to the movies, they stopped at the Sweet Shoppe, rechristened The Sign of the Fawn, and had their ice cream sodas. Aunt Julia still bought "something to chew on" and crunched peanut taffy all through the love scenes.

Sometimes Val found herself wondering what she'd say when she found out how her own love scene had ended... probably be glad, she'd never liked men, though she did warm up to Joe a little toward the end. Yes, and when she found out that there was going to be a divorce, and a remarriage she'd have a lot to say.

Once or twice she tried to lead up to it, but Aunt Julia never gave her any help, always seemed to assume that she had just come home for a visit, and would be going back soon.

Lester's telephone calls were a problem. Lester telephoned twice from Los Angeles. It was hard to be responsive to him, and still not to worry Aunt Julia.

AUNT DISAPPROVES

The second time he called Aunt Julia said: "That sounded like a man's voice, Val Macfarlane, that silly Joe Carey wasn't long-distancing you from Minneapolis?"

"No, of course not."

"Well! I should hope not. Hmm, with times as hard as they are. Perfect waste of money. Well, who was it?"

"Lester Sherwood. You remember him, don't you? You used to like him.

"Nonsense. And you better not go telephoning to any men or people will talk about you. I won't have that. You're a married woman, Val, and that's one thing I did for you, I taught you to know right from wrong. I don't know what lax ideas you picked up from your mother, but I won't have it in MY house!"

It was all very embarrassing. Val tried to explain, but Aunt Julia would have none of it.

"Now no modern ideas. I go to the movies and read the newspapers. I know all about it. And I tell you I still know right from wrong. Now, none of that, Val Macfarlane!"

Every day she used to stand out front, waiting for the postman. Finaly she said, "I've been expecting to hear from your mother. I wired her about some business. Funny she hasn't answered."

Val felt ashamed for Millie. She should have answered, even if she couldn't help.

"What kind of business, Aunt Julia? Could I help?"

"You? Mercy no, you have no head for business. Never did."

"If it's about money——"

"Who said it was?"

"Well, you know what I heard about the house, and I thought—"

"Never mind thinking. I answered you. Now, Val, when I want advice on business I'll ask for it . . . would you rather have broiled chicken or squabs tonight? Which?"

RETICENT ABOUT TROUBLE

If it weren't for the veiled comments of the neighbors, the Clarksons especially, Val would have thought she had been imagining things, and nothing was wrong at all.

But one day Aunt Julia said briskly, "Now, Val, I don't want to rush you, but I don't want you to stay away from Joe too long. It isn't right. You better leave on the first."

"I hadn't planned to go that soon. Wednesday's the first, I thought I'd stay until Friday."

Aunt Julia's lined face lengthened.

"The first would be better. Come to think of it, the 30th would be better. You can get ready to go on Tuesday. Nonsense! A married woman's place is with her husband. You would get married, now you act married . . . idea, humph!"

That afternoon she put on her old blue coat and sailor hat, definitely shabby now, and went down town, leaving Val alone.

A few moments after she had gone a Mr. Swayne, a contractor, called. He was to see about some improvements in the house, he said. Val led him around. It was not until he was ready to leave that she realized what should have been plain enough at first. It was not for Aunt Julia that the improvements were to be made. It was for the new people who were coming in.

That night Val was silent, pre-occupied. At 10 o'clock Aunt Julia, grimmer, more tight lipped than ever, went to bed.

LESTER ANGERED

At 12 Lester telephoned.

"Lester, I've been thinking all day long. I can't go to Reno now. I—"

"What?"

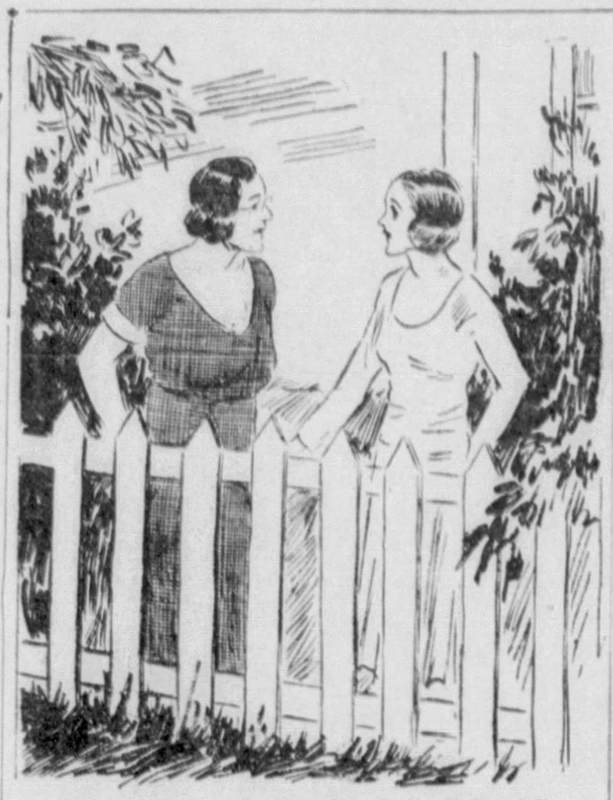
"I found out that it was just as I feared. Aunt Julia is going to lose the place. I can't stand by and see that. The money should reach me tomorrow or the next day, and I'm going to go down to the bank and see what I can do. The seven hundred will tide things over, and if I stay here, and pay board I'll get her on her feet again. I'm sure I can get my old job back, and it isn't as though it were permanent. I'll save and in a year, maybe less, we can—"

Icy cold Lester's voice came over the wire: "In a year we can be married—maybe. If Aunt Julia doesn't need any more help. In other words I'm being sacrificed for dear Aunt Julia."

"But, Les, what can I do? I've only so much money."

There was another silence. "If you are suggesting that I pay for the divorce—"

"Lester!"



"I don't want you to stay away from Joe," said Aunt Julia.

"If you are, I'm sorry to say that I can't. Not right now, while things are so dull. But I tell you, Val, you can get it from your mother. She'll give it to you."

"No, she hasn't got it. She had to turn Aunt Julia down."

"Oh, yeah? She's got a fortune in jewels and furs and stuff. She could raise five hundred tomorrow and still have enough to outfit a prima donna—which she isn't."

"Oh, no, I couldn't ask her to—"

"Why not? Be sensible. Why shouldn't we cash in? You know what she's doing with her money. Why shouldn't we have it instead of that boy-gigolo of hers?"

"Lester!"

"I'm very serious, Val. I've loved you for a good many years. You made a monkey out of me once. I made up my mind you'd never have the chance again. You did it, but, by God, twice is enough. This is your last chance. I mean it—"

She was breathing hard . . . the world was slipping away, the world of her hopes, her dreams.

But she couldn't fail Aunt Julia. It simply wouldn't be human.

"Les, I can't help it this time—"

"I told you how you could get the money."

"No, I couldn't do that, Millie is—you don't understand Millie. She—"

"I've got her number, I know all about her."

"Lester, if you love me you'll wait. You must. It won't be long. I'll work, and—"

"Then I'll see your mother, if you're afraid to. First thing in the morning. I'll tell her what trees make shingles!"

"Lester!" Her voice was shrill. "I won't have it!"

Another silence.

"Make up your mind. This is a long distance call, and I don't own any stock in the telephone company. Yes or no? Do you go to Reno, or don't you?"

"No!"

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Grantland's Old Devotion for Madge Still Alive

The satisfied smirk which is popularly supposed to belong to the "cat that swallowed the canary" and the tiger that "returned from the ride with a lady inside" would have acknowledged itself outclassed if it could have seen the smile that wreathed the lips of Avis Arlen as Ronald asked her to dance.

Now was the first time I ever had danced with Hugh, and for a little space I gave myself up to the sheer delight of the perfect rhythm with which his steps fitted mine. Like most army men, he dances divinely, and whether because our steps naturally fitted, or because of his skill in making it appear so, there have been but few dances in my life, and those with Dicky, which I have enjoyed more.

We danced in silence for a few minutes, Hugh holding me with a deferential aloofness which characterized the dancing of the years preceding the jazz orgy. Then, as we rounded a turn, Sam Brixton, whose manner of dancing reminds one irresistibly of a kangaroo, swung Katherine around so clumsily that Hugh saved me from a collision only by catching me close to him.

It was a fiercely protective yet tender clasp, and with my head pressed involuntarily against his shoulder, I heard a quick indrawn breath and wondered if I imagined that his drooping head above mine had masked a quick, surreptitious brushing of his lips against my hair.

HUGH APOLOGIZES

"Do you know," he said hoarsely, "that we never have danced together before?"

We were away from Sam Brixton's bumping now, and without making it obvious I drew back ever so slightly from that close embrace, for it was nothing else, and I knew only too well what would be Dicky's reaction if he should notice it. Hugh's arms relaxed at once into the conventional clasp with which he had held me before, but his voice was still low and broken.

"Forgive me!" he said. "I did not mean—"

I smiled up at him, determined to drag this conversation to a lighter note.

"What nonsense," I said. "Forgive you because you saved me from being knocked down by the energetic Mr. Brixton? You are entitled to a vote of thanks."

There was no smile, however, in the eyes that looked down into mine. Pain was in them, and infinite tenderness, but no mirth.

"Don't look up at me like that," he muttered. "I can't stand it."

I averted my eyes at once, of course, and frantically tried to find speech which would be impersonal.

"Do you like the decorations?" I asked banally, but was rewarded by the quick little gasp of relief that he involuntarily gave.

EXPLAINS ABOUT MARION

"They are lovely," he said quickly, and then we chatted of impersonal things for several rounds of the floor. But there was always between us that sense of tenseness, of emotion kept in leash, and I think Hugh was as glad as I to quit the dancing floor when, long before the dance was ended, I mendaciously told him that I was tired.

He brought me back to my table, sat down in Mr. Veritzen's vacant seat, and for a few moments watched the dancers in silence.

"Who is that middle-aged man dancing with Mrs. Underwood's daughter?" he asked suddenly, as Marion came into view in Charles Owen's arms.

I had a sudden inspiration, and when Marion had passed and I had identified Charles Owen to him, I briefly outlined to him the problem which we were facing with Marion, and the little comedy which Ronald and Mary were acting for her benefit.

"Do you think it has had the desired effect?" he asked. "She looked very much interested in his conversation as she passed us."

"That tells nothing at all," I said, smiling slightly at his appraisal of this modern younger generation. "These modern girls always wear the same mask when talking to men. It takes a searing emotion or a cataclysmic event to startle them into natural behavior. But we are leaving no stone unturned to bring Marion to her senses. I wonder"—I hesitated—"if you would do something rather—odd—to help the cause along?"

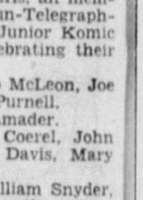
SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB



Many members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club are enthusiastic Stamp Collectors, in the juvenile class. They read the Sun-Telegraph stamp club news in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph and several are members of this organization. Manager Zillor of the Enright has so many collectors in his chapter that he is planning a Stamp Collectors' Day for the near future at which prizes will be given for the largest and most interesting collection.

The youngsters also are collecting commemorative cachets and scores of them are planning to send for the special design to be affixed to mail aboard the United States Frigate "Constitution" (Old Ironsides), on National Navy Day, October 27. Every child of school age is familiar with the history of "Old Ironsides" which was originally built in 1797 and fought many thrilling battles at sea in the earlier wars of the United States.

Through the contribution of the pennies of the school children of the nation she was reconditioned a few years ago and is now looked upon as a patriotic shrine.

The "Constitution" is at the Navy Yard, Washington, as a part of the Washington Bicentennial Celebration. Members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club who want this historic souvenir cachet should self-address and stamp an envelope (3-cent) and place it in another envelope addressed to Harry Moore, mail clerk, United States Frigate "Constitution," Navy Yard, Washington, D. C. When your envelope reaches the Navy Yard, the cachet will be affixed thereto, your stamp will get the "Constitution" Postoffice cancellation on it and the envelope will be remailed to you on October 27. And you will want to keep it as long as you live, as it not only is a mememto of "Old Ironsides" but also as a souvenir of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

ENRIGHT CONTESTS

On Saturday several contests were held for the Enright members and many valuable prizes were awarded to the winners.

After the reading of the club pledge and the singing of "America" the first of these contests was a rope jumping contest for boys which gave the girls many a laugh. The winner was Joe Fox, and he was awarded a large pumpkin pie.

Following the jumping contest the Enright dancing school, under the able direction of Miss Ruthie Miller, held sway on the large Enright stage for more than a half hour. To the most attentive pupil, Jane Fisher, went a large orange cake.

Then came the dodge ball game with the boys competing against the girls and then the girls against the boys. The winner in the boys class, Alfred Pagano, received a set of agate marbles, and Rita Behm, who won for the girls, was awarded a pencil set.

To the youngest boy attending Saturday's meeting, who was Vincent Manella, went one set of garden tools and to the youngest girl a set of toy furniture. The girl awarded the furniture was little Miss Sally Blane, named after that famous movie actress.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Congratulations to the following boys and girls, all members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, who are celebrating their birthdays today:

South Hills: Leo McLeon, Joe Salisbury, James Purnell.

Rowland: Leo Amader.

Belmar: James Coerel, John McCormick, Vera Davis, Mary Sayne.

Etna Harris: William Snyder, Harry Crisper, Dorothy Wandey.

Enright: Bob Smith.

Economist suggests Chicago school teachers be sworn in as tax collectors—so they can collect back pay direct from taxpayers.

Not a bad idea. But it would be more fun watching Congressmen try to collect salaries that way.

"Love Is a Treasure" is the title of today's poem by T. S. Nakano, our Japanese contributor. He sings—

Humans treasure
Is the love!
None gold!
None silver!
It is not honor,
It is not crown!
Love is the human treasure.

The Bench Vacancy

Merit, Not Politics, Should Be the Determining Factor In Filling Judge Swearingen's Place.

Judge Joseph M. Swearingen's resignation from the bench of Common Pleas Court furnishes Gov. Gifford Pinchot an opportunity to do the people of Allegheny County a valuable service. He can render this service by appointing to the vacant post an able, experienced attorney, learned in the law, upright, courageous and free from entangling alliances with political organizations.

Freedom from political obligations is important because we sorely need judges who will have no compunction about sentencing to prison politicians who may be convicted of crime. This need has been called to the citizens' attention very strikingly recently by the discovery that scores of ward heelers found guilty of fraud in the election last year were freed from prison through the leniency of the judges, some of the more prominent of the crooks before they had served a single day. It may or may not be a mere coincidence that most of our judges owe their places to the Republican organization, which has been the principal beneficiary of election cheating.

If Gov. Pinchot follows the usual course in filling the vacancy, we suppose he will consult County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and other persons who have been on his side in political fights, and, guided by their advice, will name for the place someone who they think is entitled to reward for services rendered in these contests.

It would be much better if Gov. Pinchot would leave politics and selfish considerations out, and, instead of consulting professional politicians, would get the advice of the most respected members of the bar and of disinterested citizens of good judgment.

Legislative Questions

Candidates for the General Assembly Should Make Their Positions Known On the Issues.

Straw votes indicate most of the voters in Allegheny County and Pennsylvania will vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate for President. If they have no prejudice against a Democratic President, they will have no prejudice against Democrats in minor offices.

Why do not all the Democratic candidates for the Legislature make a fight? Let them come out and tell where they stand on the issues and make their Republican opponents tell, too.

If the Pittsburghers who intend to vote for Roosevelt take the easy way of voting, and vote a straight ticket, the Democratic candidates for the General Assembly will have a chance to win. They can improve that chance by conducting a vigorous campaign, and especially if they will boldly champion legislation that will improve the condition of the people.

We feel confident that the majority of both the Democratic and Republican candidates from this county are in favor of the repeal of the Blue Law and the Snyder prohibition act. But how about the legislation that has been proposed to cut down the expenses of local government and lighten the taxpayers' burden?

The Community Research Bureau of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board advocates, for example, consolidation of the offices for the assessment and collection of taxes in the city and county, abolition of the office of County Delinquent Tax Collector, with a penalty for tax delinquency of a fixed amount reverting to the county; placing on the tax rolls certain classes of property now exempt, amendment or repeal of the Edmonds act, which fixes the salaries of school teachers, and revision of the present pension system on an actuarial basis, which it is said would result in a saving for the taxpayers.

The Legislature will have to pass on these things. Let the candidates tell where they stand.

Coal Industry Revival

There Is No Branch of Commerce in Which Recovery Is More to Be Welcomed.

Exceptionally gratifying as a piece of good business news is the announcement that coal operations in the Pittsburgh district are showing a sharp increase.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest of the bituminous concerns, is estimated to be operating at 75 per cent of capacity, with about 1,000 more men employed than were employed a month ago. The Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation is reported to be working four of its five mines at capacity.

The coal industry felt the depression several years before commerce in general felt it, and there is no branch of business that stands in greater need of orders.

Of course domestic demand, prompted by the approach of cold weather, partly accounts for the revival; but it seems a reasonable supposition that much of the current activity must also be due to demands from mills and factories which plan to reopen and are laying in a supply of fuel.

Help This Good Work

The Campaign to Save the Y. M. and W. H. A. Deserves Every Pittsburgher's Support.

With Edgar J. Kaufmann as active chairman and Maurice Falk as honorary chairman, a campaign was begun yesterday to raise $60,000 to save the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association. Unless the money is obtained the "Y" will have to close its doors.

Pittsburghers cannot afford to let this campaign fail. The Y. M. and W. H. A. contributes much of value to the whole community. Christians as well as Jews derive benefit from it. The closing of the institution would be a serious misfortune.

The drive is a philanthropic movement which deserves every Pittsburgher's support.

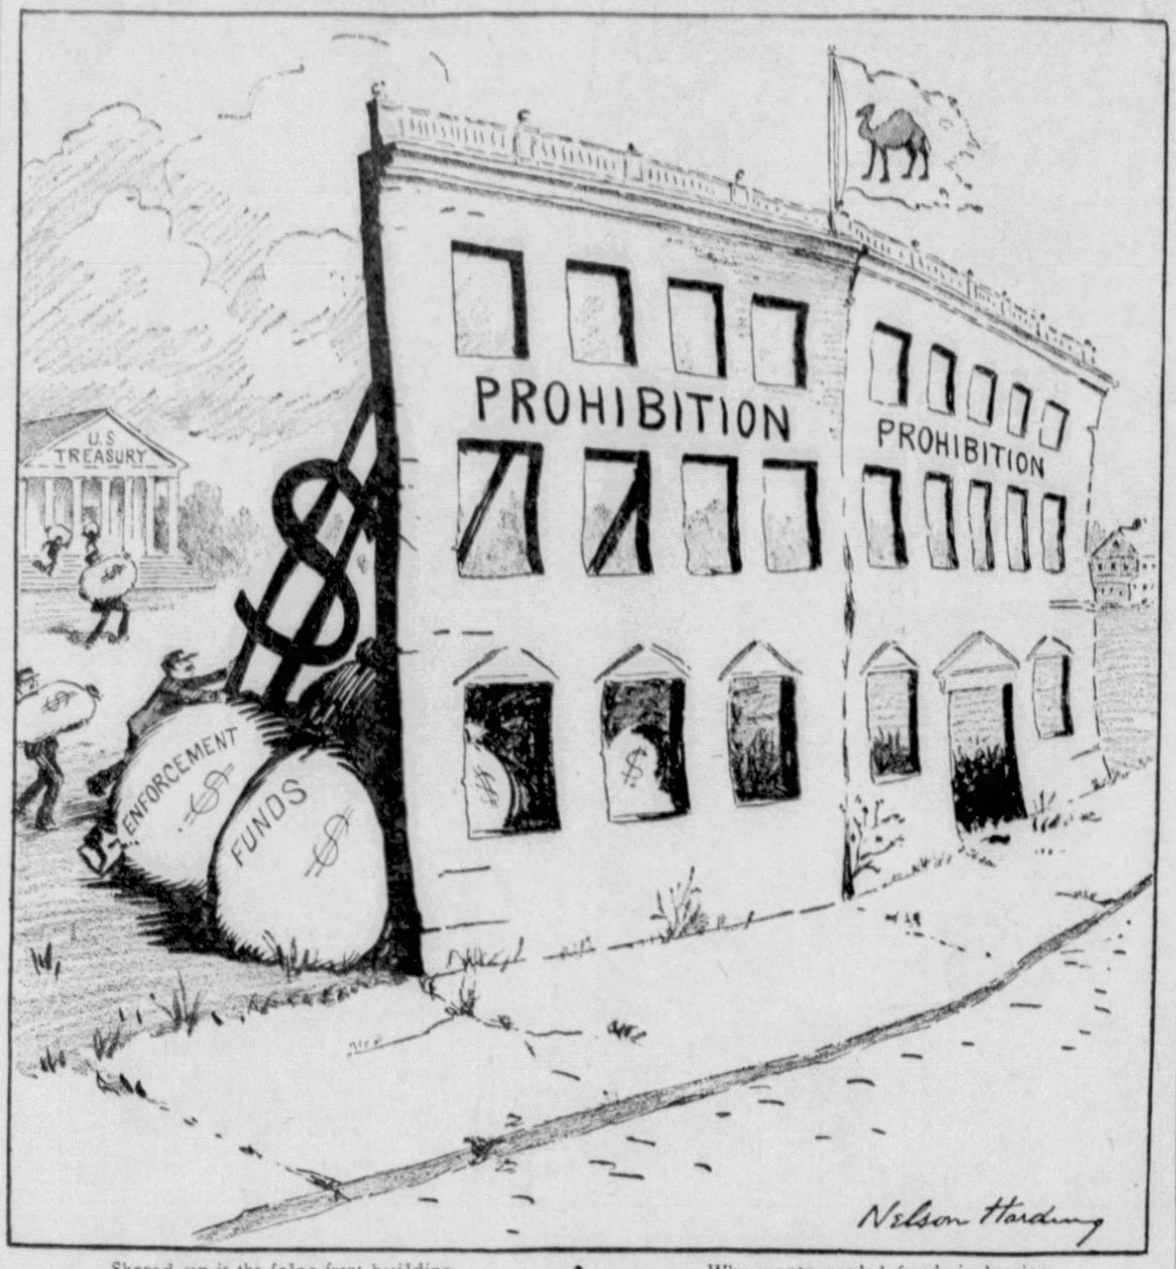
Shoring Up a Shell

By Nelson Harding



Shored up is the false-front building
Of the flimsiest construction,
Standing like a stage illusion;
Just a scene, deceiving no one.

Why waste needed funds in bracing
Bolstering this toppling structure,
Long an empty shell and eyesore,
And condemned to be demolished?

Will Mr. Hoover Blunder Again?

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Only the other day it was announced, hypocritically we knew at the time, that Mr. Hoover's committee would be hard pressed for funds this year. We thought it improbable, because we knew that great exploiting interests like the power combines have too much at stake to remain financially indifferent to the fight.

Then came the announcement that the Hoover Committee, scarcely able to pay house rent, has set aside $2,500,000 for radio talks; and that did not sound like poverty to us. Unfortunately, the proposal of the Hoover group to monopolize the radio, by persuading the various stations to cancel the favorite programs of the people, has not been met with much hilarity.

Here, too, is something on which the people will do well to meditate a bit. If the radio people are eager to turn their stations over to the political party that has the most money, to the exclusion of the other side of the question, because Mr. Roosevelt's party has nothing to sell, we may as well abandon all thought of popular government, and of preserving democratic institutions. It is a subject, too, on which the Democrats, who will be in control after March 4th, might think a bit. In time there will be a limitation on political radio talks and an equal division among the political parties. If the party with the most money is to own the air, that which serves Mammon best will be able to put anything over on the people.

Let Mr. Hoover Answer

With every desire to be helpful, we would suggest that Mr. Hoover explain:

Why for two years he misrepresented and belittled the state of unemployment.

Why his administration juggled the census figures to deceive the nation.

Why he defeated the Wagner employment stabilization bill at the beginning of the crisis.

Why he killed with a pocket veto the Wagner bill for federal co-operation with the states on employment offices.

Why for three years he made a virtue of his assertion that it is "not the American way" to use federal money to prevent starvation of women and children.

Why he has refused to call a conference on labor similar to those he has called on big business.

Why he fought the Wagner public construction bill to the last ditch; surrendered with reluctance after forcing a compromise that reduced the possibility of good; and refused for 10 weeks to turn a wheel to put a man to work when he had it within his power.

Let him answer Al Smith's indictment of his record on unemployment published in the New Outlook.

Let him mention one measure for relief that had its initiation in his administration; or one that was finally accepted that was not forced upon him by the Democrats and Progressive Republicans, backed by the humane sentiment of the nation.

* * *

A Standing Joke

Such is the ineptitude of Mr. Hoover in public affairs that the country has come to look forward with apprehension to his speeches. For three years it has become a standing joke that every time he speaks the market suffers a slump.

This was particularly true in the last speech at Des Moines. Not only did the market go down, but, in Europe, the dollar began to go down, because in the hope of making votes he did not scruple to say that we were in deadly peril of being forced off the gold standard.

This was all the more remarkable because no one knew about it but Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mills. Even Carter Glass, with the finest record as a constructive statesman in financial legislation now living, and chairman of the committee in the Senate dealing with such matters, was kept in utter ignorance. Mr. Hoover, in the greatness of his soul, preferred to suffer in silence, and through that magic, for which he was advertised four years ago, save the country, solitary and alone.

* * *

Bolstering His Lost Cause

But Carter Glass says it is not true.

And the New York Times, noted for its conservatism and its specialization on financial affairs says:

"Quite inexplicable is the President's report that the Secretary of the Treasury at one time thought we should go off the gold standard in two weeks unless something were done instantly to remedy the situation. The Federal Reserve authorities never feared they would be unable to meet every strain and demand upon their gold resources."

All of which means that, on second thought, the conclusion is reached that Mr. Hoover, in desperate need of bolstering his lost cause, did not scruple to misrepresent even at the risk of doing serious damage to his country.

The damage was done; the market slumped, the dollar lost in Europe, and more was done by Mr. Hoover to weaken confidence in our financial structure than had been done for a long while.

* * *

The Deed Was Done

Mr. Hoover implies that he kept the threatened fate of the country a secret, even from men like Carter Glass, because a revelation of the facts would have had a serious effect on public confidence. Having in the secrecy and solitude of his chamber saved the country, one naturally wonders why at this juncture, with the crisis still on, and with business nervous and apprehensive, he should have broadcast his heroism to the world.

If he did not realize the danger in such a proclamation he manifestly is an unsafe man to have at the head of affairs in a crisis.

If he did realize it, and was willing to deal a blow to the nation for the sake of votes, he is unfit.

Whatever his motive the deed was done, the harm accomplished, the ineptitude, or worse, of Mr. Hoover again demonstrated.

* * *

Beer by December!

Meanwhile, another desperate play, from Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, who returns from his secret pow-wows with Mellon and the statesmen of England and France without a word on the understanding that evidently has been reached for the transfer of the foreign debts to the American taxpayers after the election. Instead, he tells us, blithely, that when Congress meets in December we shall have beer—through the modification of the Volstead act.

The Democrats have declared for that; the Republicans turned the idea down in convention.

Since then Mr. Hoover, more responsible than any one else for the defeat of the proposed plank for straight repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, has seen the trend of the times and announced himself for repeal.

But repeal of the amendment would require four years at least; and Mr. Hoover has not yet come over to the Democrats entirely with a statement that he will sign a beer bill. He is not in favor of the modification of the Volstead act. How can we have beer until Mr. Hoover surrenders, bag and baggage, to the Democrats on that proposition?

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

What's a Kiss

The kiss "that was heard around the world" was recently planted on the fair lips of a pretty film actress by America's greatest screen comedian.

* * *

* * *

Whether or not there was anything more to that now celebrated osculation than a little spontaneous gesture or a little platonic affection is, at this writing, still a mystery. But a far deeper mystery is why a kiss should make the front page—or even the last page—in these days, when kisses are passed around freely with the cocktails and given away with every cigaret.

* * *

I can remember the time when a kiss was equivalent to a declaration of love—and a declaration of love was a proposal of marriage. Here are some quips from a book of mine, published before the kiss descended from a token of l... to a mere social custom.

* * *

"Kissing a girl, without first telling her that you love her, is as mean as letting an automobile salesman take you for a free drive, when you have no intention of buying the car."

* * *

"Asking a girl if you may kiss her is just an insulting way of laying all the responsibility on HER." (Don't laugh—they DID ask, sometimes.)

* * *

"The man who kisses a girl at the first opportunity is a fool; the man who waits for the second opportunity is a philosopher; the man who waits for the third, is a speculator; and the man who waits any longer is—a freak."

So you SEE what a serious thing a kiss was before the World War—and what a bright girl I was! That was my first book—but OH, what a difference in the second book! Please note:

* * *

"A man used to wonder if a girl COULD be kissed; now, he is thankful to find one who doesn't HAVE to be kissed."

* * *

"Nowadays, a man kisses a girl with his hand on his pulse, his mind on the traffic and his eye on the taximeter."

* * *

Once, it seemed to me that if the kiss lost its charm, flavor, kick and significance, I should be right in the class with Othello. Nothing to write about! But, one can get used to ANYTHING. Now, everybody kisses everybody else, after the third cocktail. And a kiss may mean everything—or NOTHING. That's why it's so astonishing that a KISS should be "heard around the world!"

ENGLAND DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The outstanding impression of London after a year's absence is that "The City" has gone completely "white tie" after dark. Wallowing in a slough of hopelessness for two years, it all of a sudden shakes off its gloom, dons "tails and toppers" and is going places.

Not since before the big fuss have men and women shown such spruceness. Arriving from Croyden air field at the dinner hour, a peek into the dark-timbered dining room of Claridge's was like a scene from a Lonsdale play. Not a Tuxedo in sight. To the last man, full dress prevailed.

The ladies, too, have been extravagantly shopping. Talk is no longer of falling shares but of the season along the Cote d'Azur and there is a marked overtone of cosmetics, something unusual. If London is merely whistling in the dark, it is a good act. It looks very real.

Last year men were going on from their offices to dinner parties in business suits. Or from their golf in plus fours. Ladies were correspondingly dowdy. But no more of that. Later, in walking up the Strand, I swung into the lobby of the Savoy to loiter a moment.

It, too, was blazing with topaz clear light, activity, a glisten of white shirt fronts and the sheen of evening gowns. The spurt of after theater gaitey is another, symbol of rejuvenation. Night clubs are flowering again and silver buckets dot every tableside.

* * *

Billy had his first air trip from Venice, sleeping all the way and setting paws on British soil first time. Heretofore he has been left in France but this time there was nothing to do but bring him. He must remain in the strict isolation of government kennels, however, although we can visit him daily. Good sport that he is, he trotted off agreeably with the attendant assigned to receive him. No dog is permitted freedom of the kingdor until six months observation. Anyway, in his stay he will likely get rid of his Venetian fleas.

* * *

Sign on a restaurant near Charing Cross: "Breakfast—one shilling and up!" One wonders what price, whoops! if it stays down.

* * *

A gracious touch in better grade London hotels is a basket of hothouse fruit awaiting the arrival. And also, bless my stirrups, a bottle of White Horse whisky, so one may have a libation neat or with Schwepps to allay rigors of travel.

* * *

And hotels squelch comic paper japes about a bathless London. Our bath suggests the Grand Central rotunda, in pink tile with paneled mirror ceiling. I roam about it with the vague, lost air of a visiting Elk in an old world cathedral. Faucets are flanging wings of yellow butterflies which, pressed, cascade water. I'm tempted to yank a blanket from the sleeping room and bed there.

* * *

I've wondered why London playwrights never dramatize their coffee stalls. Tonight as London slept I wandered among them. When Big Ben strikes midnight, they are trundled to bridge-ends and street corners—set net-wise for nocturnal fish In the eternal fog, gripping like a woolen cummerbund, they glow a furry yellow and are tangy with hot coffee and sizzle from skillets. They are clattery, cheerfully comfortable shoals of democracy for the silk-hatted toff, arch ladies, grimy workmen, cab and taxi drivers, ale-soaked old hags and roaming idiots like myself.

* * *

Before calling it a night, I slipped through fog to the embankment. The muddy strip of magic that is the beloved Thames was swallowed in a pearly mist. Benches holding misshapen sprawls do not swim before you naturally Suddenly they loom. One I lurched against echoed a ghostly murmur. Sometimes I wonder if Londoners appreciate the twin flavors of their fogs—the delicate after-taste of melon and the clinging savour of coke. Add careers: Fog tasting!

* * *

Back at my hotel I chatted with the crispy, white-mustached and aristocratic night clerk I've long known. Rather timidly he asked the meaning of the initials O. O. I'm tired of that question, so I told him airily I sensed a depression at christening and decided to use ciphers for initials until my judgment was vindicated. "Jolly idea, quite!" he said with one of those quick-flitting, white coral smiles. As much as to say: "Yeah, I know—screwie!"

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

If I do not
Have enough of life,
That is my own fault.
I can have
All the life
I will take.

What is life, anyway?

Life is not
Eating and drinking,
Waking and sleeping,
Working and playing,
Mating and dying.
Animals live like that.
But there is
More than that
To human life.

Life, for a man, is more
Than the affairs
Of the body.
A man must have
The things that feed
And warm the soul,
As well as the things
That feed and warm
The body.

A man must have
Adventure, as well as wine;
Beauty as well as food;
Dreams, as well as play;
Wonder, as well as sleep.

And of these things
I can have
All I will take.

Greedy men
And a bad government
May limit my money,
Deprive me of food
Rob me of lodging and position;
But no one
Can rob me of beauty,
Or of dreams,
Or of wonder,
Or adventure.
All I will take
Of these things
Can be mine.

Poverty, sickness
And persecution
Have never prevented men
From having life.
Stevenson, Lincoln,
Moses, Milton,
Father Damien,
Florence Nightingale,
Debs, Nogouchi,
Joan of Arc, Socrates,
Booker T. Washington,
Epictetus,
Jesus of Nazareth—
These knew persecution;
These knew temptation,
Poverty, pain
And their own confusion;
Yet they had life—
All the life they would take!

They had life
Because they took life
As it came.
They didn't haggle,
Try to make bargains
Or escape penalties.
They weren't put off
Because there was a bullet
Or a cross ahead.
They took life
As it came,
When it came,
With all its risks.
Knowing it was worth
Anything it cost.
So they had
All the life
They could take.

I, TOO, CAN HAVE
ALL THE LIFE
I WILL TAKE!
IF I WON'T TAKE IT,
BECAUSE I'M A WHINER
OR A QUITTER,
THEN THAT'S MY FAULT,
NOT LIFE!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

With Eastward Shadows

The green tide ebbs, light dies; the wild wind wanes;
The darkness and the silence hover near,
And in this changeful hour when day disdains
The world old thoughts return old thoughts of fear.
For man cannot forget that earlier man
Who cringed before the coming of the night,
Or cast him off, in spite of life's proud plan
Through all the ages, or disown him quite.

And still, with threat of dark, with shade that falls
And runs so swiftly eastward on the ground,
Each turns in thought to some dear dwelling's walls,
To some blest place where waiting love is found;
To love, that knows no ebb-tide of delight;
To love, that burns unquenched by any night!

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?
